RESOLUTION ON THE CALCUTTA ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS FOR 1882-83.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 26th November 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Committee for the Management of the Calcutta Zoological Gardens for the year 1882-83.

THE Gardens have now been established for nine years, and they have been since their creation one of the most popular, as well as useful, public institutions of the metropolis. The progress made in their general improvement and their present condition reflect much credit on the Committee of Management and the Honorary Secretaries who have from time to time had direct charge of them. The necessity for such an institution was first recognized in 1875, and the site at Alipore was acquired by the Government at a cost of two lakhs of rupees. The Government also contributed Rs. 5,000 towards the cost of laying out the grounds and erecting the requisite buildings, and large donations were received from the nobility and gentry of the province and other parts of India for the same purpose.

2. The Gardens were intended to provide recreation, instruction, and amusement for all classes of the community; to facilitate scientific observation of the habits of animals, more especially those peculiar to tropical climates; to promote the science of zoology by the interchange, import, and export of animals; and to encourage the acclimatization, domestication and breeding of animals, and improve the indigenous breed of cattle and farm-stock. These objects they have fulfilled, with the exception of the last, and, with regard to this, measures are now being taken to introduce cattle from Australia for the improvement of the native breed. A grant of Rs. 3,500 was made by this Government to the Committee in the past year, to enable them to procure four young elephants from the Government Kheddahs for despatch to the Melbourne Acclimatization Society in exchange for Australian cattle of good stock, and with these the Committee will be able to start operations for breeding purposes on the plot of land made over to them some time since at Begubari. Already the arrangements have been nearly completed for the laying out of these grounds and for the construction of the necessary sheds and paddocks.

3. The Committee of Management, composed of official and non-official gentlemen, was appointed at the close of 1875, and the Government defrayed the cost of the Gardens up to a monthly limit of Rs. 200 until the year 1877, when, with the consent of the Government of India, they were taken over as a Government Department. Their position has since been that of an institution managed by a Committee appointed by, and subject to the orders of, the Government, and aided to a maximum extent of Rs. 20,000 a year from Provincial funds, the balance of the expenditure being met from contributions received from the public, gate-money, and miscellaneous receipts. The Government of India has, however, lately approved of proposals for an alteration in their constitution, to which effect will shortly be given. The donors and subscribers will then form themselves into a Society to carry out the purposes of the Gardens, the members being recognised as Fellows of the Zoological Society of Bengal; and the management will be vested in a Committee consisting of four members appointed by the Society, several ex officio members, and any other gentlemen whom the Government may nominate.

4. The total income of the Gardens during the past year amounted to Rs. 41,149 against Rs. 45,612 in 1881-82. The report shows a considerable falling off in the donations and subscriptions, these having amounted to only Rs. 1,500, against Rs. 10,850 in 1880-81, and Rs. 6,400 in 1881-82. The income from this source is necessarily precarious, and the large amounts received in former years cannot be continuously expected, although, it is hoped, the receipts will still be often much larger than they were in the past year.

5. In October 1882 an uniform entrance fee of one anna was introduced for all days of the week except Sunday evenings, when the charge is eight annas in place of the former charge of one rupee. The wisdom of this change is evidenced by the fact that during the first half of the year, when the old rates were still in force, the number of visitors fell off to the extent of 5,556, while during the second half, with the reduced rates, the number increased by 10,887, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year. The popularity of the Gardens with the native community continues to increase, and the number of visitors paying the one-anna fee has risen from 82,185 in 1880-81, and 109,759 in 1881-82, to 120,463 in 1882-83. The total income at the turn-stile fell off by Rs. 1,539-8 during the past year, owing chiefly to smaller receipts from visitors paying the higher entrance fee; but this loss will doubtless be soon made up by a further increase in the visitors paying the one-anna fee, the Committee having now placed it within the power of the poorest to visit the Gardens at all hours of the day, except Sunday evenings. The fluctuations in the receipts of the past year under other heads do not call for remark.

Among the recent improvements, the most notable is the enclosure of the Gardens by iron railings at a cost of Rs. 7,884-8, which was met from a special grant assigned for the purpose by the Government.

6. The Committee's management of the Gardens during the year was, as usual, careful and efficient, and the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it especially satisfactory that, notwithstanding the smaller receipts from donations, subscriptions, and entrance fees, the accounts closed with a credit balance of Rs. 2,885, after payment of an initial debit balance of Rs. 1,314 in addition to the charges of the year.

Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Honorary Secretary to the Committee of Management, Zoological Gardens, Calcutta.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MacDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LICENSE-TAX FOR 1882-83.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—LICENSE-TAX.

Calcutta, the 26th November 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the administration of the License-tax for 1882-83.

Read also—

The Report for 1881-82 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

No changes were made during the year under review in the system under which the license-tax is assessed and levied in Bengal. The number of special assessors was 47 against 46 in the previous year, one having been appointed for Noakholly, where the assessment in 1881-82 had been unduly low. Four special assessors were employed in Calcutta, and one in each of the districts of the Province, except Darjeeling and Singbhoom. The services of the assessor were allowed in five districts for eight months; in one for seven months; in six for six months; in one for five months; in 11 for four months; in 13 for three months; in one for two and a half months; and in four for two months. Nine of the assessors were of the rank of Sub-Deputy Collector, while the officer specially appointed to revise the assessment of the city of Patna was a Deputy Collector of the fourth grade. The instructions conveyed in paragraph 2 of the Resolution recorded last year were generally carried out, and the issue of notices was made on the basis of the corrected assessment lists of the previous year, as soon as possible after the expiry of the period allowed by sections 16 and 17 of the Act. The Board have also issued instructions, in accordance with the orders of Government, directing district officers to take in hand the revision of the assessment lists before the close of the year for which they have been in force, in order that the issue of notices and the collection of the tax may begin as soon after the opening of the year as possible. Towards the close of the year under review arrangements were made to relieve the assessors, as far as possible, of the duty of hearing or enquiring into objection cases. This work will in future be mainly performed by the sub-divisional officers and the Deputy Collectors at head-quarters. These arrangements were introduced too late in the year to produce much effect in 1882-83, but it is hoped that in the current year they will, by setting free a larger portion of the assessors' time, enable them to devote more attention to the work of new assessments.

2. The attention of the Board has been given to the provisions of the law under which no person may be assessed in more than one of the provinces of India, or in more than one district in a single province. Cases have come to light in which, mainly in consequence of concealment by the assessees, these provisions have been overlooked, and the Board are of opinion that it should be made compulsory on assessees to declare either on their first application for a license under section 6 of the Act, or on their assessment should they neglect to make such application, the several places where they have branch firms. This matter has formed the subject of correspondence between the Lieutenant-Governor, the Board, and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, and it has now been decided that, when a license is issued in such a case, the Collector shall grant a certificate to the person assessed, and shall simultaneously send a copy to the Collector of any district in which the licensee is known to have a branch business.

3. Out of a total number of 248,130 villages, 27,081, including 619 streets in Calcutta, were visited by the assessing officers, against 31,901 in the previous year. This falling off is attributable to the orders under which it was directed that the work of the assessors should be commenced where it left off in 1881-82, and that no attempt should, as a rule, be made to exhaustively revise the assessment of whole districts. Of the villages visited, 26,814 were found to contain assessees. Only 2,150 villages are said to have been visited by officers of the regular executive staff, against 4,824 in the previous year. The Board, however, point out that district and sub-divisional officers frequently keep no record of the number of villages in which enquiries are made during their cold-weather tours, so that the number of villages visited by officers, other than assessors, is not adequately represented by the figures returned. In the Dacca Division, where only 90 villages are said to have been visited by the permanent officers, compared with 663 visited last year, the Board have rightly directed the attention of the Commissioner to the subject. A creditable outturn of work is shown by the officers (other than assessors) of Singbhoom, Midnapore, Durbhunga, Chumparun, Chittagong, Noakholly, Tipperah, Khulna, Hooghly, and Backergunge. An insufficient number of villages is said to have been visited by assessors in the districts of Burdwan, Bankoora, Khulna, Julpigoree, and Maldah. In the first two districts, however, the work appears to have been well done in the selected areas, and the general results in Maldah are also good.

4. The gross number of assessments, including double entries, amounted to 81,185, as compared with 82,664 in the previous year. If double entries are eliminated, the gross number of persons assessed is shown to be 76,903. Of these 6,616 were exempted on objection, and 448 others on appeal, leaving 69,841 persons on the list of assessees on the 30th June 1883, as compared with 68,873 in 1881-82. The outstanding balance on 30th June 1882 was Rs. 12,590, and of this the greater part had to be remitted, the number of persons finally assessed in 1881-82 being only 68,103. The following table shows the number of assessees in each class in each of the last two years:—

	Tax assessed.	Number of Assessees.
	Rs.
Class I	500	421	388
„ II	200	716	689
„ III	100	1,444	1,417
„ IV	50	3,546	3,581
„ V	20	14,667	14,790
„ VI	10	47,309	48,976
Total		68,103	69,841

These figures show that there was a falling off, as compared with 1881-82, of 33 assessees in class I, of 27 in class II, and of 27 in class III. The Lieutenant-Governor does not think that this is in accordance with the real course of trade during the year, and he fears that remissions may have been granted without sufficient cause, to the detriment of the revenues of the State.

5. If the population of Bengal is taken at 66½ millions, one person in every 951 paid the tax, the average incidence being Re. 1 to every 46 persons. If Calcutta be excluded, the average incidence was Re. 1 to every 64 persons. The incidence was highest in the following districts:—

Calcutta	1 person to Re. 1 of tax.	24-Pergunnahs	35 persons to Re. 1 of tax.
Darjeeling	18 persons „	Bogra	38 „ „
Howrah	25 „ „	Bhagulpore	38 „ „
Maldah	32 „ „	Monghyr	42 „ „

The average incidence in each division was:—

Bhagulpore	49 persons to Re. 1 of tax.	Burdwan	66 persons to Re. 1 of tax.
Dacca	59 „ „	Patna	74 „ „
Rajshahye	53 „ „	Chittagong	79 „ „
Presidency (omitting Calcutta)	61 „ „	Chota Nagpore	82 „ „

Orissa 93 persons to Re. 1 of tax.

The lowness of the incidence of the tax in Patna, compared with that in the Bhagulpore, Rajshahye, and Burdwan Divisions, has been noticed in previous years. The Commissioner of Patna now writes thus:—"I would beg to submit that the population of the districts comprised in the Patna Division are more agricultural than perhaps those of the districts of any of the divisions mentioned above, and the proportion of persons carrying on any business, trade, or dealing to the general body of the people is much smaller here than in the divisions where the people are more advanced and have ceased from agriculture for trade." The Lieutenant-Governor admits the force of these considerations, which have all along never been lost sight of. The real question for consideration is, as was stated in the Resolution recorded last year, whether or not the municipalities of Patna and Behar have been properly assessed. The operations of the special assessor appointed for these municipalities were not begun until December 1882, and could have no effect on the assessment of the year under review; but Mr. Rivers Thompson thinks that, in view of the number of times that the attention of the local officers has been called to the subject the increase of Rs. 130, or ·4 per cent., which is reported over the assessment of 1881-82, is inadequate.

6. The number of objections lodged was 22,697, or 29·5 per cent. of the gross number of assessments made, the corresponding percentage in 1881-82 being 33·5. In 13,811 cases the assessments were upheld, in 2,267 they were modified by the transfer of the objector to a lower class, and in 6,616 cases the assessments were cancelled. The successful objections thus numbered 8,883, or 39·1 per cent. of the total number of petitions filed. In the previous year the corresponding figure was 39 per cent. The proportion of objections to assessments was highest in Cuttack (65·07 per cent.), Balasore (59·6), Pooree (56·05), Moorshedabad (48·8), Shahabad (45·8), Furreedpore (43·4), Rajshahye (43·4), Pubna (41·6), Bogra (40·9), and Sarun (40·4). The total number of appeals, including references to the Commissioner in Calcutta, where the Collector is only empowered to hear objections, was 2,063, against 2,406 in 1881-82. In 1,323 cases the assessment appealed against was upheld, in 264 it was modified, and in 448 cases the appellants were entirely exempted from payment of the tax. The right of appeal was most largely exercised in Cuttack, Calcutta, and Balasore. In Cuttack this was due to the improper proceedings of the special assessor appointed for the Killa of Banki, the greater part of whose assessments were subsequently reduced or cancelled. In the entire province, out of 76,903 assessments, 7,064, or 9·1 per cent., were cancelled on objection or appeal, and 2,531, or 3·2 per cent., were modified. This result, though poor in itself, and disappointing in the fifth year of the administration of the tax, compares favourably with the figures in the previous year, when out of 77,101 persons assessed, 8,228, or 10·6 per cent., were entirely and 2,848 were partially exempted. The number of appeals pending on June 30th was 28, against 139 in the previous year. The number of applications to Commissioners under section 21 of the Act was 66, exclusive of those in Calcutta. Of these, 44 were rejected, 6 were granted in part, and in 10 cases the assessments were cancelled. Six cases were pending at the close of the year. The majority of the references were made in the Bhagulpore, Orissa, and Patna Divisions.

7. The following table shows the demand, remissions, collections, and balance up to the end of June for each of the last two years:—

There was thus a reduction in the gross demand of Rs. 1,37,750 as compared with 1881-82. The comparative accuracy of the assessment is shown by the large reduction, amounting to 30 per cent., in the sums remitted before realization, and in the sums refunded. Remissions and refunds together amounted to Rs. 3,02,550. Of this sum, however, Rs 1,10,360 was re-assessed by the transfer of the assessees to some other class, the actual remissions and refunds thus amounting to only Rs. 1,92,190. Of this amount Rs. 1,61,865 was remitted before realization, and Rs. 30,325 was refunded after realization. The amount remitted or refunded under the operation of the rule under which a person is liable to be taxed in only one place in British India was Rs. 25,960. The net remissions and refunds therefore amounted to Rs. 1,66,230, or 10·1 per cent. of the gross demand of Rs. 16,30,300. There was a falling off in the total receipts from the tax up to the 30th June 1883 of Rs. 9,495, or ·6 per cent. The decrease is attributed partly to the transfer of certain assessments to Bombay and the North-Western Provinces, where the rules are more favourable to the higher classes, and partly to the two following causes:—viz. (1) the general depression in trade, and (2) the further revision of the assessments of the previous year. The Board are of opinion that, taking the province generally, the assessments have, on the whole, been made with sufficient scrutiny and care, and may be accepted as satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor finds it difficult to accept this view. Bengal pays much less in the shape of license tax in proportion to its population than the Punjab, Central Provinces, or North-Western Provinces, and very much less than Bombay; and it is scarcely open to question that were a perfect assessment possible, it would be found to yield a far larger revenue than 14 lakhs of rupees. It is difficult to believe that a yearly decrease in the proceeds of the tax really indicates anything but increased familiarity with the means of evading payment.

8. There was a falling off in the net receipts in five divisions, viz. Patna (3·4 per cent.), Bhagulpore (2·2), Presidency (2·2), Chota Nagpore (1·9), and Burdwan (·7). A decrease occurred in 24 districts, ranging from ·2 per cent. in the 24-Pergunnahs to 11·1 per cent. in Khulna. These districts were:—

In Khulna the falling off is attributed by the Board to the inadequacy of the work done by the special assessor, who visited only 30 villages during the two months he was employed. In Jessore, where 797 villages were visited by the assessor, the decline is attributed by the Collector to the depression of the sugar trade, and to the gradual rectification of the over-assessments of previous years. Certainly the number of successful objections was very large in this district. In Nuddea the depression is mainly due to the general stagnation of trade caused by the continued prevalence of epidemic fever. In Calcutta the collections up to 30th June 1883 amounted to Rs. 4,04,000, against Rs. 4,10,326 in the previous year. There was an increase of 475 in the total number of assessees owing to a large number of new assessments in the three lowest classes, but the increase in the demand due to this source was more than counterbalanced by the extensive reductions in the three highest classes. "The falling off is ascribed by the Collector partly to the licenses having been taken out in other districts or provinces, and partly to the general depression in trade." The Board notice with satisfaction that the collections in Calcutta were completed before the end of June 1883.

9. Particular attention has been paid by the Board to the assessment of the Patna Division. The four districts of Durbhunga, Shahabad, Mozufferpore, and Sarun all show a decrease, ranging from 9·7 per cent. in Durbhunga to 5·4 per cent. in Sarun. Very full explanations have been submitted by the local officers, with the general result of showing that the reduction is due to a real falling off in trade, and not to imperfections in the assessment. In Durbhunga the amount paid by money-lenders fell by Rs. 1,460, that paid by grain-dealers by Rs. 3,220, and that paid by dealers in agricultural produce by Rs. 2,490. On the other hand, there was a rise in the amount paid by shop-keepers (Rs. 1,560), dealers in piece-goods (Rs. 1,340), and dealers in cloth (Rs. 800). The Collector of this district remarks:—"The Maharajah of Durbhunga and his brother, the Maharaj Kumar of Bachour, both lend money on interest. They are not taxed because they are not money-lenders by trade. But they compete with the men who are money-lenders by trade." This observation is not quite clear and the Board will be requested to enquire into the circumstances referred to by the Collector. In Shahabad the reduction chiefly occurred among money-lenders, dealers in agricultural produce, and dealers in piece-goods. The Collector observes that the assessing officers are quite aware of the importance of maintaining this source of revenue, and have neglected no means of doing so, and that it is not probable that any considerable number of persons really liable have altogether escaped taxation, or have been inadequately assessed. In Mozufferpore, where the decrease amounted to Rs. 2,138, or 5·5 per cent., it is stated to have occurred chiefly in the cases of bankers, contractors, grain-dealers, and dealers in animals and piece-goods. In Sarun the falling off is attributed by the Collector to the further revision of over-assessments made in 1880-81. The assessment of that year, which was largely above that of 1879-80, seems to have erred largely on the side of excess. Mr. Quinn, the present Collector, is an officer of large experience of Sarun and of the Patna Division, and the Lieutenant-Governor cannot but attach much weight to his opinion, that there are no sufficient reasons for believing that the district is now under-assessed. The explanations given by the district officers have been endorsed by the Commissioner and the Board, and are accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor.

10. In the Burdwan Division a decrease took place in Hooghly, Bankoora, Howrah, and Burdwan. In the first-named district this is said to be due chiefly to the careless way in which the work of the special assessor was done, many persons having been omitted who should have been made amenable. In Bankoora the decrease is attributed to the depression in the lac trade, and in the operations of the money and grain-lenders. In Burdwan and Howrah no clear explanation is given. In the Chota Nagpore Division the falling off, which was small, was shared by Lohardugga, Manbhoom, and Singbhoom. In the first-named district, where it was most considerable, it was due to the total stoppage of the sleeper trade, owing to the East India Railway Company having decided to use iron instead of wooden sleepers. Cattle-disease is also said to have been unusually prevalent in this division, and to have affected the profits of the pack-bullock traders. In the district of Mymensing, where extensive reductions and remissions had been made by the sub-divisional officer of Atia, a careful local enquiry was made by the Collector, who, in the result, satisfied himself of the justice and propriety of the Assistant Magistrate's action. The reduction was principally due to the fall in the price of salt, and to the general scarcity of money in consequence of the low prevailing price of jute and rice. In Tipperah, where the work of revision and assessment was carefully done, a decrease in the yield of the tax was caused by the fall in the price of food-grains, consequent on the abundant harvest of last year.

The increase in Orissa, which was shared by all the districts of the division, was the result of the greater activity of trade, which led to a number of new assessments being made during the year under review. In Cuttack the annexation of Killa Banki led to an increase in the number of assessees in every class, although on subsequent enquiry many of the assessments made by the Sub-Deputy Collector had to be cancelled. Orders on this matter have been issued separately. The Board are of opinion that, notwithstanding the increase that has taken place, the district of Cuttack is still under-assessed as compared with Pooree and Balasore, and their remarks appear to be borne out by an inspection of the rate of incidence of the tax in the three districts. In Cuttack one rupee of tax is paid by 106 persons, against 78 in Pooree and 89 in Balasore. The work of the special assessor seems to have been unintelligently done, and it will be necessary to devote special attention to the assessment of this district for some time to come. In Rajshahye, which was unfavourably noticed in the Resolution recorded last year, there was an increase of Rs. 2,400, or 14·7 per cent, which occurred chiefly in the lowest grade. The incidence of the tax in this district is still low, being only 71 persons to each rupee of the tax, against a divisional average of 53. The Commissioner is of opinion that the district is under-assessed, and he has been desired by the Board to watch the assessments carefully.

12. In Rungpore the increase of 5·6 per cent. is due to the prosperous condition of the tobacco trade, which has given employment to a number of merchants and brokers, belonging mostly to the lowest class. In Pubna and Dinagepore the under-assessments of the previous year have been corrected, and good work has been done in seeking out new assessees, especially in Dinagepore. The absence of sub-divisions in this district is again said to have militated against an accurate assessment. Good work was done in Furreedpore and Dacca, both by the special assessors and by the officers of the permanent staff, who visited a large number of villages and effected a material increase in the assessment of the two districts. In Midnapore, which was unfavourably noticed last year, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that a marked improvement has been effected. "Every attempt," the Board write, "was made by the assessor, the sub-divisional officers, and the Deputy Collector in charge to effect a thorough revision of the assessment lists, after making careful enquiries throughout the district." More than 1,000 villages in all were visited, with the result that almost the whole of the falling off recorded in 1881-82 was made up. The Board are of opinion that Purneah is under-assessed, in spite of an increase of Rs. 590, or 1·9 per cent. The incidence of the tax in this district is only 60 persons to one rupee, one person in 1,111 being assessed, as compared with the divisional average (including the Sonthal Pergunnahs) of one to 832 persons, and 49 persons to a rupee. A considerable part of the provincial trade with Nepal passes through the district of Purneah, and it is feared that a part of this has escaped assessment. The attention of the local officers should be directed to this. In Chumparun and Gya the assessments were carefully revised, but it is stated that in the latter district a greater degree of activity would probably have led to the discovery of more assessees. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes this will be remedied in the current year. In Moorshedabad the slight improvement that was effected is said to be owing to the thorough revision of the assessments made by the special assessor over selected areas. The results obtained in this and other districts confirm the Board in the view that a thorough revision of selected areas is the correct principle by which alone the taxable income of a district can be arrived at. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in this view, and approves the instructions which the Board propose to issue, directing district officers to state, when nominating the assessors, the portion of the district to be revised during the year. If this plan is judiciously carried out in future, and if assessors are relieved of the bulk of the work of hearing objections, a sensible improvement in the administration of the tax will be achieved.

13. The assessment of the Patna district has already been referred to. Compared with 1881-82, the result shows a small increase of Rs. 130, or ·4 per cent., which would have been greater but for the reduction of seven assessments in the second, third, and fourth classes. The special assessor visited 675 villages, of which 23 were found to contain assessees for the first time. As already mentioned, the investigation made by the Special Deputy Collector, Mr. A. J. Fraser, who was appointed to enquire into the assessment of the municipalities of Patna and Behar, was begun too late to affect the results of the past year's administration of the tax. A special report will be submitted by the Board on this subject, and the Lieutenant-Governor will await its receipt before passing final orders.

14. The actual remissions and refunds amounted to Rs. 1,92,190, or 11·7 per cent. of the total demand, as compared with Rs. 2,39,690, or 14·1 per cent. in the previous year. The percentage was highest in Cuttack (37·3), Shahabad (25·4), Pubna (21·9), Jessore (20·9), Pooree (20 8), Balasore (20·5), Bogra (19·5), Howrah (18·01), Sarun (17·02), and Moorshedabad (16·09). The balance on 30th June 1883 amounted to Rs. 8,086-4-6, as compared with Rs. 12,590-3-9 in the previous year. The bulk of this is probably irrecoverable, and will have to be written off. The penalties and costs realized up to the 30th June amounted to Rs. 35,170-11-7, as compared with Rs. 50,033-4-6 in the previous year. The decrease indicates that assessees have been more punctual in the payment of the tax, and also that the assessments have been made with greater care and accuracy.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor has nothing to add to the remarks recorded last year with regard to the popular feeling on the subject of the tax. The experience of the past twelve months tends to confirm the view that, with the exception of those who have to pay the tax, and those who fear they may have to pay it, the people regard it with indifference. No one has yet discovered a tax which a conscious assessee would take a pleasure in paying, and in India all direct taxation must involve a risk of extortion and oppression being practised. But while the reluctance to pay will naturally remain, there is every reason to hope that the other element of unpopularity will gradually disappear. The people are now thoroughly aware of their liabilities and their rights under the law, and they have not been backward in contesting the former and asserting the latter. As the Commissioner of Burdwan reports, the tax "does not appear now to be more unpopular than any other tax, and this is all that can be expected." Provided stability of policy be maintained, there is every reason to think that, as experience in the details of administration is accumulated, the license-tax will become as well adapted to the circumstances of India as is possible for any form of direct taxation.

16. The names of the officers who are reported to have given special attention to this branch of their duties will be noted in the Appointment Department. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Board for their careful administration of this branch of the Revenue during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE PORT OF CHITTAGONG IN 1882-83.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MARINE.

Calcutta, the 27th November 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Annual Report of the administration of the Port of Chittagong in 1882-83.

THE Report again records a large increase in the trade of the Port, and, clearly, all that is now required to confirm the position of Chittagong as the main outlet for the produce of Eastern Bengal is the opening of the projected railway to Chandpore, in Tipperah, with subsequent extension to Assam. The advance in trade during the past year was due to larger exports of jute to the United Kingdom and Spain, the number of vessels which cleared with this produce having been more than double that in the previous year, and the receipt of a considerable amount of treasure from Mauritius and other places for the purchase of grain for export.

2. The number and tonnage of vessels visiting the Port during the last two years are shown in the following statement :—

PARTICULARS.	1881-82.		1882-83.		INCREASE.		DECREASE.
	Number.	Tonnage.	Number.	Tonnage.	Number.	Tonnage.	Number.	Tonnage.

It will be observed that the number of vessels trading with Europe increased in the past year from 25 to 39. Of these 7 imported salt from England and 32 cleared with jute, 29 going to Dundee, 2 to London, and 1 to New York. The shipments to the last two places were the first ever made, and they give promise of the opening up of a new trade in jute with those ports. The falling off in the number of European vessels in the foreign trade is attributed to a temporary cessation of trade with Ceylon; and the diversion of some Chittagong vessels to the carriage of jute from Naraingunge to Chittagong (this trade being, on the whole, safer and more profitable than commerce with more distant ports) has also caused a reduction in the number of vessels of this class engaged in the foreign and coasting trade. The large advance of 314 in the number of vessels on the Naraingunge inland trade is obviously accounted for by the expansion of the jute trade.

3. The total quantity of grain exported to both home and foreign ports in the past year was 81,315 tons, valued at Rs. 32,69,339, as compared with 82,478 tons, valued at Rs. 33,22,535, in the previous year. The exports to foreign ports declined from 43,374 to 39,138 tons, owing to an entire stoppage of demand for the time from Ceylon, and a less active trade with Mauritius, where low prices prevailed; while those to home ports increased from 39,104 to 42,177 tons, favourable prices on the Malabar Coast having attracted larger shipments to the ports in that part of India. The Report should in future furnish information regarding the quantity of jute exported, that being now the most important of its exports, both in quantity and value. The Annual Administration Report of the Division shows that the jute shipments during the past year amounted in value to Rs 73,23,050 against Rs. 44,86,319 in 1881-82. The staple imports of Chittagong are salt and mineral oil. The existence of large stocks in hand caused a decrease in the importation of salt in the past year, but there was an increase in the quantity of mineral oil introduced. The consumption of this oil by all classes of the people is growing rapidly, and it is also much used in the port for breaming and oiling ships' timbers.

4. The receipts of the Port Fund amounted to Rs. 73,339 against Rs. 60,827 in 1881-82, the increase being thus Rs. 12,512. Port dues from all classes of vessels form the largest source of revenue, and their amount rose last year from Rs. 33,739 to Rs. 39,709 Pilotage fees also yielded Rs. 26,330 against Rs. 17,080, and mooring fees Rs. 5,135 against Rs. 2,963 in 1881-82, but the remaining items fell from Rs. 7,405 to Rs. 2,166, this result being chiefly due to the fact that the interest accrued during the past year on the Government securities held by the Port Fund had not been ascertained and credited when the Report was submitted, and to a large advance made to a local contractor for the construction of a heave-up boat having been refunded in 1881-82, on his failure to carry out the contract. The increase in port dues, pilotage receipts, and mooring fees is clearly attributable to the increase of shipping during the year. The expenditure of the Port was Rs. 39,216 against Rs. 41,952 in 1881-82; and the net financial result of the administration of the past year was thus a surplus income of Rs. 34,123 (to which an addition has still to be made on account of interest on the Government securities belonging to the Port Fund), as compared with a surplus of Rs. 18,875 in the preceding year. The Port still requires considerable and expensive improvements to meet the growth of the trade and shipping, and these are being gradually undertaken. In addition to the fixed moorings supplied in 1881, ten sets of swinging moorings were laid down in the past year, and mooring accommodation is now available for 13 vessels, besides the regular mail steamers. Application has since been received from the Commissioner for a further supply of buoys for smaller vessels.

5. Ship-building in the Karnafuli river fell off during the year, the local traders having had the opportunity of purchasing several native vessels constructed elsewhere at a cheaper price than similar vessels would have cost if built on the spot. Only six vessels, with a tonnage of 906 tons, were built, against 10, with a tonnage of 1,259 tons, in the previous year. One vessel of over 400 tons was repaired in a temporary dock cut through the river bank, which was subsequently refilled, and others in creeks below the Port. Several large sailing vessels and steamers were also hauled up on the sands, scraped, cleaned, and painted.

6. The Port jetty is reported to be in good repair, but its utility has been impaired by the silting up of the river in its vicinity, and it is only used by small native craft loading salt for Naraingunge. The buoys in the river were overhauled, scraped, and painted during the year, and a new whistling buoy was laid on the South Patch Shoal, which is one of the chief dangers to navigation in the neighbourhood of Chittagong. The particulars furnished in the Report of the state of the river, from the Port down to the outer bar, show that there has been, on the whole, no deterioration in the stream. The most important changes took place in the outer bar, and there an obstruction was formed in mid channel, which, it was hoped, would be washed away by the freshets during the past rainy season. The river was thoroughly surveyed during the year by officers of the Indian Marine Survey, and a complete chart was prepared on a six-inch scale.

7. The number of casualties to the shipping during the year was 9, against 11 in the previous year, and serious damage was suffered in only two cases. The year was unfortunately marked by two wrecks on the coast near the Port, in one of which an English ship (the Macbeth) was lost. The want of a tug is much felt in the Port; but although the Lieutenant-Governor offered in the past year to grant aid towards the maintenance of one, the offer was not accepted on the basis of service throughout the year. It is not desirable to grant a subsidy except on the basis of continuous service throughout the year. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion the service should be undertaken, as in other ports, by private enterprise.

8. The conduct of the Chittagong Pilot Service appears to have been generally good; and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the terms of praise in which the Commissioner again speaks of Mr. Good, the Port Officer.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

CANAL REVENUE REPORTS FOR 1882-83.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.—IRRIGATION.

No. 2132IA, dated Calcutta, the 22nd November 1883.

READ—

The Canal Revenue Reports for 1882-83 and Chief Engineer's note on the same.

THE expenditure (direct charges) on irrigation works in Bengal, chargeable to capital account, has up to the end of 1882-83 amounted to Rs. 5,65,06,409, divided as follows :—

	Rs.
Productive Public Works	5,33,17,265
Imperial Ordinary Works	8,27,724
Provincial Works	23,61,420
Total ...	5,65,06,409

The receipts from the canals, classed as productive public works for the last three years, are shown in the statement below :—

GRAND TOTAL ...	10,19,375	12.56,811	13,17,726

The balances of water-rates outstanding at the close of each of the last three years were as follows :—

	1st April 1881.	1st April 1882.	1st April 1883.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

Sone Canals ...	4,64,261	4,36,849	3,11,665
Total ...	6,00,821	6,82,692	5,75,788

The gross receipts (Rs. 13,17,726) were Rs. 60,915 in excess of those of any year to date. The net revenue was, however, excluding interest, only Rs. 1,24,273 against Rs. 1,52,977 credited in 1881-82. This comparatively unfavourable result was due to increased working expenses, consequent on extensive silt clearing operations having been carried out in the Main Western Canal, and to heavier expenditure on the transport service in Orissa. The charge for interest on the capital invested, payable to the Imperial treasury, was Rs. 21,15,505, and the total deficit, taking these charges into account, was Rs. 19,91,232 against Rs. 19,22,211, the loss incurred in the year previous.

The low price of produce which was noticed in last year's report continued to exert an unfavourable influence on the collections on account of water-rates. The progress made, however, in the Orissa and Sone Circles was satisfactory, the receipts from the former being the highest yet realized, and in the latter the arrear balance having been reduced by Rs. 1,34,154. The falling off in the irrigation revenue derived from the Midnapore Canal was partly due to the cause mentioned above, but defects in administration had, it is to be feared, no small share in bringing about this result. Revised rules under Act III (B.C.) of 1876 are now under consideration, and the present Deputy Superintendent is reported to have remedied the faults of system which the difficulty in realizing the assessments has brought to light. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Collector of Midnapore will not cease to devote his personal attention to this important matter. It is clear that postponement of demands justly due only intensifies the difficulties of eventually collecting them, and there is reason to believe the reluctance to pay evinced by the cultivators was partly owing to payment of the full amount due not being pressed when they were best able to meet the demand.

	GRAND TOTAL ...	428,708	414,787	408,791

The area under irrigation was substantially the same as in the preceding year, though the rainfall was on the whole more favourable. The canals comprising the main western system of the Sone project were closed during the hot weather of 1882 to admit of their being cleared of silt; as a consequence irrigation was temporarily suspended, and the hot-weather irrigation, which in the previous year amounted to 18,499 acres, was lost. The decline in rubbee irrigation, which has been noticed in previous years, continued; whilst there has been a steady increase, mainly in Behar, in the areas leased for a term of years.

In both Midnapore and Shahabad the Collectors draw attention to the excessive labour involved in collecting small sums of variable amount from large numbers of people. In the latter district approximately 84,000 separate demands were made. Some relief may be expected from the five year-lease system, but this will have more effect in facilitating the assessments, which are in corresponding detail, than in lessening the difficulties attending the collections, which must continue so long as individual ryots are dealt with, and in the present state of village organization in Bengal combined action does not appear to be practicable.

The receipts under the head navigation amounted during the year to Rs. 3,70,294 against Rs. 3,42,876 received in 1881-82. The increase occurred wholly in the revenue derived from the Orissa and Midnapore Canals, there having been a falling off in the traffic on the Sone Canals, due to those belonging to the main western system of that project having been closed for three months for silt clearance. The figures given above include Rs. 1,14,403, the gross receipts from the transport service.

The service on the Midnapore Canal was transferred to a private company from the 1st of December, and it is intended to withdraw the Government steamers from the Orissa and Sone Canals, so soon as efficient arrangements for a service, at sufficiently short intervals, can be made by private enterprise.

	Orissa.	Midnapore.	Hidgellee.	Sone.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1876-77	22,881	67 651	44 572	4,852	1,39 956

1882 83	66,736	1,06,157	43,694	39,304	2,55,891

The results of the year, though not so satisfactory as that immediately preceding, are far from disappointing There has been a considerable increase in the gross revenue, and the working expenses have been enhanced by causes not likely to recur. Owing to the extension of the distributary system in Orissa, which has lately been sanctioned by the Secretary of State, there will, in any case, be a considerable increase in the irrigable area, and the cost of maintaining the head works and canals, which forms more than half of the total expenditure, will be met by correspondingly increased receipts.

MEMORANDA.

1. The number of deaths recorded during the month of September 1883, in the districts in Bengal which are under registration, amounted, as computed from the returns, to 101,530 among a population of 66,162,926. The death-rate represented by these numbers is 18·36 per 1,000, as opposed to 18·12 per 1 000 during the preceding month, and 17 88 per 1,000 during the corresponding month of the past year.

2. The following districts furnished the highest proportions of deaths:—

	Ratio per mille.		Ratio per mille.
Birbhum ...	... 37·32	Patna ...	... 25 92

3. The deaths of the month under notice were reported to be due to the undermentioned diseases at the rates per 1,000 of population exhibited opposite them, as contrasted with the results of the preceding month and of the corresponding month of the past year.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Goods.

The traffic shows a satisfactory increase of 35 per cent. over 1882 contributed chiefly by wheat, rice and foreign railway materials

The following fluctuations appear in staples :—

Increases.

Coal, down.
Cotton.
Ghee
Grain
Gunny.
Iron.
Mowah flower.
Piece-goods.
Foreign railway material.
Seeds
Sugar.

Decreases.

Copper.
Ordnance stores.
Hides
Construction material.
Salt.

Remarks.

Coal, up ... ... Mds 22,780 Rs 5,970
Despatches for the Sindh, Punjab and Delhi, Rajputana-Malwa Railway, and Oudh and Rohilkund Railway have improved.

Coal, down ... ... Mds 1,09,230 Rs 21,790
The increase is chiefly from the Asansol, Sitarampur and Barakar Collieries.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 4,550 Rs. 8,010
An advance of prices in Calcutta appears to have led to a moderate business.

Ghee ... ... Mds. 3,950 Rs. 10,860
The demand in Calcutta was brisk, and supplies were forwarded from stations in the North-West :—

Grain.

		Mds.	Rs.
1.	Barley	12,060	2,040
2.	Rice	3,14 960	1,17,690
3.	Wheat	10,77 ·70	3,82,920
4.	Other grain	55,670	12 980
5.	Pulses	21,890	8,880
		14,81,630	5,24,510

Item 1.—Consignments of barley booked from stations on the Oudh and Rohilkund to stations on the Muthra-Hatras line, and to Agra

Item 2.—This increase is chiefly in upwards rice despatched from Bengal to the North-West

Item 3.—In September 1882, the exportation of Indian wheat was small compared with 1881. This year, however, owing to a rise in prices at the beginning of the month and low stocks in Calcutta, there was a steady demand for Europe

Item 4.—General increase consequent upon cheapness of food-grains.

Item 5.—Pulses were despatched steadily to Calcutta and other places from the Patna district.

Gunny ... ... Mds. 31,310 Rs. 22,590
Extra consignments sent up-country from the Bengal mills for country produce.

Iron ... ... Mds. 17,100 Rs. 8,060
This consisted principally of special consignments of iron pipes despatched from Howrah to Burdwan ; also telegraph material for Bareilly, and iron work to Patna and Benares.

Mowah flower ... ... Mds. 23,140 Rs. 3,420

Consignments from stations on the Jubbulpore line to Bombay for export to Europe; also from chord line to Howrah.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 12,630 Rs. 3,340

The approach of the native holidays led to some enquiry from the up-country markets, chiefly below Benares, which will explain the comparatively small increase in receipts.

Foreign railway material ... ... Mds. 2,67,660 Rs. 1,77,320

Made up principally of bridge materials, rails and other permanent-way material and rolling-stock despatched from Howrah to Mokameh, Patna, Benares and Bareilly for the various works under construction.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 2,12,330 Rs. 20,350

The despatches having been made from stations nearer to Calcutta this year, also to Bombay vid Jubbulpore, vid Agra and vid Delhi from stations near the junctions, the receipts have not increased in proportion to the weight carried.

Sugar ... ... Mds. 24,210 Rs. 7,570

Increases in supplies despatched to Howrah, Rajputana and the Punjab appear at Patna Ghat, Arrah, Buxar vid Cawnpor and vid Aligarh.

DECREASES.

Copper ... ... Mds. 6,000 Rs. 7,870

This decrease appears at Howrah, whence moderate despatches only were sent up-country.

Ordnance stores ... ... Mds. 7,520 Rs. 9,150

Consequent upon the extra traffic carried in 1882 for the Egyptian expedition.

Hides ... ... Mds. 10,670 Rs. 10,440

This traffic depends entirely on the foreign demand, and this appears to have been good, but supplies are stated as not equal to it.

Construction account material ... ... Mds. 25,640 Rs. 6,530

The doubling of the line above Buxar was proceeding in 1882.

Salt ... ... Mds. 13,750 Rs. 5,350

This falling off is in salt vid Agra.

GENERAL REMARKS AND EXPLANATIONS.

Though the Pooja Holidays fell most inopportunely in the middle of the month under review, there is only a small decrease of 311 43 tons to record in the net results of the month's working in comparison with the same period last year. The total weight lifted was 16,225 41 tons as against 16,536·84 tons in last October. The jute traffic has recovered from its recent depression, and is better by 327 00 tons than last October's despatches. A very large traffic has also been done in salt. On the other hand, however, decreases have to be noted against food-grain, gunny-bags, tea, and tobacco. These are, however, due to causes beyond control.

Increases.

Jute ... ... Tons 327 00

Though prices have advanced on last quotations the demand for this staple continues. This increase will nearly cover the falling off in the despatches of gunny-bags.

Miscellaneous ... ... Tons 377·85

The traffic under this designation has in previous fluctuation reports been recorded under "All other goods"; for the past two months it has shewn signs of improving.

Piece-goods ... ... Tons 195·36

The present increase is chiefly due to despatches of a suitable class of goods for Pooja requirements. Now that this enquiry has apparently been satisfied, a decline will doubtless ensue.

Salt ... ... Tons 642·19

The large traffic done in this article is apparently due to a larger demand setting in as the country becomes drier and more accessible by road.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... Tons 41·03

As anticipated this traffic has declined. It will continue to do so now that the cold season has set in, and fewer public consignments will come forward.

Food-grains ... ... Tons 244 63

In consequence of the discouraging accounts of the prospects of the new crop, owing to the continued drought, stock holders are not desirous of meeting the present demands of the market, in anticipation of realising higher prices later on. This will explain this decrease. The Calcutta market for Moonghy has risen and closes very firm, and the demand for the Hill districts continues.

Ginger ... ... Tons 17·64

No demand has yet set in.

Gunny-bags ... . Tons 583·96

The recent advance in the price for loose jute, the demand for it, and the scarcity of the raw material, has for the present rendered the making of hand made gunnies unremunerative, and affected the despatches.

Railway material ... ... Tons 273 34

As the Dinagepore extension approaches completion a falling off under this head will naturally have to be recorded.

Sugar ... . Tons 19·57

There is nothing doing in this staple. A few transactions for coast shipments are reported.

Tea ... . Tons 324 02

Comparison is being made with a successful month's working last year, when a very large quantity of tea was manufactured This with a recent decline in prices for the commoner descriptions will explain this falling off.

Tobacco ... . Tons 385 64

I find no transactions reported in the Calcutta market. The season is also drawing to a close and the despatches must be affected.

17. The establishment in the several districts of recruitment of places for the temporary accommodation of emigrants, previous to their despatch to the depôts of contractors, shall be regulated generally by the rules relating to such depôts, subject to such modification as the Magistrate of the district may with reference to the temporary nature of such accommodation consider necessary.

Inspection of places of accommodation by district officers.

18. The Magistrate of every district of recruitment shall, in respect of all places for the accommodation of emigrants within such district, exercise the powers vested in the Superintendent for the supervision of depôts. All such places shall be regularly inspected by the Magistrate, and by the officers authorized in that behalf by such Magistrate under the Act.

Responsibility of persons in charge of places of accommodation.

19. The sub-contractors, or recruiters in charge of places for the accommodation of emigrants, shall be responsible for any irregularities that may be committed in connection with the management of such places; and they shall keep such registers, and submit such reports and returns to the Magistrate having jurisdiction as he may require.

Section 4.—Depôt management.

Supervision of depôts by Superintendent.

20. The Superintendent, or his assistant, shall regularly visit every depôt when accommodating emigrants, and shall see that the provisions of the Act are fully carried out in the case of all labourers and their dependents arriving at such depôt, and that the terms of their engagement to work in the labour districts are thoroughly understood by them.

Supervision of depôts by Medical Inspector.

21. The sanitary state of the depôts shall be the special care of the Medical Inspector. He shall visit the depôts regularly, and see that all necessary precautions are taken against communicable disease; that the hospital and other medical arrangements at the depôts are sufficient; that all emigrants unprotected against small-pox are properly vaccinated, and that the depôt arrangements generally for the keep and health of emigrants are satisfactory from a medical point of view. At the close of every month he shall submit a report of his inspections in the prescribed form (No. 10) to the Superintendent.

Visitors' book for inspecting officers.

22. At each depôt there shall be kept a visitors' book, in which the Superintendent and the Medical Inspector shall enter their orders or remarks, and the dates of their visits. During such visits the contractor or his agent shall, without fail, place the depôt and hospital registers before the Superintendent and the Medical Inspector respectively for inspection, and shall on no account alter or correct any entries made therein without their knowledge and sanction.

Facilities for inspection of depôts.

23. Depôt gates shall be in charge of a darwan, and shall be open from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. Every facility shall be given by the contractor and his employés to the inspecting officers when visiting the depôt at any time.

Compliance with orders of emigration officers.

24. All orders of the Superintendent and the Medical Inspector shall be carried out by the contractors and their employés on pain of cancellation of license, or loss of appointment respectively. Should a contractor consider that any order given to him by the Superintendent or Medical Inspector is unreasonable, he shall be at liberty to appeal against such order if passed by the Superintendent and Medical Inspector at Goalundo or Kusteah, to the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, or if passed by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, to the Government of Bengal. Until, however, the order shall have been reversed by a higher authority it must be carried out.

Appointment of depôt agent.

25. If the contractor does not himself live in his depôt premises, he shall appoint, subject to the approval of the Superintendent, a proper person as his agent, who shall reside there constantly, and conduct the business on the contractor's responsibility. Every such agent shall be registered in the Superintendent's office.

Infringement of rules by contractor's agent.

26. Every contractor shall be responsible for any offence against the rules committed by his agent at any place in the same manner and to the same extent as though he himself had committed such offence.

Depôt registers and returns.

27. The contractor or his agent shall keep depôt registers in the prescribed forms (Nos. 11, 14, and 21 respectively), and shall punctually and accurately make the required entries therein. Monthly returns of accommodation and of sickness in depôt shall likewise be prepared in the prescribed forms (Nos. 12 and 13 respectively), and punctually forwarded to the office of the Superintendent by the 15th of the month following that for which they become due. Any default in these respects, or in the submission of prescribed returns generally when due, shall render the agent liable to loss of his appointment, and the contractor failing to adopt promptly the necessary remedial measures to cancellation of his license.

Appointment of depôt medical officer.

28. A resident medical officer to be licensed by the Medical Inspector shall be appointed by each contractor to his depôt, and his name shall be registered in the Superintendent's office. He shall be paid by the contractor, but shall be directly responsible to the Medical Inspector, who shall give him written instructions for his guidance. He shall not be dismissed without the consent of the Medical Inspector. He shall keep a hospital register in the prescribed form (No. 14), and shall, besides his other duties, assist in making out the monthly returns of sickness and mortality.

Responsibility of contractors in caring for emigrants.

29. The contractor, either directly or through his agent, shall be responsible for the good treatment and care of the emigrants, none of whom shall be discharged from the depôt without the permission of the Superintendent. He shall, moreover, be responsible to the Medical Inspector specially for the sanitary state of the depôt, and for the feeding, clothing, and medical treatment of all the emigrants accommodated therein.

Quality of clothing according to approved sample.

30. The clothing and blankets to be supplied to emigrants shall be according to scale, and of a quality equal to samples to be approved by the Superintendent and retained in his office.

Repairs of depôt sheds.

31. The sheds, hospitals, latrines, drains, &c., shall be constantly inspected, and any defects in them shall be immediately remedied. Mud-plastered walls shall be white-washed once a month.

32. On arrival of emigrants at the depôt, they shall be inspected by the contractor or his agent, and by the resident medical officer; their names shall be entered in the depôt register, and their arrival reported in the prescribed form (No. 15) in the forenoon of the next day to the Superintendent. Any casualty occurring in depôt shall be reported in the prescribed form (No. 16).

Procedure on arrival of emigrants in depôt.

33. The contractor shall ascertain that those sections of the Act which provide for the registration, and for the proper care and treatment of emigrants previous to their entering the depôt, have been complied with, and shall immediately thereafter submit a report regarding any recruiter, or other person in charge, who may be found to have infringed the law.

Irregularities of recruiters.

34. Excepting those whose state of health may prevent it, all emigrants shall be compelled to bathe on their arrival in depôt, and shall thereafter be decently and cleanly clothed according to the scale laid down in schedule A appended to the rules. Every article of clothing belonging to emigrants that is soiled, whether new or old, shall be thoroughly washed and dried before it is issued; and cast-off ragged clothes shall be gathered up and destroyed at once.

Clean clothing for emigrants.

35. A muster-roll of the emigrants in depôt shall be called every morning; and the resident medical officer, after careful examination, shall enter the names of the sick in his diary, which shall be countersigned by the contractor or resident agent.

Daily muster-roll of emigrants.

36. Emigrants shall wash their clothes at least twice a week when possible, and shall bathe daily. A liberal supply of soap shall be provided for the purpose.

Personal cleanliness of emigrants.

37. Emigrants shall not be permitted to wash their clothes and persons in the depôt tanks, but approved appliances for ablution purposes shall be specially provided on a suitable site so drained as to prevent the waste water from returning into the tank or other sources of water-supply. The water for all purposes shall be frequently examined by the Medical Inspector, and the contractor or his agent shall be held responsible for any failure in providing good, wholesome water.

Appliances for ablution purposes.

38. Emigrants shall be compelled to dust out and air their clothes and blankets daily, and shall not be allowed to remain in damp clothes.

Airing of emigrants' clothing.

39. Regular hours shall be set apart for cooking and feeding; and no cooking shall be allowed at any other time except for invalids, nor in any place except the cooking sheds, where alone emigrants shall feed and smoke.

Cooking and feeding arrangements.

40. The rations issued daily to each labourer and dependent in depôt shall be according to the scale laid down in Schedule B; and the meals and drinking water shall invariably be examined by the resident medical officer before being served out. When necessary, food suitable for infants and invalids (fresh milk, soup, sago, &c.,) shall be freshly prepared and regularly supplied throughout the twenty-four hours. Any neglect of infants or invalids on the part of the contractor, his agent, or resident medical officer, shall render such contractor liable to cancellation of license, or such agent or medical officer to the loss of appointment.

Daily inspection of meals by depôt medical officer.

41. After meals the resident medical officer shall see that the cooking sheds are carefully swept out, that all cooking utensils are thoroughly cleaned, and that no stale food is secreted either by the cooks or emigrants.

Cleaning of cooking utensils.

42. Excepting the hospital, latrines, drains, and receptacles for kitchen and other filth, which shall be kept constantly cleaned by the sweepers, the garden, sheds, and every part of the depôt shall be kept clean and in good order by the emigrants. The emigrants if they consent to work shall be regularly employed, but without fatigue, and kept as much as possible in the open air.

Employment of emigrants.

43. The persons on duty shall be constantly about the depôt and shall preserve order and cleanliness everywhere, especially during cooking and feeding and inspections. They shall see that no jungle or rubbish is permitted to accumulate in the depôt compound; that the spaces under and around the sleeping and other sheds are kept clean; and that the sweepers do their work regularly.

Cleanliness of depôt premises.

44. No cooking, feeding, or smoking shall be permitted in the sleeping sheds, which shall be kept thoroughly clean, well ventilated, and water-tight.

Prevention of other use of sleeping sheds.

45. The emigrants shall be properly distributed at night in their sleeping sheds, according to the number each shed is licensed to accommodate, and shall be prevented from crowding together.

Prevention of overcrowding in sleeping sheds.

46. Excepting locked lanterns hung in the dispensary, hospital, and at the entrance of every sleeping shed, and a light in the durwan's room, all lights and fires shall be put out by 9 o'clock at night.

Extinguishing of lights at night.

47. Excreta from the hospital or latrines, and filth of any description, shall not be buried within at least one thousand feet of any source of drinking water; nor be thrown into stagnant pools and nullahs, which may happen to be near the depôts.

Disposal of excreta.

48. The contractor or his agent shall arrange with the Vaccination Department for the vaccination of every emigrant unprotected from small-pox as soon as possible after admission into the depôt.

Vaccination of emigrants.

Treatment of sick emigrants.

49. Sick emigrants, excepting those suffering from cholera or other dangerously communicable disease, and otherwise provided for, shall not be sent to any other than the depôt hospital; nor be removed thence, nor from the depôt, without the written permission of the Medical Inspector.

Procedure on outbreak of serious communicable disease.

50. In the event of cholera or small-pox or other dangerously communicable disease appearing in the depôt, every labourer or dependent attacked shall immediately be sent to the authorized hospital for treatment, and the relatives of the affected persons, if any, not accompanying the patient shall at the same time be placed in the segregation shed situated in an isolated part of the depôt compound, and shall not be removed thence without the written permission of the Medical Inspector. A report of the case shall then be submitted to the Medical Inspector, and within twenty-four hours the Superintendent shall be furnished with a descriptive statement, in the prescribed form (No. 17), of every emigrant sent to the authorized hospital, together with the reason for such removal. In the event of any emigrant sent to hospital dying or being permitted to return to the depôt, the death or re-admission of such emigrant shall be similarly reported to the Superintendent in form (No. 18).

Destruction of infected clothing.

51. Clothing, blankets, and mats that have been in contact with persons suffering from dangerously communicable disease (e.g. small-pox or cholera), hospital dressings, foul rags, and all combustible filth, shall be regularly and thoroughly burnt in a safe and suitable place, and in the presence of the resident medical officer. The segregation shed, immediately it ceases to be occupied, shall be carefully cleaned out and disinfected by fumigation or other efficient means.

Disposal of property of deceased emigrants.

52. On the death of any intending emigrant, the contractor, or agent, or medical officer shall immediately make an inventory of the property of such emigrant in a register in the prescribed form (No. 21), to be kept for the purpose, and shall forward such property as early as practicable to the office of the Superintendent for disposal. The claims made by relatives in depôt, if any, shall duly be communicated to the Superintendent, who shall, after making enquiry as to the heirs, dispose of the estate as circumstances may render necessary.

Procedure on contractors failing to provide contract.

53. Emigrants who are not engaged within thirty days of their arrival at any depôt shall be returned through the Superintendent's office to the districts where registered at the expense of the contractor, except when such emigrants elect to continue in such depôt in the hope of being ultimately engaged, or desire to be transferred to the depôt of some other contractor, or prefer to be discharged from the depôt; in which last case they shall, previous to discharge, be paid such compensation as may be ordered by the Superintendent. At the close of every month the contractor or his agent shall forward to the Superintendent's office a statement in the prescribed form (No. 22) of all the emigrants remaining in depôt over thirty days without execution of contract.

Disposal of rejected emigrants.

54. All emigrants that are declared by the Medical Inspector to be unfit to emigrate, and are finally rejected by the contractor or his agent, shall be returned through the Superintendent's office to the districts of registration at the expense of the contractor, unless they of their own accord insist on being discharged on the spot, when they shall be treated, save in respect of compensation in the same manner as emigrants for whom contractors fail to find employment.

Medical examination of rejected emigrants.

55. All rejected emigrants shall be examined by the Medical Inspector on the day that they are to be returned to their districts; and only those that are certified by him to be able to travel shall be forwarded to the Superintendent's office for disposal, while the rest shall be detained in depot under treatment until the Medical Inspector certifies to their being in a fit state to undertake the journey.

Application for execution of labour contracts.

56. When the employer or his agent has selected in any depôt the labourers required by him, a written application for the placing of such labourers on contract shall be sent by the contractor concerned or his agent to the Superintendent of Emigration at least one day before the date fixed upon for execution of contract.

Arrangements for examination of labourers.

57. Labourers intending to execute contracts, when placed before the Superintendent, shall have their copies of registration in their hands; and their blankets, clothing, and utensils, according to the scale prescribed in Schedule A, arranged beside them for inspection.

Knowledge and acceptance of terms by labourers.

58. The Superintendent, when placing labourers on contract, shall invariably satisfy himself that the employer or his agent has affixed his signature to all the contract papers, and that the labourers thoroughly understand and accept the terms and conditions of the contract they are executing. An abstract of every such contract shall be entered in a register to be kept by the Superintendent in the prescribed form (No. 19).

Medical inspection of contract labourers.

59. Labourers who have executed contracts shall be inspected by the Medical Inspector before despatch from the depôt with reference to their fitness to travel; and to that end a written application for such final inspection shall be forwarded by the contractor concerned or his agent to the Medical Inspector at least one day previous to the date of the intended despatch of such labourers to the districts for which engaged.

It must be seen that the clothing provided is worn by the emigrants whenever the weather renders such a precaution necessary. 73. Every employer of labour, in charge of any estate in a labour district, desiring to obtain, under section 59 of the Act, a license (form No. 24) for any person to be a local agent for the purpose of representing him in the recruiting districts, and supervising the collection of labourers by his garden-sardars, shall apply to the Superintendent of Emigration authorized to grant such license, either directly or through his agent.

Application for local agent's special license.

74. If any employer applies for a special license under section 62 (form No. 25) on behalf of any local agent, in order to enable him to engage labourers without the intervention of a garden-sardar, and such local agent is at the time representing other employers by virtue of a license under section 59, the written consent of all such other employers to the grant of such special license shall invariably be obtained and furnished with the application.

75. Every local agent shall be held responsible for the proper conduct of recruitment by garden sardars working under his supervision; and shall see that their recruiting operations are in all respects distinct and apart from those of contractor's and their employés.

Responsibilities of local agents in respect to selection of labourers.

76. In every case in which the physical fitness for labour of intending emigrants is required by any employer in his sardar's certificate (form No. 23) to be determined previous to registration, the local agent, if any, or the sardar of such employer, shall ensure the necessary medical examination in form (No 27) and be otherwise directly responsible for the class of labourers engaged to proceed to the labour district.

Inspection of places of accommodation for sirdari labourers.

77. It shall be the duty of the District Magistrate to see that every place approved for the accommodation of intending emigrants recruited by garden-sardars is regularly and thoroughly inspected by the officers charged with that duty.

Provision of way-bill for journey.

78. The way-bill (form No. 28) required by section 76 to be provided for the journey shall be carefully and correctly filled in with all the necessary particulars regarding the labourers forming the batch by the sirdar or other person appointed to accompany them to their destination; and local agents, if any, shall be held responsible for the garden-sirdar's fulfilment of this duty.

Return of way bills by employers.

79. On the arrival of a batch of labourers at its destination, or port of disembarkation as the case may be, the sardar or other person in charge shall make over the way-bill of the batch to the employer of such labourers, who, after endorsing thereon his remarks, shall forward it to the district or sub-divisional magisterial officer for information and transmission to the Emigration Agent, or the Superintendent of Emigration concerned, in the despatch of the labourers.

In the former case, the master must be careful, when emigrants are being finally landed, to make over the way-bill to the debarkation or final inspecting officer concerned, to be returned with his remarks endorsed thereon to the sardár or other person in charge of the batch for delivery to the employer. After perusal and entry of casualties on the journey to garden, the employer must forward the way-bill to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division, who, in turn, should forward it to the Embarkation Agent at Dhubri, for information and transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta. In the latter case, the person in charge must, on arrival in the district or sub-division in which the garden where the labourers are to work is situate, place the emigrants with this way-bill before the Magistrate, who will, after endorsing his remarks on the way-bill, and filling in abstract, return it to the person in charge of the batch for delivery to the employer. After perusal and entry of casualties on the journey to garden, the employer must return the way-bill to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division, who, in turn, should forward it to the Embarkation Agent at Dhubri, for information and transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

2. Goalundo route to Assam, Káchár, or Sylhet.—(a) If the batch proceeds to Assam vid Goalundo, the person in charge, if taking the Magra and Kanchrapara route, must place the emigrants for inspection, with the way-bill, before the Magistrate of Hooghly, and, on arrival at Dhubri, before the Embarkation Agent, or in his absence the Magistrate at Goalundo, who will endorse his remarks on the way-bill, and then make it over to the master of the steamer in which the batch is embarked. The master, on the steamer's arrival at Dhubri, must place the way-bill before the Embarkation Agent at Dhubri for his endorsement after inspection of the emigrants, and on the completion of the voyage, or when any batch is about to be landed at its destination, make over the document to the debarkation or final inspecting officer concerned, to be returned with his remarks endorsed thereon to the sardár or other person in charge of the batch, for delivery to the employer. After perusal and entry of casualties on the journey to garden, the employer must forward the way-bill to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division, who, in turn, should forward it to the Embarkation Agent at Goalundo for information and transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

(b) If the batch proceeds to Káchár or Sylhet, the person in charge must place the emigrants, with this way-bill, before the Embarkation Agent or Magistrate at the place of embarkation, and also before the Magistrate or Sub-divisional Officers of all stations passed on the way, where such officers are readily accessible, and also before the debarkation officer at the place of their final landing; or should this not be possible, then, without fail, before the Magistrate of the district or sub-division in which the garden where the labourers are to work is situate, who will, after endorsing his remarks on the way-bill and filling in abstract, return it to the person in charge of the batch, for delivery to the employer. After perusal and entry of casualties on the journey to garden, the employer must return the way-bill to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division, who, in turn, should forward it to the Embarkation Agent or Magistrate concerned in the embarkation, for information and transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

After perusal and entry of casualties in the journey to garden, the employer must return the way-bill to the Magistrate of the district or sub-division, who, in turn, should forward it to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta for information.

4. Treatment of emigrants on the journey.—The person in charge must take every care of the emigrants during the journey. He must give them a cooked meal before they start; and if the journey is likely to occupy more than six hours, he must distribute biscuits and sugar in the proportion of two biscuits and one ounce of sugar to each emigrant of, and above, ten years of age, and one biscuit and half an ounce of sugar to each emigrant under the age of ten years; and if more than eight hours, dry provision must be supplied, such as choora, sutto, and the like, in such quantity as may be determined by the Superintendent of Emigration or other authorized officer. It must be seen that the clothing provided is worn by the emigrants whenever the weather renders such a precaution necessary. CHAPTER IV.

TRANSPORT.

Section 1.—General Rules.

Supervision of embarkation depôts.

80. The Medical Inspector at every place of embarkation shall see that the embarkation depôts are kept in proper order, and shall exercise the same powers in respect of them as are exercised in respect of depôts by Medical Inspectors, reporting, for the information of the Superintendent concerned, any failure of contractors or their employés to attend to his orders. Water and conservancy arrangements shall receive special attention.

Measurement of deck space.

81. Exclusive of hospital, gangways, ventilating hatches, and space for crew and attendants, and in respect of boats for rowing and bailing out, properly sheltered deck space shall be provided on board steamers, flats, or boats at the rate of ten superficial feet to each emigrant, computed with reference to section 92 of the Act, during the months of November, December, and January, and of twelve superficial feet for the remaining months of the year. In steamers of the daily mail service, besides suitable and available space on main deck, fore and after cabins also may be measured for the accommodation of emigrants, at an increased rate per emigrant of twelve and fourteen superficial feet respectively.

Measurement of hospital space.

82. Hospital space shall be provided for five per cent. of the total number of emigrants to be carried, computed with reference to section 92 of the Act, but such space shall be allotted at double the rate allowed for healthy adults, viz. twenty or twenty-four superficial feet to each statute adult, according to season, making reasonable allowance for space occupied by other requirements.

Section 2.—Fittings of Steamers and Flats.

Engineers and shipwright surveyors' certificates.

83. It shall be ascertained that the term for which the engineers and shipwright surveyors' certificates were granted to the vessels has not expired, or will not expire during the passage.

Situation of fittings of emigrant vessels.

84. All fittings shall be provided entirely on board that vessel which is to convey the emigrants to their destination; but, if necessary, and with the Medical Inspector's consent, the hospital may be provided on an upper deck of the adjoining flat or steamer, if it accompany for the entire journey.

Roofs of emigrant vessels.

85. The roof of every vessel shall be strong, watertight, and not less than five feet in height at its junction with the stanchions on either side. If of corrugated iron, the roof must not only be lined or thatched with matting, &c., as a protection against heat, but, on steamers, must also be fitted either with skylights or ——ge-ventilators, which shall have a ventilating area of not less than ten superficial feet to every hundred emigrants, computed as in section 92 of the Act, accommodated on board, and shall be so constructed as to exclude rain and allow the free escape of heated air. In steamers of the daily mail service, the ventilating area may be reduced to not less than six superficial feet to every hundred emigrants.

Enclosure of deck space for emigrants.

86. The space measured off for emigrants shall be fitted along the sides of the vessel, with a boarding three feet high, rising from the plankshear of the vessel, and with thick and sound canvas curtains hanging from roof to deck, with ventilating space under the eaves, and fastening closely to the deck below. But from the months of October to March, both inclusive, the three feet boarding shall completely enclose the emigrants' deck space, and, besides the side curtains, there shall be similar curtains hung, one at each end of the deck, so as to convert the entire space allotted to emigrants into a thoroughly sheltered compartment, with ventilating spaces near the roof for the exit of heated and unwholesome air. This large compartment shall, moreover, be subdivided into three smaller compartments by a couple of intermediate curtains stretched right across the deck space, from one side of the vessel to the other; but these two curtains, instead of extending almost up to the roof, as those at the sides and ends must do, shall be raised to a height of six feet only, measuring from the deck upwards, the space above being left clear and open for the purposes of free ventilation. In steamers of the daily mail service, the height of the boarding may be reduced to not less than two feet nine inches, and such boarding may not be continued round the stern of the vessel; but a suitable removable curtain following the iron rail may be substituted therefore.

Protection of emigrants' deck space against wet.

87. The space for emigrants shall be protected also against spray from the paddle-wheels; otherwise the space opposite the paddleboxes on both sides of steamer, and on one side of a flat, if it is to be lashed alongside during the voyage, shall not be measured for the accommodation of emigrant passengers.

Casing of funnel.

88. In order to prevent the heat of the funnel from raising the temperature of the emigrants' deck, in all steamers, in which the space immediately over the engines is neither excluded and railed off, nor ventilated above by skylights or other means, that portion of the funnel between such passengers' deck and the roof shall be enclosed at a distance of at least eighteen inches all-round, by a strong wooden air-shaft or casing, which shall be carried through the deck at the lower end, and through the roof at the upper, so as to afford free exit above the roof for the body of warm air immediately surrounding the funnel. In steamers of the daily mail service, such wooden casing may be dispensed with, if the iron casing provided for exit of warm air is found to be sufficiently protective, but not otherwise.

Situation of hospital.

89. The space intended for hospital purposes shall be provided on the upper deck of the steamer or flat, and a canvas screen shall divide it off from the rest of the deck space.

Compartment for dispensary.

90. A suitable compartment, approved by the Medical Inspector, shall be set apart for a dispensary; and bamboos shall be fastened, fore and aft, along the central stanchions within the emigrants' deck space, in order to enable the emigrants to hang up their bundles and blankets for the day.

Railing in of unprotected openings.

91. All dangerously exposed places near hatches, ladders, bathing places, latrines, communication and landing stages, shall be securely railed in against accidents.

Embarkation and landing stages.

92. Embarkation, landing, and all communicating stages likely to be used by emigrants, shall be at least three feet wide, well fastened, and provided with hand-rails—a requirement that shall be strictly complied with whenever emigrants are to be embarked or landed. In steamers of the daily mail service, the width of the stages may not be less than two feet.

Cabooses for emigrants.

93. One or two fire-proof cabooses, fitted inside with brick and plaster, and sufficiently large to accommodate the full number of boilers, according to scale, shall be firmly secured in the after part of the vessel, and so placed as to prevent any risk of contamination from the hospital.

Iron tanks for drinking water.

94. Four iron water-tanks, each capable of containing four hundred gallons of water, shall be provided on board, and each such tank shall be fitted with at least three moderate-sized taps, of simple construction, capable of being secured against use when desirable, and with a padlocked iron cover, besides a canvas over-all to exclude dust, &c. A ship's force-pump, with hose complete shall also be provided for the exclusive purpose of supplying water to the tanks, and shall on no ground whatever, excepting an outbreak of fire on board, be otherwise used. These tanks shall be conveniently placed, and filled before the arrival of the steamer at the place of embarkation, with the best water available, for the exclusive use of the emigrants. The water of two of the tanks only shall be in use at the same time, the remaining two tanks being reserved as settling tanks. In steamers of the daily mail service, the tanks may be reduced to two, each capable of containing 200 gallons of water, and may be placed below, with a pump arrangement on deck, for the supply of water for drinking and looking purposes through three moderate-sized taps.

Troughs for washing purposes.

95. Every vessel licensed to carry emigrants shall be provided with a covered trough, fitted with at least six large and simple taps, placed at such distances apart as to admit of six persons abreast washing their clothes at the same time, and connected with a fixed pump for the constant supply of water therein. Two such troughs shall be provided when the number of emigrants to be carried exceeds three hundred, computed with reference to section 92 of the Act.

Arrangements for bathing of emigrants.

96. A sufficiently large and well protected space for bathing shall be set apart for the use of the emigrants, and shall be fitted with a suitable showerbath of simple construction, and capable of distributing the shower over a large area, with a moveable canvas screen, to be invariably used when women are bathing, and with a suitable pump for supplying water thereto, which may be utilized also for filling the trough.

Latrines for emigrants.

97. Latrines with doors in front shall be securely fitted as far aft as possible, and at some distance from the deck space for emigrants from their drinking water, and from the cooking places, &c., and in every compartment a metal vessel, secured by a chain, shall be provided for drawing river water for washing purposes. The inside of every compartment, as well as the metal vessel and chain, shall be painted with coal-tar—a process that shall be repeated at the close of every trip after the compartment has been thoroughly cleaned. In steamers of the daily mail service, three latrines may be provided in one of the sponson-deck houses, to be set apart exclusively for the purpose.

Size and number of latrines.

98. There shall be two separate sets of latrines for males and females respectively placed, if possible, on opposite sides of the deck, and each set shall consist of at least four compartments for the use of any number up to two hundred emigrants, and of one additional compartment for every hundred in excess of the first two hundred, reference in counting numbers being had to section 92 of the Act. In steamers of the daily mail service, the deck-house set apart for the latrines shall have at least three compartments for males and three compartments for females.

Lanterns.

99. Lanterns shall be hung up in their places ready for use.

Boats and life-buoys.

100. Two life-buoys shall hang over or near the stern of every vessel, and the boats shall be in good working order, and fitted with requisites for immediate use, when necessary. In steamers of the daily mail service, the number of buckets may be reduced to ten.

Provision of fire-engine and appliances.

101. All emigrant passenger vessels shall have on board a fire-engine, with a sufficiently long flexible hose, that would be capable of discharging water over every part of the vessel; fire-buckets, and all other appliances needful in case of fire. The fire-buckets shall be twenty in number, and they, as well as all other fittings, shall always be kept in a proper place, in good order, and be ready for use on the shortest notice.

135. A constant supply of good drinking water shall be kept up in the tanks. These shall be used alternately, the water in each being allowed to settle after the addition of alum in the proportion of six grains to the gallon; and every effort shall be made to prevent emigrants from drinking the river water fresh drawn from the side of the vessel. The water shall be pumped directly into the tanks from the river in mid-stream, and clear from all possible risk of pollution from the latrine, &c.

Drinking water for emigrants.

136. Emigrants on board steamers and flats shall not be allowed to draw water from the river over the sides of the vessels, and thereby to incur the risk of accidents.

Protection against emigrants drawing river water.

137. The master of every steamer towing a flat and the medical officer in charge shall strictly prohibit all emigrants or other native passengers from crossing over from one vessel to another; and, with this object in view, shall not permit communicating stages between the vessels to be placed where they favour ready intercourse. Any communicating stages that may be absolutely necessary for the use of the officers and crew shall be constantly watched, in order to prevent accidents and the spread of disease.

Prevention of passengers from crossing over to another vessel.

138. The emigrant passengers as a rule shall not be required to labour during the passage, but in exceptional cases of urgent necessity only such of them as are considered by the medical officer to be well fitted for work may be employed, provided that such work is free from extraordinary risk to life, and that the master supplies those so employed with extra rations at the rate of two and a half chittacks of rice and half a chittack of dâl for each man per diem. The emigrants should always be encouraged to occupy their time with reasonable amusements.

Engagement of labourers in work.

139. They shall be properly arranged at night, and prevented from crowding together: and padlocked lanterns shall burn all night in the dispensary, and near latrines and gangways.

Distribution of emigrants at night.

140. The master of every licensed vessel, on arrival at every place where a Magistrate is stationed, shall report to such Magistrate the number of passengers and crew on board, the general state of their health, and the number of deaths that occurred on the passage; and omission to do so shall entail prosecution or refusal of license to carry emigrants thereafter.

Intimation of vessel's arrival at each station to Magistrate.

141. The master or the medical officer shall place the way-bill (form No. 38) of the vessel received from any Embarkation Agent before the inspecting officers at each station, in order that they may enter their remarks on the several points indicated in such way-bill.

Remarks in vessel's way-bill by inspecting officers.

142. The master and the medical officer shall furnish to inspecting officers all necessary information, and shall afford them every facility for the satisfactory discharge of their duties under the provisions of the Act and rules.

Facilities for inspection of vessels.

143. After the last official inspection at the place of final debarkation, the master or medical officer shall forward the vessel's way-bill, in original, together with the medical diary, cholera register, and issue lists of provisions and medical comforts relating to the emigrants embarked at Goalundo to the Emigration Agent at that place for his remarks, and for transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, for submission of the way-bill with his remarks to the local Government.

Disposal of vessel's way-bill after last inspection.

144. Emigrants shall not be permitted by the master to land finally at any place excepting that named in the vessel's way-bill as their destination, save under circumstances of necessity provided for in the Act and rules.

Landing of emigrants as per vessel's way-bill.

145. The master of a licensed vessel at the close of every trip shall forward to the Emigration Agent at Dhubri for information and transmission to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta a mortality return in the prescribed form (No. 39) shewing the deaths that occurred during the trip among the crew and passengers other than emigrants under the Act.

Every precaution should be taken to prevent the spread of the disease, and its occurrence should be reported to the Magistrate of the first station arrived at thereafter.

Section 5. Medical Officers.

Keeping of medical diary and ordinary journal by medical officer.

146. Every medical officer proceeding in charge of emigrants shall keep a medical diary in the prescribed form (No. 37), as well as a journal of the principal events of the passage, and shall write them up daily and carefully. He shall, moreover, on arrival at every inspection station place the above documents before the inspecting officers for their initials against the latest entry. Every death shall be reported immediately to the master of the steamer, who, if there be no relatives on board entitled thereto, shall take over charge of any property or money left by the deceased, and shall deliver the same to the Magistrate at the next station, or at the last place of debarkation for disposal.

Liability of medical officers to dismissal.

147. Every medical officer proceeding in charge of emigrants shall, in case of misconduct or neglect of his duties, or of the requirements of the rules regulating transport, be liable to dismissal on the requisition of any Medical Inspector or other officer so empowered.

Regulation of change of diet by medical officer.

148. All extra food and any change in diet shall be regulated by the medical officer only on his own responsibility.

Utilization of deck of flat in case of epidemic.

149. In the event of an epidemic of dangerously communicable disease occurring on the passage, the master, if required by the medical officer, shall give up the upper deck of an available flat for the better distribution of the emigrant passengers.

Treatment of sick emigrants.

150. Emigrants suffering from slight illness may be attended in their berths; but all serious cases shall be treated in hospital. Patients attacked by cholera or small-pox, or other dangerously communicable disease, with all that belongs to them, shall be instantly and thoroughly isolated from the healthy; and the family or batch in which such disease occurred shall be kept on another deck, or as far apart as possible from the rest of the emigrants without exciting alarm.

Measures of disinfection of deck.

151. Places originally occupied by emigrants removed on account of communicable disease shall be instantly cleaned, and the deck shall be thoroughly scraped and scrubbed with hot sand and disinfecting powder, and, if circumstances admit, fumigation with burning sulphur shall also be carried out.

Measures for prevention of an epidemic.

152. Besides the immediate isolation and treatment of the first case of dangerously communicable disease, every precaution shall be taken to prevent an epidemic, strict attention being paid to premonitory symptoms, general and personal cleanliness, careful disinfection and disposal of excreta, disinfection and destruction of infected articles, free ventilation, and care of the healthy. On the occurrence of cholera a register of the cases shall be kept in the prescribed form (No. 36).

Destruction of infected clothing.

153. All clothes, blankets, mats, &c., that have been in any way in contact with those suffering from serious communicable disease, or have been soiled, or are suspected of infection or impurity, shall be burnt on shore in the presence of the medical officer, who should take special care to have them burnt invariably to leeward; or thrown overboard, whenever burning is impracticable.

Section 6—Country boats.

Appointment of head manjee.

154 When emigrants are to be conveyed to any labour district in boats, an intelligent head manjee shall be selected by common consent of the others, and appointed by the Embarkation Agent to exercise general control over them in keeping the boats together, preserving order, and assisting the medical officer or other persons in charge during the passage. The appointment of a head manjee, however, shall not lessen the responsibility of each individual manjee. Under the law each one shall be personally liable for every offence or neglect of duty.

Appointment of medical officer when emigrants exceed fifty souls.

155 If the number under conveyance in a fleet of boats exceeds fifty emigrants, the despatchers of such emigrants shall conjointly provide a medical officer—duly licensed by the Medical Inspector or other officer so empowered—to take charge of the boats, and to supply the medicines that may be required for the treatment of the sick during the passage.

Observance of rules for steamers when applicable to boats.

156. A medical officer or other person proceeding in charge of emigrants in boats shall be guided by the rules relating to steamers, so far as they are applicable to boats.

Samples of emigrants' stores for examination.

157. In the case of boat despatches, the contractor or his agent shall place samples of the stores intended for the emigrants before the Embarkation Agent in time to admit of his examining and approving of them prior to holding the final survey of stores on board.

Grant of license after approval of arrangements.

158. After everything required under the Act and Rules has been approved, the manjee and the medical officer or other person in charge shall sign the provision lists; and when the Embarkation Agent is satisfied that every requirement has been met, and that the head manjee in charge of the flotilla has a copy of the Act and Rules, he shall license the boats.

Description of boats for emigrants.

159. Boats for the conveyance of emigrants shall be of uniformly moderate size, and strong and water-tight, and shall be provided with side windows having moveable jhamps. The machan or plank decks, masts, sails, oars, rudders, and all other requisites for the efficient management of boats shall be in thoroughly serviceable order; and all bamboo machan decks shall be matted.

Increase of roof for additional accommodation not ordinarily allowable.

160. No temporary addition to the size of the roof shall be allowed as a plea for carrying more persons than the boat was originally intended to accommodate, unless there be ample space, and the additional accommodation is in every respect satisfactory.

Hospital boat.

161. A moderate-sized boat shall be selected for a hospital; but if it be insufficient to provide the prescribed hospital space, two or more similar sized boats according to requirement shall be selected in preference to a large one for facility of movement. They shall be particularly well ventilated, fitted with plank decks, and subject to the same general conditions as the rest of the boats. Emigrants' stores of whatever kind shall on no account be placed in any hospital boat, which shall be distinguished from the passenger boats by a red flag prominently placed.

Medical officer's boat.

162. A small and swift boat shall be provided for the medical officer in charge and medical stores. The medical officer shall always be near the hospital boat, and a call for him from any passenger boat shall be signalled by the waving of a white cloth. The Embarkation Agent shall see that simple means of rapid communication are understood by all before they start.

Boats for emigrants' stores.

163. The strongest and driest boats, lined with dunnage, shall be selected for the conveyance of the stores for emigrants, and the manjees of the boats shall be held responsible for the proper care of such stores.

Marking of boats passed for emigrants.

164. All boats approved for the transport of emigrants to the labour districts shall be marked and numbered (stencilled in paint) thus :— on the bow, stern, or other prominent part, and the mark and number shall invariably be entered in each boat's license.

Lanterns.

165. Each boat shall be provided with a strong and serviceable lantern.

Report of accidents to boats to nearest Magistrate.

166. In the event of any of the boats being disabled by accident, the medical officer or other person in charge shall report such accident, or any other untoward circumstance, to the Magistrate at the nearest civil station, so that remedial measures may be taken and assistance rendered as soon as possible.

Control of boats by medical officer.

167. The medical officer shall endeavour to keep the boats forming the flotilla together, and shall keep the hospital boat following the fleet. He shall take care that the boats are not changed, and that the hospital boat is used only for the purpose intended.

Measures on outbreak of dangerously communicable disease.

168. In the event of seriously communicable disease occurring on the passage, the sick shall be removed to the hospital boat and the healthy shall be landed and made to bathe and wash their clothes, while the boat including its bilge is being thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. The emigrants shall not be allowed to re-enter their boat till everything is clean and dry about them.

General supervision by medical officer.

169. Besides constant attention to the sick, the medical officer shall see that the boats and their bilges are kept clean; that the emigrants are generally clean and well cared for; that foul or infected villages or places are avoided, and that at night the boats are not fastened to any defiled or unwholesome bank.

Disposal of surplus stores.

170. The surplus of emigrants' stores on board of boats shall at the end of the passage, or after the emigrants for whom they were shipped have been landed, be made over under certificates of delivery to the agents appointed by the contractors to dispose of such surplus. But this shall be done only after such stores have been examined by the inspecting officers, and checked by means of the provision issue statement filled in by the medical officer or other person in charge on the passage, and certificates to this effect shall be signed by the medical officer or other person in charge and the Debarkation Officer. The medical officer or other person in charge shall not take part in the sale of surplus stores, nor have any interest whatever in the proceeds of such sales, or in the transmission of such proceeds to the contractors concerned. Any infringement of this rule by the medical officer or other person in charge shall render him liable to dismissal and non-employment thereafter.

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd December 1888.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor intends, if no valid objections be raised within one month from this date, to approve of the following rules to regulate the account of expenditure on drainage schemes sanctioned under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880 :—

Rules for the account of Expenditure on Drainage Schemes sanctioned under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880.

1. In the following rules the word "scheme" means any project or portion of a project sanctioned by the Government under section 54 of the Act as a separate scheme.

2. Expenditure on any scheme for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880 will be incurred on estimates adopted by the Commissioners appointed under the Act and sanctioned by Government.

3. The expenditure will be incurred partly by the Public Works Department and partly by the Civil Department. The expenditure in the Civil Department will be in respect of compensation for lands taken for the purposes of the Act, and for damage inflicted in carrying out the scheme, salaries of officers, servants and establishments, and cost of surveys and valuations (other than those made by officers of the Public Works Department), whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans.

4. On the vouchers on which such expenditure is incurred it will be distinctly stated for what particular scheme the payments are made, and no voucher shall be paid at the treasury unless it is first passed by the Collector of the district as a charge to a particular scheme under the Act.

5. The expenditure will be passed by the Accountant-General to charge of a special advance head to be opened for each scheme upon his accounts, and an account of all the transactions under each such account (opening and closing with a balance) will be forwarded by him to the Collector at the end of each quarter for communication to the Commissioners. The account should be made up in such detail as to show the general nature of the expenditure included in it, such as "surveys," "compensation for land," "payment of drainage," &c.

6. The accounts of expenditure in the Public Works Department will similarly be kept separately for each "scheme," the charges being in the first place passed to debit of a special advance head to be opened upon the books of the Examiner.

7. A quarterly account of the expenditure so charged will be prepared by the Examiner, and by him transmitted to the Accountant-General for communication to the Collector and the Commissioners. This account will show the general nature of the expenditure only, such as "establishments," "works," "stores" or any other similar particulars.

8. At the final closing of the account of each year, but not till then, the total charge upon the Examiner's books will be transferred to those of the Accountant-General, which will then show, under a separate advance account for each scheme, the total expenditure in each year, both in the Civil and in the Public Works Department.

9. At the end of each quarter, until the work is finally completed, the officer in charge of the works will, as required by section 27, make a detailed report to the Drainage Commissioners, through the Collector, of the progress of the works and the expenditure thereupon, so far as known to him, from the date to which the next preceding report has been brought down.

10. The quarterly account received from the Accountant-General by the Commissioners will be received as the statement of the accounts of Government in respect of each scheme. They will, on receipt, be examined by the Commissioners against the register of sanctioned charges (for Civil Department), and be compared with the quarterly report of the officer in charge of the works (for Public Works Department). The Commissioners will report to the Accountant-General objections they may have to raise to the accounts whether in respect of their completeness in point of the detail required for their purposes or in respect of their accuracy.

11. It shall be the duty of the Accountant-General to meet such criticisms, as far as consistent with the facts, by adjustments which will appear in the succeeding quarterly accounts. But the Accountant-General is the final authority in respect of the correctness of the account.

12. A copy of the certificate of completion of work required by section 28 of the Act will be sent by the officer in charge of the work to the Accountant-General, who will thereupon calculate the interest due up to date of completion, and add it to the total cost charged in his books to the advance head, for recovery from the persons concerned.

13. The interest shall be made up by reckoning for interest the total of the net expenditure shown in each quarterly account from the end of the quarter to which it appertains.

14. A complete account will now be made up by the Accountant-General in such detail as the Drainage Commissioners may require, but not in greater detail than that of the quarterly account. This complete account shows the total recoverable under the Act.

15. The Accountant-General will at the same time draw up a statement, agreeing with the above, showing the quarterly totals in the following form :—

Quarter ending.	Amount of expenditure.			Amount of interest till (a specified date.)
	Civil.	Public Works.	Total.

The complete account, together with this statement, will be communicated by the Accountant-General to the Collector for communication to the Commissioners, and will be subscribed by the Accountant-General as a certificate under section 27 of the Act.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 600 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A promissory note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6.—The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said

Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory for the year 1882-83, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. The public are hereby informed that the opium manufactured at the Patna factory in season 1882-83 consists of opium made at consistences of 78°, 74°, and 75°, and that the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory in the same season consists of opium made at consistences of 70°, and 75°. The consistence of the opium which will be sold each month will be mentioned in the sale notification of that month.

19. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

20. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1884, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of opium required by them at any particular sale within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale: provided, however, that the Agent of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,550 chests of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the opium which the French authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such opium, or any portion of it, at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article VI.—With regard to the trade in opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three hundred chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for opium, as aforesaid, are to be addressed to the Governor-General at Calcutta within thirty days after notice of the intended sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st December 1883, and was referred to a Select Committee, who are to report thereon in one month :—

A Bill to amend "The Estates' Partition Act, 1876"

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend "The Estates' Partition Act, 1876;"

It is enacted as follows :—

Construction and commencement of Act.

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, "The Estates' Partition Act, 1876," and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor-General.

2. Section 11 of "The Estates' Partition Act, 1876," is hereby repealed.

Repeal of section 11, Bengal Act VIII of 1876.

3. For section 11 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted :—

No partition of a permanently-settled estate allowed, if separate estate liable for less than ten rupees annual land revenue.

"11. No application for the partition of a permanently-settled estate shall be admitted, and if the application shall have been admitted, no partition shall be carried out in accordance with any such application, if any separate estate to be created by such partition would be liable for an annual amount of land revenue not exceeding ten rupees."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Partition of Estates under the existing law now makes such demands on the time and attention of Revenue Officers in some Districts as seriously to interfere with the discharge of their other duties.

Of late years the Legislature has provided means short of a complete separation of the liability for land revenue by which a joint proprietor can, to a great extent, protect himself against the consequences of default by his co-parcener.

The object of the Bill is to relieve Revenue Officers of the duty of making partitions of which the effect will be to create separate estates liable for an annual amount of land revenue not exceeding Rs. 10, as the public inconvenience caused by their employment in this duty now outweighs its advantages.

The proprietors of joint interests in estates, who will be precluded from applying for Partition by Revenue Officers, will now be placed, in respect of separation of their shares, in the same position as the joint holders of a tenure who have no right against their landlord of splitting up the tenure.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO REPORT UPON THE SYSTEM OF EXCISE ON COUNTRY SPIRITS.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—EXCISE.

Calcutta, the 4th December 1883.

RESOLUTION.

IN the Resolution on the last annual Excise Report of the Board of Revenue, the Lieutenant-Governor stated that he had satisfied himself that in some districts an increase in drinking had taken place which was larger than the increase of revenue, if properly distributed, would indicate, and he announced his intention of appointing a Special Commission to consider and report upon the subject of the system of excise on country spirits in all its aspects after careful local enquiry. It is unnecessary here to recapitulate all that has been said against, and in favour of, the outstill system, which is now in force over practically the whole area of the province outside Calcutta and its environs. One thing is clear, that there has been a serious increase in drinking among the people. That increase is not confined to the area under the outstill system; but that it has taken place throughout a great part of that area, is not open to question. Whether the causes in operation are the same as those which have caused the increase in the smaller area under the sudder distillery, or whether there are special causes, either inherent in the system or brought into force by its present application, it is impossible for Government to allow this increase in drinking to continue without making every effort to ascertain those causes and, if possible, to remove them. No considerations of revenue can be allowed to outweigh the paramount duty of Government to prevent the spread of intemperance, so far as it may be possible to do so. The Lieutenant-Governor has received the sanction of the Government of India to his proposal to appoint a Special Commission, and he directs that it be constituted as follows:—

Mr. J. Ware Edgar, C.S.I.	...	President.
Baboo Krishna Bihari Sen, M.A.	...	Member.
Mr. H. R. Reily	...	„
Baboo Obhoy Chunder Das	...	„ and Secretary.

The Commission will understand that they are invited to examine and report upon the whole question of the excise on country spirits, and to make any suggestions for its administration in all its branches that may occur to them as the outcome of their enquiries and deliberations. They should visit every district in the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions, and selected districts in the Chota Nagpore, Burdwan, and Presidency Divisions, and should give timely notice of the dates on which they will hold sittings at the different places, in order that all who may wish to give evidence upon the subject of their enquiry may have an opportunity of doing so. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the record of the evidence taken, and of the general proceedings of the Commission, may be made as full as possible. It is important that the report to be submitted shall contain all that has to be urged on all sides of the question, in order that Government may be able to come to a definite conclusion on a matter which has long formed the subject of public controversy. It is hoped that the report of the Commission may be submitted by the 1st April.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

That, while no death was recorded under the head of small-pox, the mortality from cholera is stated to have amounted to 2·9 per 1,000 of the population of the Municipalities under notice, against 2·1 per 1,000 in the preceding week; from fever 18 per 1,000 against 17·1 per 1,000; from bowel-complaints 5·2 per 1,000 against 4 per 1,000; from violence ·03 per 1,000 against ·4 per 1,000; and from all other causes 8·4 per 1,000 against 8·1 per 1,000. These figures indicate that there was a rise in the fatal results from all the death causes, except injury.

(4.) That of the above indicated diseases, exoluding small-pox, from which, as before stated, no death was reported, and injury, which proved fatal only in the Naraingunge town at the rate of 4·1 per 1,000 of its population, cholera, fever, bowel-complaints and other causes, caused the highest mortality in the undermentioned Municipalities:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides; and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

4. On the vouchers on which such expenditure is incurred it will be distinctly stated for what particular scheme the payments are made, and no voucher shall be paid at the treasury unless it is first passed by the Collector of the district as a charge to a particular scheme under the Act.

5. The expenditure will be passed by the Accountant-General to charge of a special advance head to be opened for each scheme upon his accounts, and an account of all the transactions under each such account (opening and closing with a balance) will be forwarded by him to the Collector at the end of each quarter for communication to the Commissioners. The account should be made up in such detail as to show the general nature of the expenditure included in it, such as "surveys," "compensation for land," "payment of drainage," &c.

6. The accounts of expenditure in the Public Works Department will similarly be kept separately for each "scheme," the charges being in the first place passed to debit of a special advance head to be opened upon the books of the Examiner.

7. A quarterly account of the expenditure so charged will be prepared by the Examiner, and by him transmitted to the Accountant-General for communication to the Collector and the Commissioners. This account will show the general nature of the expenditure only, such as "establishments," "works," "stores" or any other similar particulars.

8. At the final closing of the account of each year, but not till then, the total charge upon the Examiner's books will be transferred to those of the Accountant-General, which will then show, under a separate advance account for each scheme, the total expenditure in each year, both in the Civil and in the Public Works Department.

9. At the end of each quarter, until the work is finally completed, the officer in charge of the works will, as required by section 27, make a detailed report to the Drainage Commissioners, through the Collector, of the progress of the works and the expenditure thereupon, so far as known to him, from the date to which the next preceding report has been brought down.

10. The quarterly account received from the Accountant-General by the Commissioners will be received as the statement of the accounts of Government in respect of each scheme. They will, on receipt, be examined by the Commissioners against the register of sanctioned charges (for Civil Department), and be compared with the quarterly report of the officer in charge of the works (for Public Works Department). The Commissioners will report to the Accountant-General objections they may have to raise to the accounts whether in respect of their completeness in point of the detail required for their purposes or in respect of their accuracy.

11. It shall be the duty of the Accountant-General to meet such criticisms, as far as consistent with the facts, by adjustments which will appear in the succeeding quarterly accounts. But the Accountant-General is the final authority in respect of the correctness of the account.

12. A copy of the certificate of completion of work required by section 28 of the Act will be sent by the officer in charge of the work to the Accountant-General, who will thereupon calculate the interest due up to date of completion, and add it to the total cost charged in his books to the advance head, for recovery from the persons concerned.

13. The interest shall be made up by reckoning for interest the total of the net expenditure shown in each quarterly account from the end of the quarter to which it appertains.

14. A complete account will now be made up by the Accountant-General in such detail as the Drainage Commissioners may require, but not in greater detail than that of the quarterly account. This complete account shows the total recoverable under the Act.

15. The Accountant-General will at the same time draw up a statement, agreeing with the above, showing the quarterly totals in the following form :—

Quarter ending.	Amount of expenditure.			Amount of interest till (a specified date.)
	Civil.	Public Works.	Total.

The complete account, together with this statement, will be communicated by the Accountant-General to the Collector for communication to the Commissioners, and will be subscribed by the Accountant-General as a certificate under section 27 of the Act.

MESSRS. F. J. AND G. J. BRAIKENRIDGE.

I HAVE the honour of informing you that in consequence of the very limited competition among natives of India for the Gilchrist Scholarships provided for their benefit (only a single candidate having appeared at the last examination, although there were then two scholarships each of £100 per annum), the Trustees have decided to admit candidates from Ceylon to compete with those of India for the single scholarship of £150 per annum to be henceforth annually awarded in accordance with my previous communication to you.

In making the increase to the annual stipend of the single scholar, the Trustees desire to place him beyond the necessity of supplementing their allowance from private resources. They have no doubt that, with due economy, the sum of £150 per annum will suffice to meet the necessary expenses of their scholar's maintenance and education during his residence in this country.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES FOR MATRICULATION.

Care should be taken, in sending notice, to give a correct postal address, and the candidate's full name should be distinctly written.

Fees should not be sent by post.

Candidates entering their names for the examination for the first time should on no account send a notice of entry to the Registrar unaccompanied by the requisite document giving proof of age. No candidate, however old, is admitted to the examination without the production of such a document.

A certificate must in all cases be accompanied by a letter stating that the person to whom it relates wishes to enter for the examination.

The age of a candidate with regard to entry is reckoned from the first day of the several examinations, that day being computed to fall as late as the Regulations will possibly allow. The two dates, in the case of the Matriculation Examinations, are January 14th and June 21st. Candidates who complete their sixteenth year on either of those dates will therefore be admissible to the January or the June examination, as the case may be; but no further extension of time will be allowed.

Candidates who have previously presented themselves at the examination need not send in their certificates of age a second time; but should state, when giving notice of entry, that they have so presented themselves.

Notice of entry should not be sent earlier than six weeks before the commencement of the examination.

The full marks obtainable at the Matriculation Examination are 2,800. Of these 2,000 qualify for a Prize, 1,800 for Honours, and 1,400 for the First Division. There is no regulation fixing the number of marks required for a pass. No further details as to the marking at this or other examinations can be furnished.

The alphabetical pass list is sent, as soon as it is printed off, to every College or School from which any candidate (whether successful or not) has immediately proceeded to the Matriculation Examination.

The classified list is sent to every College or School from which a successful candidate has immediately proceeded. It is also widely circulated among the leading newspapers of the United Kingdom.

Lists cannot be supplied to individual candidates or their friends.

The examination papers of past examinations are not published separately; but the papers of the previous academical year are printed in the University Calendar of the current year, which is issued annually at the beginning of April, and is to be obtained (price 4*s.*) of the publishers, Messrs. Taylor and Francis, Red Lion Court, Fleet Street, E.C.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A promissory note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 900 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 800 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6.—The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said

Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory for the year 1882-83, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. The public are hereby informed that the opium manufactured at the Patna factory in season 1882-83 consists of opium made at consistences of 73°, 74°, and 75°, and that the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory in the same season consists of opium made at consistences of 70°, and 75°. The consistence of the opium which will be sold each month will be mentioned in the sale notification of that month.

19. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

20. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1884, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of opium required by them at any particular sale within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale: provided, however, that the Agent of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,550 chests of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the opium which the French authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such opium, or any portion of it, at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article VI.—With regard to the trade in opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three hundred chests hereinbefore mentioned. The requisitions for opium, as aforesaid, are to be addressed to the Governor-General at Calcutta within thirty days after notice of the intended sales shall have been published in the Government Gazette."

STATEMENT OF BUSINESS BEFORE THE COUNCIL.

The Hon. THE PRESIDENT said:—"I am sure that every Hon. Member will regret that the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to be in his place to-day, not only for the first meeting of the Session, but also to inaugurate the meetings of the Council in this hall. It will not be out of place to remind Hon. Members that the meeting of to-day puts the finishing touch to the execution of that idea, originated by Sir Ashley Eden, which, while providing a fitting habitation for the Government of this great Province, has at the same time contributed to the embellishment of what is, and from day to day is still more, becoming the most magnificent part of this City of Palaces It is usual for the Lieutenant-Governor at the opening of the Session to give an outline of the state of business and of the legislative measures which he proposes to introduce; and His Honor has asked me in his absence to say what he proposed to have said himself on this subject.

The Bill of the most importance and of the widest interest now before the Council is, of course, that connected with Local Self-Government. Hon. Members will remember that the Bill, as it is now before the Council, provides for a scheme which, generally speaking, takes the unions of villages as the lowest unit of administration, and above that the Local Boards, which would, generally speaking, correspond with sub-divisions. These are the executive authorities provided by the Bill, the control over which is vested in the Central Board. Since the last sitting of this Council, the scheme has been laid before the Secretary of State, who was unable to give his approval to that part of it which vests the control in a Central Board, on the general ground that he considered it undesirable to depart, so entirely as the Bill provides, from the ordinary and familiar system of administration which is in force, by excluding the District Magistrate and Divisional Commissioner from taking any share in the direct control of this branch of the administration, and vesting that control in a novel authority. The Government of India, therefore, have called on the Lieutenant-Governor to recast the scheme on these lines, and the Lieutenant-Governor has submitted his proposals, but as they are still under consideration, it would not be proper to speak more of them here. But I am to mention that His Honor hopes to be able to adhere to that part of the scheme which constitutes Unions and Local Boards, while modifying the portion of the scheme regarding control by a Central Board. With a view to ascertain by actual experiment how the division of the country into Unions will work in the most advanced districts, and with the view of clearing the way so as to lose no time in introducing the system as soon as the passing of the Bill shall have made it possible to do so, the Lieutenant-Governor has appointed an officer to make close enquiries in the most advanced districts. There appears to have been some misapprehension as to the object of Mr. Westmacott's special mission. I may here mention, with reference to a good deal on the subject I have read here and there, that Mr. Westmacott has been specially selected, because his previous utterances show him to be in entire sympathy with genuine and real self-government. His special duty is to ascertain, in certain selected districts, of which Hooghly is one, how the details of this scheme, plotting out thanas and sub-divisions into Unions, will work; so that, as soon as the Bill is passed, the Lieutenant-Governor will be able to proceed with that knowledge of details before him as ascertained from actual experience. There will still remain a great deal to be done, of course, for the whole of the constitution of Local Boards, and the assignment to them of funds by the Government will remain to be arranged by Government, even in those districts in which Mr. Westmacott has worked through the district officers beforehand. Nothing more, however, can be done with this Bill until the correspondence on the subject with the Government of India shall have been concluded. After that, the Lieutenant-Governor desires me to assure Hon. Members that nothing shall be wanting on his part to carry out the measure fully and promptly.

The next Bill before the Council is the Municipalities Bill. As my Hon. friend MR. REYNOLDS has a motion on the paper in connection with that Bill, I will leave him to explain to us presently the stage into which it has passed since the last meeting of the Council.

The third in the list of Bills actually before the Council now is one for the amendment of the Estates' Partition Act, 1876, regarding which I have motion on the paper to-day asking the Council to allow the Bill to be read and referred to a Select Committee, of which I shall speak in another capacity.

Then as to proposed projects of legislation. Hon. Members are probably aware that a discussion has been going on for some four or five years between the Commissioners of the Calcutta Municipality and the Commissioners of the Suburbs, with regard to the supply of water to the latter. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to announce that there is now a prospect of this discussion being brought to an end, and of some steps being taken in the matter. He has been able to bring about an understanding between the two bodies of Commissioners, by which they are amicably to decide the principle on which the charge for water is to be regulated. One of two principles will in all probability be adopted, and I will read the description from the letter of the Secretary to Government to the Chairman of the Municipal Corporation of Calcutta, "what principle should be adopted for the purposes of this calculation—whether the price of the water should be determined with reference to the cost of all works, or whether the Suburbs should pay separately (1) the interest on the capital expended on works constructed exclusively on their account, and (2) the price of the water as determined after deduction of the cost of these works—should at once be decided by arbitration." The principle is to be decided amicably outside the Bill between the two bodies of Commissioners, and then the Bill will provide that any dispute which may arise as to the application of that principle should be decided by arbitrators: for such arbitration the Bill will provide a scheme. Then it is found that for the Suburbs something more elaborate will be required in the way of rules for assessing and collecting a water-rate than those which are contained in the General Municipal Bill; therefore, as regards water-rates, the Suburbs will be excluded from the General Municipal Bill, and the Bill which it is proposed to introduce will contain special provisions in that behalf.

There is another project of legislation which the Lieutenant-Governor contemplates: it is the registration of tenures in the offices of the Collectors. Hon. Members have probably seen the report which the Lieutenant-Governor has sent to the Government of India on the Bengal Tenancy Bill, in one paragraph of which he mentions this project: the object will be to get tenures registered, the lines of the Land Registration Act for estates being followed as far as they are applicable. When that is done, it will be time to consider whether the facilities in collecting their rents (for which zemindars are crying so loudly) by bringing tenures to summary sale without decree, cannot be given to them with regard to tenures which have been actually registered. And there will follow another result, which is that, when the registration of tenures shall be complete, it will probably be possible to do away with the legal presumption—well known as the twenty years' presumption—which so often has the effect of placing tenures, in respect of which no alteration of rents for twenty years can be proved, in the actual position of tenures which have been held at fixed rents since the time of the Permanent Settlement. I see that the Lieutenant-Governor in that letter speaks of the registration of tenures in a way which (I now am speaking for myself) seems to me to underrate the difficulties and vastness of this undertaking; and, certainly, if I had to advise, I should recommend that legislation on the subject should proceed tentatively, without anything like the provision there is in the Estates' Registration Act binding the Government to complete this registration within a few years. My idea would be to recommend that the Lieutenant-Governor should proceed, class by class; as for instance first to register all tenures paying above such an amount, and when that has been done, and these have been made saleable by summary process, then he may go a little lower, till he has exhausted the whole mass of tenures.

These are the remarks I have to add to those which I have been commissioned to make on behalf of the Lieutenant-Governor on this occasion. The Council will now proceed to the business of the day, but it will be more convenient if the third item of business is taken up first. I will therefore ask the Hon. Mr. Reynolds to be good enough to proceed with his motion."

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES BILL.

The Hon. Mr. Reynolds said:—"When I had the honour, on the 21st of March last, to present the preliminary report of the Select Committee on the Municipal Bill, I remarked that I would not then invite the Council to enter upon any discussion of the provisions of the measure. The object of laying the Bill at that time before the Council was rather to elicit a further expression of public opinion on the scheme which the Select Committee desired to suggest for consideration, than to commit Hon. Members to an acceptance of the Bill in the form which it had then assumed. The Council was then pleased to agree to the proposal that the Bill should be republished and should be referred back to the Select Committee for further consideration and report. The Bill was accordingly republished, and a large number of opinions, remarks and criticisms have since been received, and have been considered by the Committee. The whole question has now been thoroughly ventilated, and I believe that in the course of another fortnight, the Select Committee will be ready to present their final report. Till that report is presented, the remarks which I have to make upon the Bill, must, of course, be reserved; but it will, I believe, be some satisfaction to Hon. Members to know in what position the question stands at present, and to receive an assurance that the Select Committee is likely to complete its labours without much longer delay.

The decision of the Secretary of State regarding the Central Board has made it necessary to modify the wording of a good many sections of the Bill. The duties which in the former draft were assigned to the Central Board will now be performed, partly by the Local Government and partly by the Commissioners of Divisions. But this change tends in one way to facilitate the early passing of the Bill. It was previously intended that this Municipal Bill and the Local Self-Government Bill should proceed pari passu, should be passed together, and should come into operation at the same time. This arrangement would have been necessary, if the Central Board had been the controlling authority for both Municipalities and Local Boards. But now that the proposals of the Bengal Government for the establishment of a Central Board have been disallowed, there is no reason why the Municipal Bill, which is in a more forward state than the Local Self-Government Bill, should be deferred till the latter measure is ready to pass the Council. I therefore hope to be able to invite the Council to take the Municipal Bill into consideration in the course of the present month; and accordingly I now move that the Select Committee be allowed a further period of one month before presenting its final report."

The motion was agreed to.

AMENDMENT OF THE ESTATES' PARTITION ACT, 1876.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier said that during the last Session he obtained the permission of this Council to introduce a Bill for the amendment of the Estates' Partition Act, 1876. The grounds upon which the Government came to this Council to pass this Bill he then fully explained, and he need not go over them again, beyond reading over the printed Statement of Objects and Reasons, which was as follows:—

"The Partition of Estates under the existing law now makes such demands on the time and attention of Revenue Officers in some districts as seriously to interfere with the discharge of their other duties.

"Of late years the Legislature has provided means short of a complete separation of the liability for land revenue by which a joint proprietor can, to a great extent, protect himself against the consequences of default by his co-parcener.

"The object of the Bill is to relieve Revenue Officers of the duty of making partitions, of which the effect will be to create separate estates liable for an annual amount of land revenue not exceeding Rs. 10, as the public inconvenience caused by their employment in this duty now outweighs its advantages.

"The proprietors of joint interests in estates, who will be precluded from applying for partition by Revenue Officers, will now be placed, in respect of separation of their shares, in the same position as the joint holders of a tenure, who have no right against their landlord of splitting up the tenure."

That was to say, they would be so placed, if there was any other machinery provided by law for affecting such partition. But it so happened that the Code of Civil Procedure did not allow the civil courts to make partitions of revenue-paying estates. When any such partition was decreed by a civil court, it called upon the revenue authorities to carry it out under the provisions of the Estates' Partition Act of 1876; so that if certain classes of partitions of estates were, by the legislation now proposed, excluded from the jurisdiction of the revenue authorities, the proprietors of interests so excluded would be without any means of obtaining separation of lands from their co parceners To remedy this, the Governor-General in Council has agreed to introduce a Bill into His Excellency's Council modifying those clauses of the Code of Civil Procedure which bar the Courts from making such partitions. Therefore he had only to repeat that the effect of the two Bills will be to place the owners of, presumably, petty estates, which will not be liable for the payment of revenue above ten rupees, in precisely the same position as the holders of large valuable tenures are with regard to separation of their interests from those of their joint holders. He moved that the Bill to amend the Estates' Partition Act, 1876, be read in Council.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon. Mr. Dampier also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee to carry out the decision of the Council adopting the principle of the Bill, and to report thereon in one month.

The Hon. Harbans Sahai said that, following the procedure adopted in the case of the Local Self-Government Bill, he would at this stage take the opportunity of submitting the objections which he entertained to the principle of the Bill, which he thought was so bad that the Bill should not be referred to a Select Committee. The Hon. Member, in his Statement of Objects and Reasons, was pleased to intimate that the necessary steps would be taken to amend the Civil Procedure Code so as to authorise the Civil Courts to effect the partition of estates, the annual value of which would be below Rs. 10. He did not see why there should be two concurrent jurisdictions in cases of partition affecting the same estate—in the revenue authorities in cases in which the revenue of the separate estates might exceed Rs. 10, and in the Civil Courts where the separately rated revenue might be less than Rs. 10. The principle of the Bill, he said, was bad, because the Civil Courts had not a proper and sufficient staff of ameens and others to carry out the partition of estates, and a double staff of ameens would be necessary—one in the Civil Court and the other under the revenue authorities. He also contended that the Bill would not work in practice, because, although the share of the first applicant for partition might have a jumma above ten rupees, in the course of partition it might turn out that there were other applicants, sharers in the same estate, whose jumma was below that amount. Were the revenue authorities to proceed with the partition, or to transfer the proceedings to the Civil Court? The same objection would apply where the original application was made to the Civil Court by a sharer whose jumma might be less than Rs. 10.

If the Hon. Member proposed that the whole jurisdiction in partition cases should be removed from the revenue authorities and transferred to the Civil Courts, the Hon. Harbans Sahai would be the first to hail such a transfer of jurisdiction; but he certainly thought it objectionable to vest the Civil Courts with jurisdiction in partition cases of the smaller classes when they had no proper staff for the purpose.

Then the first reason which the Hon. Mover alleged for the introduction of the Bill was, that the partition of estates under the existing law now made such demands on the time and attention of revenue officers in some districts as seriously to interfere with the discharge of their other duties. He would ask the Council whether the work of the Civil Courts was light, and whether they had time at their disposal to attend to the work which it was proposed to hand over to them Was it not a fact that rent and other civil suits were being so much multiplied that in almost every district the Government was obliged to appoint additional munsifs? If that was a fact, then the very reason which was assigned for the removal of these cases from the jurisdiction of the revenue authorities applied equally to the Civil Courts, which were overworked.

Then another cogent reason against the Bill was this, that these partitions having been up to the present time in the hands of the revenue authorities, if the Collectors were generally assisted, as in some districts they were, by a special Butwarrah Deputy Collector, they would be the proper authorities to effect all partitions. In partition cases it was necessary to refer to the jummabundi papers, to make local inspections, and do many other things with which the revenue officers were well acquainted, and to which they had ample time to do justice. But the Civil Courts, from the very nature of partition cases, would not be so competent as the revenue authorities. The case would, however, be altogether different if the partition of all estates was made over to the Civil Courts with a proper establishment provided for the purpose, but the principle of making over to them the partition of petty estates only was, he thought, a bad one.

It had been said that the Council of the Governor-General would be asked to make the necessary amendment in the Code of Civil Procedure; but suppose that Council rejected the Bill, what then would be the result? How would the partition of small estates be then effected?

Then it was stated by the Hon. Mover that the public inconvenience caused by the employment of the revenue authorities in the partition of very small estates now outweighed its advantages. To this, BABOO HARBANS SAHAI begged to enter his humble protest, especially as regards the partition of estates in Behar. He might inform the Hon. Mover that in that Province there were many valuable estates yielding large profits, the public revenue of which was merely nominal. The fact was that at the time of the decennial settlement the districts were covered with jungle and waste lands, and the Government revenue was a nominal sum. Now that the jungle had been cleared away and the waste lands cultivated, the estates so nominally assessed had become valuable property and their gross rental was enormous. The principle that the amount of Government revenue payable on any estate should be the index to its value, or to the gross produce of the estate, was, he thought, erroneous. In many cases it might be just the reverse.

Again, the Collector had hitherto been considered as a necessary party to the partition of estates, because it was not only the interests of the party that had to be consulted, but also the interest of the Government. There might be collusive partitions between the parties by which one sharer might be allotted the worst description of land which did not yield sufficient to meet the amount of Government revenue assessed upon it. The consequence would be that the separate estate so created would default.

[The HON. MR. DAMPIER explained that the Hon Member was speaking under a misapprehension. He had stated that the proprietors of revenue-paying estates who would be excluded under this Bill from getting a partition made by the revenue authorities would be placed precisely in the same position as the joint proprietors of tenures which were indefeasible as against the zemindar; that was to say, they would lose the right to have their estates made separately liable to their share of the Government revenue.]

The HON. HARBANS SAHAI continued:—Every joint proprietor had an inherent right to have the Government revenue partitioned. At present a shareholder, however small his share might be, had every right to go to the Collector and ask for a division of the land and the apportionment of the revenue payable by him, in order that he might no longer be held responsible for the default of his co-sharers. This was a right which he justly had, and on what ground was he to be deprived of that right? It was not an imaginary right, but a substantial one. For once his liability for revenue was fixed and not dependent upon what his co-parceners might do, he could safely absent himself from his property after making sufficient arrangements to meet his separate liability. But now he was to be deprived of that right for no fault of his own.

He thought the Bill was based on a very illiberal and unsound principle, inasmuch as it threw on the already overworked Civil Courts a portion of the work for which it was alleged the Collector had no time, whilst the work of partition of larger estates would be carried on as usual by the revenue authorities.

The HON. MAHOMED YUSUF submitted that the further consideration of the motion before the Council should be postponed to the next meeting; for this reason, namely that, although the Members of the Council had notice of this Bill at the last session, there were certain observations regarding the scope of the Bill which he thought ought to be made before the Bill was referred to a Select Committee, and he for one was not aware that all he had to say should be said at this the first meeting of the present session of the Council.

The HON. CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE asked whether it was proposed by this Bill that there should be no partition of an estate on the partition of which, when made, any estate created thereby might yield a revenue not exceeding Rs. 10. Suppose an estate now yielded Rs. 1,000 a year, and a shareholder who paid Rs. 100 annual revenue were to apply for partition of that estate, the Collector would be bound under this Bill to proceed with the case. But it might turn out on partition being made that one of the shareholders who owned a one-pie share in the estate would have to pay an amount of annual revenue less than Rs. 10, consequently, although the whole estate paid a jumma of Rs. 1,000, and the shareholder who applied for partition actually paid Rs. 100 out of that jumma, the partition could not be made by the Collector, because it would bring out an estate whose jumma would be less than Rs 10. If that was the case, the Bill would work serious hardship, because there were many estates in which there were some very small shareholders, whilst large shares were held by others.

The HON MR. DAMPIER said he fully appreciated the difficulty which had just been referred to. He had already said that it had occurred to him to suggest to the Select Committee whether a partition, such as the Bill excluded, might not be allowed to be made as part of proceedings which were actually going on for dividing an estate into other estates bearing a larger amount of revenue than Rs 10. The principal object of the Bill was to relieve the revenue officers of an excess of business, and if that was secured he would not object to the consideration of any suggestions which would tend to meet objections.

The HON. MR. REYNOLDS said, that in the case put by the Hon Member to his right (BABOO CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE) it seemed to him that the difficulty would not arise at all. He supposed a case where an estate had a revenue of Rs. 1,000, and where a shareholder in that estate whose revenue amounted to Rs. 100 applied for partition: that merely involved the partition of an estate into two shares—one of Rs. 100 and one of Rs. 900. There was nothing in the Bill which would prevent such a partition taking place, even though there were other small shareholders whose shares of the Government revenue would respectively be less than Rs. 10. But the Collector had nothing to do with that. All he had to do was to see that the partition of the shares of the applicants would not result in creating estates with a revenue less than Rs. 10. MR. REYNOLDS did not think that the objection which had been taken would apply.

The HON. MR. DAMPIER said in reply, that the partition of an estate by the revenue authorities originated from an application made by one sharer for separation of lands representing his share, and of his liability for land revenue from those of his co-proprietors. For the purposes of illustration he would say that in each proceeding for partition, the proprietors of the estate concerned were divided into two great classes—applicants for the partition of their respective shares, and non-applicants. Now let it be supposed that A came forward and applied to have partition of such an estate made for the purpose of separating off lands representing his interest; and also for separating off his liability for a proportionate share of the land revenue, all the rest of the proprietors being non-applicants. If the proportionate share of land revenue, for which A's estate would be liable after separation for land revenue assessment were Rs. 100, the Collector would say: "there is no objection so far as your share is concerned, as the jumma will be above Rs. 10; but by the partition two new estates will be created, one belonging to the non-applicant. In order to comply with the law I have to see that the jumma of that estate, the residuary estate as it is called, will not be less than Rs. 10."

If the Collector found that the jumma of the non-applicant's separate estate would be above Rs. 10, he would admit the application of A for the partition of the estate. If he found the jumma of the residuary estate would be only Rs. 9, he would say: "I cannot admit this application of A for splitting up this estate of Rs. 109, into two estates of Rs. 100 and Rs. 9 respectively, because 9 is less than 10, and therefore this partition cannot be admitted." The usual course of things was that when once A applied for separation of his share (and so forced the trouble, harassment, and expense of partition proceedings on his joint proprietors, whether they liked it or not other shareholders B, C, and D would come in and say :—"We have this trouble put upon us; let us have the advantage of separation of our shares also." In dealing with these subsequent applications, the Collector would apply precisely the same principles. If the jumma of each separated estate would be above Rs 10, he would carry out the separation: any application of which the effect would be to create a separate estate with a jumma of less than Rs. 10 he must reject. And here MR. DAMPIER might mention that the object of the Bill being to prevent an insurmountable quantity of work falling on the revenue authorities, it had occurred to him to suggest for the consideration of the Select Committee whether even an application which would have the effect of creating an estate bearing a jumma of less than Rs. 10 might not be allowed, provided that it was presented to the Collector during the progress of proceedings under the Act for the separation of the parent estate into two or more estates, each bearing a higher jumma.

MR. DAMPIER thought he had now answered the objection of the Hon. Member on his right (BABOO CHUNDER MADHUB GHOSE) and the last objection raised by the Hon. Member opposite (BABOO HARBANS SAHAI). Another objection of the last named Hon Member was that the Civil Courts had no more time at their disposal than the revenue authorities, and that therefore the proposed duty should not be thrown on them

As a general p oposition he would venture to ask whose duty it was to decide as to rights between man and man. Was it the duty of the Civil Courts or of the revenue authorities? He supposed it would not be denied that it was the duty of the Civil Courts. Then what excuse was there for the revenue authorities to interfere at all in the partition of estates? The excuse was that the safety of the Government revenue was concerned in the separation of the joint liability for revenue, and therefore in view of the paramount interests of the State revenue special jurisdiction was given to the revenue authorities in this particular class of adjudications on rights between man and man. On that ground only were the revenue authorities authorized by law to make these partitions. Now the Bill entirely removed that special ground for the exercise of jurisdiction by the revenue authorities, inasmuch as it provided that the liability for revenue up to the amount of Rs. 10 should not be separated off from the joint liability; therefore the special reason for leaving this particular class of cases in the hands of the revenue authorities no longer existed. The Hon. Member also said that it was not right to take the amount of Government revenue as the standard of importance of proceedings. MR. DAMPIER would reply that the amount of land revenue involved was precisely the measure of the reason for employing the revenue authorities to do work which, irrespectively of that consideration, was the proper work of the Civil Courts.

The Hon gentleman had said that the Civil Courts had no establishment for this work. To that MR. DAMPIER could only say that the Executive Government of India was willing to introduce a Bill leaving the work to the Civil Courts, in face of which he found it difficult to accept the Hon. Member's opinion that those Courts would be unable to cope with it.

Then the Hon. Member also suggested the dead-lock which might arise if the Legislative Council of the Governor-General, after this Council had passed this Bill, should refuse to modify the section of the Civil Procedure Code. MR. DAMPIER would remind him that Bills of this Council were subject to the veto of the Governor-General, and therefore Mr. Dampier supposed that where two measures of this kind were intimately connected with each other, the Governor-General would keep the approval of this Council's Act in suspense, until His Excellency very clearly saw his way to the other part of the measure being carried in his Legislative Council.

Another objection made was that in some estates the liability for Government revenue was very small, whilst the value of the zemindar's interest was enormous. But in making this objection, the Hon. Member had entirely passed over that part of the Statement of Objects and Reasons and of Mr Dampier's former speech, which dwelt on the facilities which legislation had provided of late years to joint proprietors for protecting themselves from the default of their co-parceners. He quite admitted that no other means were provided for giving such ultimate and complete protection as the Batwarrah law gave, but the protection given by other means was real and substantial, and ought to be sufficient for safety to any prudent man. Separate accounts might be opened; and not only so, but in those estates of which the value was "enormous" and the amount of Government revenue trifling, as stated by the Hon. Member, it would be no great hardship for any proprietor to avail himself of the protective right of depositing Government securities in the hands of the Collector for the purpose of meeting the revenue of the estate in the event of the default of his co-sharers, and thus absolutely free himself from any risk that his co-parceners might play him false by withholding payment. All reasonable protection was thus given.

Then as to the question of public convenience and as to the Collector having time to undertake partition proceedings, MR. DAMPIER must say that, if the Council entertained this discussion, they would be precisely at the point at which they were when the principle of the Bill was first proposed to this Council. However, superficially, Hon. Members might have looked at the proposal before the principle of the Bill was accepted by the Council, it could scarcely be said that they had failed to catch that the appeal to this Council was made by the Executive Government on the one ground that relief was required for the Collectors. MR. DAMPIER presumed that he would not be called upon to take up the time of the Council by going over the same ground again. He therefore pressed the motion which he had made to refer the Bill to a Select Committee.

After some conversation the motion was put and carried, and the following Members were appointed to form the Committee:—The Hon. Mr. Reynolds, the Hon. Harbans Sahai and the Mover.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 8th December 1883.

A letter dated the 9th October 1883, from the Government of India, Home Department, forwarding a memorandum of the Army Sanitary Commission on the Administration Report of the Commissioners for 1881, and requesting that the earnest attention of the municipality may be drawn to the remarks of the Commission.

The Report for 1881 and the Resolution recorded upon it.

By Act I (B.C.) of 1882, the Calcutta Municipal year has been made to coincide with the official year, from 1st April to 31st March, instead of, as formerly, the calendar year. This change was introduced for the first time during the year under review. The present report accordingly comprises a period of 15 months, viz. from 1st January 1882 to 31st March 1883.

2. The third general election of Commissioners, held under the Calcutta Municipal Act IV (B.C.) of 1876, took place during the year under review, the period for which the body of Commissioners was appointed at the election of 1879 having expired in September 1882. A separate report on the late election was submitted by the Chairman, and has already been considered and reviewed by the Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Rivers Thompson took occasion to express the satisfaction with which he had observed the marked growth of public interest evinced on this occasion, and the gratifying evidence it affords of the increasing desire of the people of Calcutta to take a part in the management of the affairs of their city. Whether we regard the increase in the gross number of votes recorded—an increase as compared with 1879 of upwards of 80 per cent.—or regard the keenness of the competition for seats in some of the wards, we find evidence that the political pulse of Calcutta has been decidedly quickened by six years of municipal freedom. Nor is this all. An inspection of the lists of elected Commissioners shows that of those who held office prior to the election of 1882, twenty-two were re-elected, and twenty-six either were not candidates or were rejected by the constituencies. From the table of attendances at committee meetings, which is attached to the report, it appears that, of those Commissioners who were re-elected, all but four were conspicuous by their industry and attention to municipal work, while of the twenty-six who have found no place in the new Corporation, only four seem to have given any considerable portion of their time to their duties as Commissioners. In Mr. Rivers Thompson's opinion this is an encouraging sign, which evidences a desire on the part of the people to secure the best men as their representatives, and shows that a seat at the Municipal Board is neither sought by candidates, nor conferred by the rate-payers, as a mere honorary distinction, but is regarded by both alike as a position which involves real duties and substantial responsibilities.

3. Thirty-seven general meetings were held during the year, of which 24 were special general meetings. The number of meetings held by the various standing committees was 129, including 51 meetings of the Town Council, 10 of the Water supply Extension Committee, and 17 of the Bustee Committee. Four Special Committees were appointed during the year. These were the Conservancy Committee of 1882, which held ten meetings; the Sanitary Committee appointed to consider the memorial presented to the Lieutenant-Governor by a number of influential residents of Calcutta; the Budget Committee and the Souttar Memorial Committee. The total number of attendances at meetings aggregated 3,292 out of 6,223 invitations during the 15 months, showing an appreciable increase over the figures of 1881. The increase is said to be slightly greater among the nominated than among the elected Commissioners.

4. Various structural improvements in the streets of the town were effected during the year, some from capital, some from the regular Town Improvement (revenue) Fund, and some from other revenue funds. For the former the money was chiefly found by the sale of surplus lands and of the out-offices of the Town Hall. Among the lands so disposed of was a portion of the old Mahratta Ditch, concerning which a reference was subsequently made to Government by the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs. The question has been raised whether any portion of the Ditch is the legal property of the Commissioners, and if so, whether it is advisable that a site of such historical interest and importance should be obliterated. The matter is now under the Lieutenant-Governor's consideration. A part of the sum realized by the sale of the surplus lands was, at the instance of the Town Council, devoted to acquiring lands for the purpose of widening the Chitpore road. A grant of Rs. 60,000 had been made by Government for this purpose from the assets of the old Fire-Brigade Fund, and a further assignment of equal amount had been provided in the Municipal Budget. It was found, however, that the cost of carrying out this important scheme in its original comprehensive form was practically prohibitive; and the funds originally provided were supplemented by the appropriation of Rs. 50,000 out of the sale proceeds of municipal lands already mentioned. The Commissioners have completed during the year the widening of the road for a length of 700 feet between Burtollah and Machooa Bazar Street. They observe, however, that the cost of the entire scheme is so heavy that they do not see their way to completing it. In view of the reduction of the house-rate to 7½ per cent, and of the immense importance of this work to the northern portion of the town, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot consider this view satisfactory. Each year that passes will add to the cost and difficulty of acquiring the land required, and Mr. Rivers Thompson would be glad to receive an assurance that some substantial progress will be made every year.

The widening of Nimtollah Street, and of Dharmahatta Street at its junction with the Strand Road, was effected at a cost of Rs. 19,858 out of the proceeds of the sale to Government of the out-offices of the Town Hall. The Commissioners observe:—"The result is that two important thoroughfares which formerly tapered at their orifices, causing almost incessant blocks among the gorged cart traffic, have now fine wide entrances in which blocks no longer occur."

General street improvements at a cost of Rs. 46,241 were effected out of revenue. One of these,—the widening of Sikdarparah Street at a cost of Rs. 10,954,—has met a great want by substituting a carriage road westwards from Chitpore Road for the narrow foot-path which previously existed. The surplus of the Hackney Carriage Fund, supplemented by a grant of Rs. 2,721 from the General Fund,—in all Rs 20,981,—was expended on new stands, properly paved and drained.

5. Among the miscellaneous matters which were dealt with by the Town Council during the year were the passing of rules to regulate the licensing of depôts for the sale of straw, hay and timber; the proposed establishment of a Central Railway station; the establishment and maintenance of water-troughs for cattle; the quality of the gas supplied by the Oriental Gas Company; and the disposal of arrear rate-bills. These bills had been accumulating from 1876 down to the second quarter of 1879, and the labours of the Sub-Committee resulted in the cancellation of bills aggregating Rs. 3,56,170. This is a heavy loss to the Municipality, and although a large part of the amount represented bills made or sent out in error, it is clear, as stated in the report, that a substantial part "represented perfectly good and realizable assets, and would have been recovered, had ordinary promptitude been used in collecting it." These facts afford the strongest condemnation of the manner in which the finances of the Corporation were managed in the three years immediately following the establishment of the present system of municipal administration. Mr. Rivers Thompson has much pleasure in acknowledging the excellent work which has been done by the present Chairman and his predecessor, with the aid of his subordinates and of the Commissioners, in extricating the finances of the Municipality from their former chaotic condition, and in reorganizing the system of collection and placing it on a sound and satisfactory basis.

6. The year under review witnessed the settlement of the question of increasing the supply of filtered water, and extending it to the Suburbs. This important question had formed the subject of protracted negotiations between the Government, the Commissioners, and the Suburban Municipality: and it has now been finally arranged, with the sanction and approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, that the increased supply shall be provided by means of an iron main from Pultah, forty-eight inches in diameter, and capable of supplying 12 million gallons per diem, of which eight millions will be reserved for the Town, and four millions will be available for the Suburbs. The price at which the Suburban Municipality are to receive their water will, if necessary, be settled by arbitration. The pipes and engines have been ordered from England, and a Bill will be introduced in the ensuing session of the Legislative Council to confer on the Commissioners of the two Municipalities such legal powers as may be necessary. The public of the metropolis are much indebted to the Committee whose labours have brought the negotiations to a successful conclusion, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurs in the remark that the Commissioners may fairly congratulate themselves on the satisfactory settlement of this much vexed question. At the same time he cannot refrain from observing that arrangements might have been much more rapidly advanced had not the report of the Committee been remanded for further consideration in July 1880, and had not the Commissioners then in office deemed it advisable to do nothing throughout 1881, simply because they were waiting to see if His Excellency the Governor-General in Council would pass the amending Act.

7. At the end of 1881 the total debt of the Corporation amounted to Rs. 1,44,14 777, against which was a sinking fund valued at Rs. 20,12,507. The net indebtedness of the Municipality at the beginning of the period under review was therefore Rs. 1,24,02,270. During the year, Rs. 9,50,500 was borrowed on two occasions. On the other hand the Government debt was reduced by Rs. 1,50,754, and the value of the sinking fund was raised to Rs. 23,31,145, or by Rs. 3,18,638. On the 31st March 1882, therefore, the net indebtedness of the Corporation amounted to Rs. 1,28,83,378. The loans raised during the year were required partly for works to be executed from capital, and partly for the cost of the new outfall sewer. They were raised at 4½ per cent., being the first loans raised by the Corporation at less than 5 per cent., and were taken up at an average premium of Rs. 2-3-9. It is observed that although during the last 3¼ years the Corporation has borrowed in all Rs. 12,00,500, the net municipal debt has practically remained stationary, having been Rs. 1,2[illegible],78,770 on the 1st January 1880.

8. The following statement shows the revenue of the Municipality during 1882-83 compared with that of 1881 :—

The receipts of the Police Rate Fund, Hackney Carriage Fund and Jute and Fire-Brigade Fund, which are separately brought to account, have been excluded. The two last-named funds have now been closed. The receipts of the Municipality for 1881 included one quarter's collections of the house-rate at the higher rate of 8 per cent.; whereas during the period embraced by the present report this was levied throughout at 7½ per cent. Night-soil fees also were levied at a lower rate during 1882-83, and a reduction of Rs. 30,000 was thus caused in the demand. Notwithstanding this, however, and in spite of the fact that the house-rate receipts of the previous year were swollen by the recovery of arrears aggregating Rs. 15,000, which had no counterpart in the past year, the total collections of 1882 (twelve months) exceeded those of 1881 by Rs. 26,979. This satisfactory result was due partly to greater promptitude in realizing the current demand, partly to increased license receipts in consequence of the demand for the first three months of 1883 being made payable in advance, and partly to the higher rents paid by the Tramway Company. The bonâ fide growth of revenue is estimated at about Rs. 49,000 for the twelve months of 1882.

The total expenditure during 1882 amounted to Rs. 22,65,600 against Rs. 27,61,805 in 1881, while in the whole 15 months the total expenditure was Rs. 1,80,000 less than the estimate, and Rs. 1,06,853 less than the receipts. It is explained, however, that the amounts actually falling due and paid within the first quarter of 1883 on account of interest and sinking fund were less by about Rs. 1,33,000 than the proportionate share for that period of the corresponding charges for the whole year. The General Fund therefore ended the 15 months virtually poorer by Rs. 26,000, though nominally richer than on the 1st January 1882. The expenditure, however, was considerably below the estimate, and it is a satisfactory feature of the operations of the year that almost all the savings occurred in current expenditure, while the grants were exceeded on works of improvement. The receipts of the Water-rate Fund aggregated Rs. 6,23,952 for the 15 months: of this sum Rs 4,95,496 was collected during 1882, being Rs. 30,727 in excess of the collections of 1881. The disbursements, however, added to the proportionate share of interest and sinking fund charges, exceeded the receipts by Rs. 28,000. This rate is levied at 3 per cent. on the annual valuation against a possible maximum of 6 per cent. During the next two or three years heavy expenditure will have to be incurred in connection with the extension of the supply, and measures should be taken to bring the receipts and disbursements into equilibrium. The Lighting Rate, which is levied at the maximum rate of 2 per cent., showed a small excess of receipts over expenditure. The Police-rate Fund also showed an increase in the net balance at the close of the year of more than Rs. 20,000, although the rate was reduced in 1882 from 2½ to 2¼ per cent. This result is satisfactory. The old Jute Warehouse and Fire-Brigade Fund was closed shortly after the end of the period under review, under the operation of Act IV (B.C.) of 1882.

10. The work done in the Bill, Collection and Warrant Departments during 1882-83 exhibited the high degree of efficiency to which it had been brought during the two previous years. The nominal balance in the Bill Department, it is true, increased from Rs. 53,146 to Rs. 92,630, but it is explained that the bulk of this was due to the fact that Rs. 55,603 worth of bills were received back from the Collector and Warrant Officer only a few days before the close of the last quarter in consequence of a new system which was introduced during the year. The plan of requiring the Warrant Department to return bills after six months, and of allowing the assessor to effect recoveries for himself, has been productive of excellent results, and has moreover been practically self-supporting. Of the total demand of the year, the Collector recovered 90·96 per cent. against 87·6 per cent. in the previous year, while the percentage of bills returned by the assessor and transferred to the Warrant Officer was proportionately reduced. The continued improvement in the working of this department, which has raised the percentage of collections from 74·3 in 1878 to 80·3 in 1879, 81 in 1880, 87·6 in 1881, and 90·96 in the period under review, is highly satisfactory, and reflects much credit on the Collector, Baboo O. C. Dutt. In the Warrant Department the outstandings, which aggregated Rs. 2,13,945 at the beginning of the year, had been reduced to Rs. 73,999 on the 31st March 1883 This latter amount should, however, be increased by about Rs. 50,000 worth of bills which, as already stated, were returned to the assessor shortly before the close of the year. This brings up the real outstandings to about Rs. 1,23,000. The opening arrear balance in this department was Rs. 1,62,310. Of this amount Rs. 21,535 was collected, Rs. 59,790 remitted or cancelled, and Rs. 55,924 transferred to the assessor, the arrear balance outstanding on the 31st March 1883 being only Rs. 28,772. It is stated that the whole of this will shortly be cleared off. Equally good progress was made in the collection of the current demand. These three departments constitute the machinery by which the Municipality collects its dues, and the combined results of the work of all three were as follows :—

		Rs.	Rs.
Opening balance ...	... ...	2,77,600
Falling due in 1882-83 ...	... ...	27,34,178
	Total		30,11,778
Collected ...	... ...	26,39,492
Remitted or cancelled ...	... ...	2,03,324
	Total		28,42,816
	Balance on 31st March ...		1,68,962

That there is still room for improvement, especially in the Assessors' Department, is evidenced by the fact that the total collections, including the collections of arrear demands, fell short of the current demand of the year by nearly a lakh of rupees.

11. The receipts under the head of license fees aggregated Rs. 6,12,377 during the 15 months. Of this amount Rs. 4,96,798 was on account of 1882, against Rs. 4,87,659 collected in 1881. Trade and profession licenses yielded Rs. 3,25,116, carriage and horse licenses Rs. 1,26,733, trade refuse fees

Rs 44,108, hackney carriage registry fees Rs. 16,624, and cart registration fees Rs. 98,933. There was an increase of two in the number of Joint Stock Companies, of 258 among traders, and of 2,422 among shop-keepers of all kinds, while the number of merchants fell from 1,774 to 1,760, and of itinerant dealers from 7,262 to 5,914. The collections under this head for 1882 amounted to Rs. 2,63,406. This tax has no counterpart in the United Kingdom, where also the proceeds of the carriage and horse tax are an asset of Imperial revenues. The income derived by the Calcutta Municipality from these two imposts, which yielded Rs. 4,51,849 during the 15 months under review, should be borne in mind when claims are put forward to a share in the excise receipts of the town, and when reference is made to the import duties on wine and coal which are levied by the city of London. The number of carts registered rose from 18,095 to 19,732, the receipts being largely in excess of those of 1881. The increase is said to be mainly due to the greater commercial activity that prevailed throughout the past year. The number of first and second class hackney carriages registered during the year increased, but there was a falling off in the number of third class carriages and palankeens, owing to the further extension of the tramway.

12. The Corporation were engaged in nine civil suits during the year, being plaintiffs in four and defendants in five cases. All of the former were decreed in favour of the Commissioners, while of the latter, two were compromised out of court, and the remaining three, which all arose out of the same facts, have since the close of the year been decided against the Corporation. In the criminal courts 11,611 persons were prosecuted for various offences, against 13,887 in 1881. The falling off occurred chiefly in the License Department, where prosecutions were avoided as much as possible in consequence of the panic which was produced among the petty dealers by the change in the Municipal year. Three thousand three hundred and fifty-seven persons were fined, 2,297 were warned and discharged or paid their fees into court, 5,422 cases were struck off or withdrawn on payment of license-fee, and 499 cases were dismissed. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to find that complaints are again made of the leniency shown by the Honorary Magistrates in dealing with conservancy cases, and the consequent difficulty experienced by the Health Department in enforcing conservancy rules.

13. The sanitary state of the town received an unusually large share of public attention during the period under review, and the alleged prevalence of conditions at variance with the laws of hygiene led to the publication of severe strictures in the local press, and on some occasions to wide divergence of opinion among the Commissioners themselves, accompanied too frequently by somewhat acrimonious discussions. For these reasons the subject of town improvements has been treated in the present report at unusual length. The measures of improvement which mainly occupied the attention of the Commissioners were numerous and important, and included the extension of the water-supply, both filtered and unfiltered, the completion of the sewerage system, the improvement of the privies of the town and of the arrangements for the removal of night-soil, the reclamation of bustees, and the obliteration of foul and dangerous tanks. The arrangements for the extension of the supply of filtered water have, as already mentioned, been completed. The new engines and the main have been ordered from England, and it is hoped that the end of 1884 will see the works fairly on the road to completion. Meanwhile a virtual increase of the present supply has been made by the extended use of unfiltered water for a variety of less important purposes. The efforts of the Corporation to meet the growing requirements of the town are illustrated by the following figures, which show the average daily supply of water in each year since 1879 :—

	Gallons.	Gallons.	Gallons.
1879	1,091,859	7,464,159	8,556,118
1880	1,165,776	7,407,256	8,573,032
1881	1,257,307	7,208,453	8,465,760
1882	1,838,725	7,824,576	9,663,301
1st quarter of 1883	2,594,276	8,049,707	10,643,983
2nd „ of 1883	2,992,494	8,279,167	11,271,661

It must not be overlooked that according to the census returns the population of Calcutta was actually less in 1881 than in 1876, and the supply available per head was therefore proportionately greater. The increase in the supply of unfiltered water was obtained by working the old engines to their fullest extent, as it was considered safe to do this in view of the early completion of the scheme for the extension of the unfiltered supply. It is hoped that this scheme will be in working order during the current cold season. The new engines are calculated to deliver 4 million gallons a day, working six hours, and it is estimated that over 2 million gallons of filtered water, now used for purposes for which unfiltered water would be suitable, will thus be set free. When the new scheme for increasing the supply of filtered water is completed, the present supply of filtered water will be about trebled. The execution of these two schemes cannot fail to have an important effect upon the health and general well-being of the town.

14. A large amount of progress was made in 1882-83 in the extension of the drainage system. An expenditure of Rs 4,19,933 was incurred in laying down 20·67 miles of sewers of all classes, and in constructing 3,596 new house connections. The agitation in the press during the cold weather of 1882-83, and the attacks which were made by a certain section of the community upon the whole system of underground drainage as applied to Calcutta have invested the subject with an unusual degree of interest, and have caused the existing arrangements to be investigated with a minuteness which, whatever may be the result, cannot fail to throw much valuable light on this important subject. The Lieutenant-Governor has now before him the special report submitted by the Commissioners upon the memorial which was presented to him in March last by a number of influential residents of Calcutta. Orders will be separately passed upon this; but it may be stated here that, upon the evidence before him, Mr. Rivers Thompson does not at all incline to the belief that the sewerage system of Calcutta has been other than an invaluable boon to the town. The total mileage of sewers actually laid down is—brick-sewers 36·77, and pipe-sewers 113 14, or 149 91 miles in all. Good progress was made during 1882-83, and it is now reported that only about 15 miles of pipe-sewers remain to be constructed. An important change was introduced during the year by the transfer of the night-soil establishment to the Health Officer. This reform is said to have infused a larger amount of energy into the department, and to have resulted in a material degree of improvement.

15. In the Resolution recorded last year, the Lieutenant-Governor observed that, while good work had been done during 1881 in drawing up rules for the reclamation of bustees and laying down a programme of projects for future guidance, the amount of work actually done was incommensurate with the preliminary operations. Mr. Rivers Thompson is glad to find that during the past year this important work has received more practical attention at the hands of the Commissioners. The scheme for the reclamation of the large Soortee Bagan Bustee of 64 bighas, which was drawn up and taken in hand in 1881, has been carried almost to completion, and the projected works of improvement constructed at the expense of the Municipality. The Patwar Bagan Bustee, which measures 29 bighas in extent, has also been taken up; the owners have been induced to undertake the works ordered by the Committee at their own cost, and these are now said to be rapidly progressing. Proceedings have also been taken with regard to the Hather Bagan, Jorapooker, and Gowalapara, Bamun Bagan, Colvin, Kola Bagan and other bustees, and the schemes have all made more or less progress. The areas of the bustees so dealt with aggregate 293 bighas. In addition to these, the Jora Bagan bustee, which covers 28 bighas, was taken in hand under the new section 283A of the Municipal Act. This section confers extensive summary powers on the Commissioners for the reclamation of bustees whose owners prove contumacious, and it is satisfactory to learn that its first application has been successful. The original cost of the scheme for the reclamation of this bustee, as estimated, exceeded four lakhs of rupees, but modifications subsequently made have proved so acceptable to the people that the owners of the bustee have in almost every instance consented to give up free of cost the land required for the municipal improvements, recouping themselves by the enhanced value of the remainder. The actual sum which will be required for the acquisition of land will, therefore, it is said, be very small. This result is satisfactory, and proves that the details of the scheme have been worked out with judgment.

16. These results are better than any reported in previous years. Nevertheless it is perfectly clear,—and the action of the Commissioners themselves in regard to the current year shows that they recognize,—that the expenditure, even in the year under report, was incommensurate with the importance of the object to be attained. In previous years, it may be generally said, nothing was done from the General Fund of the town. The scandalous state of the bustees in Calcutta has been for many years strongly urged upon the Corporation. So far back as 1868, Dr. Tonnerre described their condition in words which should have brought home to those intrusted with the municipal administration of the town the grave danger which menaced their charge; but, beyond obtaining from the Engineer a report, upon which no action was taken, the Justices did nothing. Dr. Tonnerre reverted to the subject in his report for 1872, and used these words :—

> In vain a supply of pure water has been introduced in the town; in vain our talented Engineer strains every nerve to carry out his drainage scheme for the improvement of Calcutta; in vain the drainage works will be carried on in the native portion of the town: as long as these villages are allowed to remain in their present state, we are upon a volcano, ready to burst under the slightest atmospheric perturbation, and cholera, small-pox, or any other zymotic disease may, at any moment, make their appearance amongst us in a most virulent form, defying sanitary improvements, and thus baffling the efforts of those who have been working hard for years to prevent their return

Again, beyond a brief reference to the matter in their Administration Report, the Justices did nothing. Dr. Payne succeeded Dr. Tonnerre as Health Officer, and to him is due the credit of leading the Commissioners elected under the new law to do something in the way of obliterating the filthy tanks from which the inhabitants of the bustees derived their supply of fluid: His efforts to induce them to retain the bustees generally, or even to maintain a small body of scavengers for the waste lands which formed the common latrines, were, however, unsuccessful. He showed that the inhabitants of the bustees generally lived their lives in the midst of filth, slept on filth, bathed in filth, drank filth, cooked in filth, washed their clothes in filth. But he was only allowed to fill up some tanks: no attempt was made to substitute clean water; no attempt was made to remove the filth which poisoned the earth and the atmosphere, and percolated into the many tanks that remained; no attempt was made to make the worst places accessible to the conservancy carts. Year after year Sir Ashley Eden urged the Commissioners to action, and pointed out the serious notice which the condition of Calcutta was attracting among sanitary authorities in England. Nevertheless no scavengering establishment was employed for the bustees, and the expenditure on bustee improvement was nil in 1879, Rs. 509 only in 1880, and Rs. 5,337 only in 1881. Under these circumstances, when an outbreak of sickness occurred, and when, from whatever cause, the atmosphere of parts of the town became tainted and offensive, it was natural that the European public should attribute the unsatisfactory state of affairs to municipal neglect, and ask Government to intervene for the protection of the community. The Lieutenant-Governor gladly recognizes that, before this application was made, the Commissioners, under the guidance of their able and energetic Chairman, Mr. Harrison, had already addressed themselves seriously to the task of bustee sanitary reform, which is undoubtedly the most important of all the reforms which demand their attention. The expenditure during the 15 months covered by the report was Rs. 40,069. This, however, did not include any outlay on the essential objects of scavengering and water-supply; and the Lieutenant-Governor is very glad to learn that the present Commissioners have for the current year adopted a scheme prepared by Mr. Harrison, involving an outlay of Rs. 1,50,000 on (1) scavengering establishment, (2) erection of bathing platforms, to be supplied for the present with unfiltered water, (3) structural improvements. It was time that the Commissioners should thus show their appreciation of the gravity of the position, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the grant will on no account be reduced hereafter. The question of bustee sanitation has become one of more than local interest. The condition of the chief ports of India, especially with reference to cholera mortality, has attracted the attention of the Governments of foreign countries, and important interests of imperial trade are involved in the removal of the causes which must unquestionably contribute to insalubrity.

17. It will be well that the Commissioners should understand what it is that Government and the public demand at their hands. What is required is not the immediate substitution of regular streets with model masonry houses for the clusters of huts known as bustees. It is very desirable that substantial, regularly built, and well ventilated houses should gradually take the place of huts huddled together without plan or system, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to see the Commissioners make free use of their powers to acquire land, clear it and sell it for building purposes and under proper rules. But structural improvements, though they should be steadily pursued, are not for the moment of primary and vital importance. What is urgently required, and must be insisted upon, is—

(1) The obliteration of the cess-pools called tanks, and the substitution of stand-pipes and bathing platforms.

(2) The provision of means of access for the conservancy carts or wheel-barrows, the connection of all premises with the pipe-sewers, and the cleansing of the connecting drains and the waste lands of the bustees.

So long ago as 1878 Dr. Payne wrote:—"If only the existing law were carried out in respect of conservancy, the tanks obliterated or remodelled, and the night-soil of the town effectually removed, such great improvement in the public health might reasonably be expected as should postpone indefinitely the costly and difficult work of re-construction"

(1) The work of tank-filling does not proceed so rapidly as might be wished. Thirty-three tanks were obliterated during the year at a net cost of only Rs 1,768 to the municipality; but very many still remain. It is satisfactory to note that of the 33 tanks 13 were filled up by their owners. No doubt there is a difficulty in procuring material for this work; but the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that every effort will be made to secure a more rapid rate of progress in the current year than has been attained in its predecessors. As regards the counterpart of the scheme of tank-filling,—the provision of wholesome water for the use of the people,—it is to be observed that Mr. Harrison's scheme contemplated the erection of 75 platforms in five years at an estimated cost of Rs. 1,200 each. The Lieutenant-Governor has reason to believe that this estimate of cost is unduly high. He understands that the platform which has just been constructed in Komedan Bagan bustee did not cost more than Rs. 500, and, allowing for the cost of land where the owners are unwilling to give it free, he considers that an average rate of Rs 600 should suffice. The total cost would thus be reduced to Rs. 45,000, and Mr. Rivers Thompson would very strongly urge upon the Commissioners the advisability of at once carrying out this part of the scheme, by constructing at least 75 platforms during the current year.

(2). The progress of the drainage works has been accompanied by the conversion of many filthy ditches into good roads or paths. It is understood that the operations of this department will be completed by the end of 1884; and the roads made by it, supplemented by others constructed by the owners or by the Commissioners, should soon suffice to bring the whole of the bustee area within the reach at least of the conservancy carts or wheel-barrows. With the extension of the pipe-sewers, the Commissioners should rigorously insist upon the construction of house-connections in all cases. This having been done, if the establishment recommended by Mr. Harrison for keeping the surface connections clean and for cleansing the waste lands is maintained, the essential steps for the conversion of the Calcutta bustees into comparatively healthy localities will have been taken; and if the Commissioners will continue, as the Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt they will, the action which they have taken in the current year, and steadily devote at least Rs. 1,50,000 annually to the cleansing and structural improvement of the bustees, a very few years should see a vast improvement in the health as well as in the physical aspect of the northern division of the town.

18. There was nothing worthy of note in the meteorology of the year. The average temperature was a little higher than usual, and the average humidity was also high, especially in October and November. The rainfall was practically normal, falling short of the average of the last 48 years by only two-tenths of an inch. The distribution, however, was to some slight extent unusual, being in excess in February and October, and in deficit in June, July, and August. The price of food was generally moderate, rice selling at Rs. 2-9, Rs. 2-3, Rs. 2-1, and Rs. 1-14 per maund according to quality. Dr. Macleod observes that these prices entitle the year to rank as a year of plenty.

19. The number of births registered was 7,505, besides 1,852 registered during the first three months of 1883. The birth-rate of 1882 was 17·3 per mille, which is slightly in excess of that of the previous year. Among the various races, the recorded birth-rates per mille were—

	Birth-rate.	Proportion of male to 100 female births.
Non-Asiatics	16·3	102
Mixed races	42·7	109
Hindus	18·3	108
Mahomedans	13·9	121
Others	6·3	84

The Health Officer observes that the statistics for non-asiatics and mixed races are open to great doubt, and a recorded birth-rate of 42·7 per 1,000 certainly seems abnormal. It is probable that the actual number of births is on the whole correctly returned according to races, whereas the birth-rate is calculated upon a census population which was reduced by the inclusion among non-asiatics of many members of the mixed races. It is improbable that there is any appreciable concealment of births among the Eurasian class. It is curious to notice the large excess of males over females in the case of twin births; the percentage of the former being as high as 119. Dr. Macleod believes that twin births are more correctly registered than others, and he thinks that the facts raise a presumption in favour of the excess of male over female births throughout the province generally. The recorded facts are certainly remarkable. It should be remembered, however, that in an ordinary Hindu household, the birth of twin daughters would be regarded as a calamity, and the temptation to concealment would in some cases at least be too strong to be resisted. The Lieutenant-Governor prefers to reserve his opinion.

20. The death-rate of the year was unusually high. Only three years in the preceding decade present higher aggregates, and the rate is also in excess of the decennial mean. The total number of deaths in 1882 was 13,177 against 13,030 in 1881, and an average of 12,714 in the ten years 1872-81. There were also 3,434 in the period of January to March of 1883. The death-rate per mille was 30·4 against an average of 29·3. The main cause of the increase was cholera, which was unusually prevalent, being credited with 2,240 deaths against 1,693 in 1881, and a decennial average of 1,341. The Commissioners point out that the year was undoubtedly one of general prevalence of cholera, and that the outbreak was more severe in the tracts adjacent to Calcutta than in Calcutta itself; and they infer, not only that the outbreak was due to general and not to local causes, but that local causes tended to mitigate it. It is possible, however, to push this inference too far. It would certainly be unfair to point to the increase in cholera mortality in Calcutta and ascribe it wholly to municipal neglect, without adverting to the general influences of the season which the experience of the metropolitan tracts generally shows to have been in operation. But it is quite certain that had the Commissioners of Calcutta pursued for some years the policy which they have now adopted—had they adopted the advice unceasingly tendered to them by their officers and provided properly for the sanitation of the bustees, and removed undoubted sources of disease which were undoubtedly removeable,—the mitigation of the outbreak would have been much greater and the mortality consequently much less. The responsibility for a great deal of cholera mortality in 1882 unquestionably rests with the predecessors of the present Commissioners. The Army Sanitary Commission quite justly remark:—"From what has been said, it will be seen that increase of cholera in Calcutta is a perfectly legitimate consequence of filth unremoved and accumulating among the dwellings of the people, and we have also seen where the blame of this lies."

The other chief diseases show a sensible decrease of mortality, especially small-pox, which caused only 17 deaths during 1882. It is to be observed, however, that there were as many as 38 deaths from small-pox in the first quarter of 1883. Under pressure of this outbreak vaccination was pushed on with great vigour, and it is reported that 6,063 persons were vaccinated within the quarter in question. The infant death-rate was as usual very high, being 427·1 per mille. In other respects the vital statistic of Calcutta for 1882-83 do not present any remarkable features.

21. The report now submitted is unusually full and interesting. The peculiar circumstances of Calcutta are strongly brought out by an able and elaborate comparison with the financial position of other great cities; and the details of the work done, and to be done, by the different departments are fully and lucidly exposed. The Commissioners touch briefly upon questions of taxation and the sources of municipal revenue which they doubtless do not expect the Lieutenant-Governor to deal with in reviewing a report of this nature. Mr. Rivers Thompson fully appreciates the great need of many structural improvements in the town, and he would be glad to see the question of providing better channels for its ever-increasing traffic comprehensively considered The subject is of special importance in connection with the early completion of the Hooghly Bridge, the establishment of a Central Railway Station, and the great undertaking for the construction of large Docks at Kidderpore.

22. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Commissioners for their services during the year. The offices of Chairman and Vice-Chairman were held throughout by Mr. H. L. Harrison and Rai Shama Churn Dey Bahadur respectively, whose valuable services have again earned the cordial approbation of the Municipality and of Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE SALT DEPARTMENT IN 1882-83.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MIS. REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 8th December 1883.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Administration of the Salt Department in 1882-83.

The receipts of the Department during the year show a considerable decrease, which is attributed to the reduction of the salt duty (from Rs. 2-14 a maund on imported salt, and Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 2-12 a maund on salt manufactured in Orissa and the 24-Pergunnahs, to an uniform rate of Rs. 2 per maund) brought into effect on the 10th March 1882, and the importation of large quantities of Bombay salt on which duty had been previously paid at that place. The charges, on the other hand, show an increase, due to larger refunds of duty. The financial results of the past two years are compared in the following statement:—

The decline in receipts thus amounted to Rs. 64,71,045, or 26 per cent.; while the charges rose by Rs. 26,711, or 8·5 per cent.

2. The stocks of salt in hand at the commencement of the year amounted to 23,18,543 maunds, and during the year 84,46,014 maunds were imported, and 2,87,846 maunds manufactured locally, making a total of 1,10,52,403 maunds available for the whole year. Of this quantity duty was paid on 95,45,913 maunds (the duty on 5,21,099 maunds having been realized in Bombay), 2,500 maunds were passed free of duty, and 87,353 maunds were written off on account of wastage and destroyed, a balance of 14,16,637 maunds being thus left in stock at the end of the year. The corresponding figures of the preceding year show 20,36,503 maunds of initial stocks, 90,03,787 maunds of imports, and 4,75,763 maunds locally produced or a total of 1,15,16,053 maunds for the entire year; and during the year duty was paid on 91,61,096 maunds (including 20,700 maunds on which duty was realized in Bombay), 250 maunds were passed free of duty and 37,475 maunds were written off for wastage and destroyed. A comparison of the figures for the two years shows a decrease in the past year in both importation and manufacture, but an increase in the quantity of imported salt on which duty was paid.

3. Importation was, as in the previous year, confined to Calcutta and Chittagong, and the chief sources of supply were again the United Kingdom, Bombay, the Arabian and Persian Gulfs, and Italy. Some cargoes were also received from France and Spain, and a small consignment arrived from Austria (Trieste). The decline in importation, amounting to 5,57,578 maunds, occurred at both Calcutta and Chittagong. This result is attributed in Calcutta to the heavy losses suffered by importers in 1881-82, in consequence of the unremunerative prices of salt, and accumulation of stocks and continued low prices in the past year. Large importations in the previous year account for the decrease at Chittagong. The Board bring to notice, in connection with this subject, the wastefulness of the systems of weighing salt cargoes into ships lately introduced in Liverpool. Under the old system salt was weighed in scales suspended over the hatchways, whereby all spillage went into the hold, the ships received liberal weight and no wastage occurred on deck. Now salt is weighed on deck in self-registering tubs, or the cargo is calculated from the drafts of the lighters which are registered. Under this new system the general percentage of wastage on arrival in Calcutta has been found to be 3·5 in 1882, against 2·7 in 1878, 2·6 in 1879 and 2·9 in 1880 and 1881; and the Board having regard to it support a suggestion of the Collector of Customs that the present wastage allowance of 5 per cent. for vessels coming through the Suez Canal and of 8 per cent. for vessels coming round the Cape be withdrawn, and a general rate of 3 per cent., which experience has shown will more than cover the actual average loss, be allowed. It is not, however, stated whether the mercantile community affected has been consulted in regard to this proposal, and the Lieutenant-Governor will, therefore, defer the consideration of it until the Board have obtained the views of the Chamber of Commerce on the matter, and submitted a special report to Government.

4. The clearances of salt from shipboard were less than in 1881-82 at both Calcutta and Chittagong, being 62,92,850 against 64,92,330 maunds at the former and 69,657 against 1,01,736 maunds at the latter. At Chittagong 31,000 maunds were in addition cleared under bond for Naraingunge. The clearances of imported salt from bond, however, increased from 19,44,961 to 25,13,492 maunds in Calcutta and 2,37,565 to 2,81,204 maunds at Chittagong. Besides these quantities, 24,886 maunds were cleared at Naraingunge and 100 maunds at Balasore, where there were no clearances in the previous year. The total increase in clearances at all ports thus amounted to 6,37,156 maunds, or 29·1 per cent.; but the reduction of the duty caused a decrease of 4·4 per cent. in the receipts. At Chittagong the quantities removed for the districts of Tipperah and Noakholly fell off owing to these districts now taking their supplies chiefly from Naraingunj; but the clearances for Chittagong itself and Naraingunj largely increased. The salt trade of the port would, without doubt, be greatly developed by the construction of the projected railway to connect it with Chandpore on the Megna and later with Assam.

5. A considerable decrease again took place in the manufacture of excise salt, for which various reasons are assigned. The total quantity manufactured amounted to only 2,87,846 maunds against 4,75,763 maunds in 1881-82 and 6,15,776 maunds in 1880-81. In the 24-Pergunnahs only 7,643 maunds were manufactured as compared with 17,110 in the previous year and manufacture was altogether abandoned in the course of the year. In Orissa there was a decrease in all districts, amounting in the aggregate to 1,78,450 maunds, or 38·9 per cent. The falling off was especially large in Balasore, where only 93,131 maunds were produced against 2,02,763 maunds in 1881-82, this result being attributed by the Commissioner to the existence of large stocks at the beginning of the year, and to the operations being checked by heavy rains at the commencement of the season and dearness of labour. The last two causes, as well as competition of Ganjam salt, also account for the reduced manufacture in Pooree; while in Cuttack manufacture is said to have been checked by the bad weather early in the season, and by the fact that the contractors had in hand from the previous year a stock equal to nearly a year's sale.

6. Sales of excise salt increased from 7,500 to 8,500 maunds in the 24-Pergunnahs, and from 1,39,320 to 1,72,245 maunds in Balasore, but fell from 73,362 to 61,874 maunds in Cuttack, and from 1,64,821 to 1,20,408 maunds in Pooree. The net result for all districts was a reduction in sales from 3,84,503 to 3,63,027 maunds, or by 5·5 per cent., and in duty from Rs. 9,73,170 to Rs. 7,26,055, or by 25·3 per cent. The increase in the 24-Pergunnahs calls for no remark, and in Balasore it was due to the locally manufactured salt being in greater demand for exportation to Cuttack and the Tributary Mehals. The decrease in Cuttack is attributed partly to the importation of Balasore salt, and that in Pooree to the growing competition from Ganjam, which the local manufacturers somewhat aided by holding out for higher prices for their own inferior produce. The Collector calls attention to the danger which the Pooree salt-makers run from the diminished demand for their salt. They are represented as entirely dependent on the manufacture of salt for subsistence. If that fails, their condition, already low, will be still further reduced.

7. The total quantity of salt sold within the law limits in the saliferous districts of Midnapore, Howrah, the 24-Pergunnahs, Khulna, Backergunge, Chittagong, Noakholly, Cuttack and Balasore rose from 9,67,083 to 9,99,653 maunds, showing a net increase of 32,570 maunds, or 3·3 per cent Consumption increased in all districts except Backergunge. In Midnapore and Khulna the advance was slight. But in Howrah it amounted to 4·3 per cent. on the previous year's consumption, in the 24-Pergunnahs to 3·1 per cent., in Chittagong to 6 9 per cent, in Noakholly to 4·6 per cent., in Cuttack to 6·4 per cent., and in Balasore to 5 per cent. The reduction of the salt duty is alleged everywhere to have contributed in part to the increase, while as special causes tending to stimulate consumption an influx of labourers for employment on local works is mentioned in the 24-Pergunnahs, Khulna, and Balasore, increased vigilance on the part of the police in Howrah, Chittagong, and Cuttack, the prosperous condition of the agricultural classes in Chittagong, and increase of population in Noakholly. The decrease in consumption in Backergunge is ascribed to large stocks having been in the hands of the dealers at the beginning of the year, to the prices having been kept high by the dealers for a considerable period, and to the diversion of the trade of some of the marts within salt limits to places outside them. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board that there is no good reason to suspect the prevalence of illicit manufacture to any appreciable extent in the district.

8. The number of seizures in all districts during the year was 432, and the quantity of salt attached 4,780 maunds, against 530 seizures and 891 maunds in 1881-82. In 40 cases with 4,594 maunds, against 28 cases with 686 maunds in 1881-82, the salt was released, while in 394 cases with 188 maunds, against 505 cases with 203 maunds in 1881-82, the salt was confiscated. It will be observed that the number of cases fell off by 98, or 18 5 per cent., while the quantity of salt seized increased by 3,889 maunds, or 436·4 per cent.; these results are very satisfactory. The quantity, of salt, however, released after seizure increased largely owing to six large seizures of salt in transit in Howrah, embracing 1,876 maunds, and to one seizure of 2,500 maunds in the 24-Pergunnahs, in all of which the whole of the salt was released. The action of the authorities in these cases, if technically correct, must have caused considerable inconvenience, and, perhaps, some loss to the owners or the persons in charge of the salt, which might apparently have been avoided by a less rigid enforcement of the strict letter of the law. Where the substantive provisions of the law or the rules regarding the transit of salt are infringed purely through ignorance or carelessness, and without intention to defraud the revenue, it can seldom be necessary or equitable to have recourse to the extreme penalty of confiscation; and Mr. Rivers Thompson desires that this consideration may be borne in mind by all officers in dealing with such cases in future. In the Resolution on the last report the Lieutenant-Governor, referring to the large number of salt seizures, observed that he "would gladly be sure that for each seizure several unsuccessful searches were not made," and called on the Board to submit with the present report a statement showing both the number of unsuccessful searches and the number of actual seizures made by the police during the year. The Board have complied with this request. The statement furnished shows the number of seizures and of unsuccessful searches respectively to have been 518 and 147. The proportion between the two is, the Lieutenant-Governor gladly observes, satisfactory in all districts except Backergunge, where for 58 seizures no less than 104 unsuccessful searches were made. The people have clearly been subjected to much unnecessary harassment in this district. while the diminished consumption of salt there is not incompatible with the belief that the searches were ill-directed. The Lieutenant-Governor must, therefore, request the Commissioner, who has already drawn the attention of the police to the matter, to be careful, while encouraging legitimate proceedings on their part for protection of the the revenue, to check any tendency to injudicious activity such as the above figures seem to disclose.

9. In paragraphs 55—60 the Board submit the opinions of the local officers and their own conclusions on the question of simplifying the present salt system for the greater convenience of the public, on which they were requested to report in the last Resolution. They have rightly understood the Lieutenant-Governor's observations to have had reference more to the working of the rowannah system than the prevention of illicit manufacture; but Mr. Rivers Thompson fears that little practical improvement is likely to be obtained from the only proposal which they are prepared to make, namely, "that the district officers be instructed to follow a firm and uniform policy of insisting on the observance of the salt law, and to intelligently and carefully watch the action of the police in connection with salt cases." The policy and the course of action here indicated have already been repeatedly enjoined on the district officers in various ways, but with the result of only partial and transitory improvement. The causes of the undesirable friction between the public and the authorities, which, no doubt, exists, in a greater or less degree, everywhere, are inherent in the system itself, and real and permanent improvement must be looked for only in a modification of the system.

10. Prosecutions for offences against the salt laws were less numerous than in the previous year. The cases instituted during the year were 1,173 against 1,262 in 1881-82, and the total number brought to trial (inclusive of the cases pending from the preceding year) was 1,198 against 1,283, resulting in 1,078 convictions against 1,151 in 1881-82. The most important offences against the salt law are obviously illicit manufacture and illicit possession or transport of salt, which almost invariably implies previous illicit manufacture. The total number of cases under these heads fell last year from 608 to 470, a decrease which is sufficiently large to justify the conclusion that there has been a real diminution of illicit manufacture, due probably to greater watchfulness on the part of the police, and to the fact that the cheapening of salt, caused by the reduction of the duty, has weakened the temptation to resort to such manufacture. Cuttack alone shows a large increase in these cases.

11. The despatches of salt into the interior by the different water routes and railways in the last two years were—

Year.	Vid Balli Khal.	Vid Sankrail.	Vid Gowakhally.	Vid Kidderpore.	Vid Balliaghatta.	By the East Indian Railway.	By the Eastern Bengal and Calcutta and South-Eastern Railways, or vid Chitpore.

Decrease	2,81,289	.....	.....	2,06,733	.....	.....	91,773

There was, it will be observed, a net decrease of 1,90,609 maunds in the quantity conveyed by water, but a net increase of 4,87,483 maunds in the despatches by rail.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor approves of the Board's decision to postpone the submission of their report on the proposed exemption of Cuttack and Balasore from the rowannah system until the question of placing the manufacture and sale of excise salt in Orissa under the control of the Madras Salt Department, working in this matter in subordination to the Bengal Government, has been settled. The Lieutenant-Governor has already agreed to this proposal, which emanated from the Supreme Government, and it remains only to arrange the details after the Madras Salt Commissioner has visited Orissa and submitted his recommendations.

13. The reduced importations of the year led to a decrease of nearly three lakhs of maunds in the quantity of salt bonded during the year, which amounted to 18,35,037 maunds against 21,32,146 maunds in 1881-82, and the quantity remaining in store at the end of the year was only 9,01,902 maunds as compared with 15,95,509 maunds at the commencement.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor thanks the Board for their careful administration of the Department during the year. The names of the officers favourably noticed by them will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE COLONIAL EMIGRATION REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1882-83.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT,—COLONIAL EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 11th December 1883.

READ—

The Report of the Protector of Emigrants for 1882-83.

THE only important event of the year in connection with colonial emigration was the deputation of Mr. Grierson to conduct in Bengal an enquiry into the general system of emigration, and especially of recruitment, similar to that which had been previously carried out in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh by Major Pitcher. An interesting and useful report was submitted by Mr. Grierson, on which both this Government and the Government of India have passed orders, and effect will be given in the new Indian Emigration law now before the Legislative Council, and its subsidiary rules, to all the recommendations of the report which appear calculated to facilitate recruitment. Measures will also be taken to improve the mode of registering emigrants so as to facilitate correspondence between India and the Colonies and to secure the regular transmission to their heirs in India of the estates of emigrants dying intestate abroad, and generally attention will be directed to promoting the free working of colonial emigration in Bengal. The advantage of emigration as a means of relieving the pressure for existence in crowded Indian districts needs no demonstration; and it is also unquestionable that the surplus population of these provinces is sufficiently large to meet the labour demand of the Colonies, as well as that of the less populated provinces of India itself, to which emigration from Bengal is at present practicable, as for instance, the districts of Assam. The Lieutenant-Governor is, moreover, satisfied that, as a very general rule, the Bengal or Behar coolie materially improves his lot by emigration to the British Colonies: every attention is paid to his health and comfort on the voyage; he is the object, under special regulations, of protection at the hands of the Administration after his arrival in the Colony; and he earns during his sojourn there wages, which, as evidenced by the large sums annually brought to India by the return emigrants, are high enough to enable him to effect considerable savings in the course of a comparatively few years. Colonial emigration, therefore, has Mr. Rivers Thompson's cordial approval; but it is necessary to observe that the help which the Government can accord to it must, in the nature of the case, be confined to narrow limits. In a country where the mere expression of a wish on the part of officials is often interpreted as an order by the people, or distorted into such by designing persons for the achievement of their own ends, the Government could not, consistently with its duty to the people, undertake to lend active and direct aid to recruitment for the Colonies. All that the Administration can rightly do is to see that no obstruction is unnecessarily placed in the way of emigration, to encourage the dissemination among the masses of accurate information regarding the Colonies and the prospects of colonial emigrants, and to facilitate the interchange of communications between the emigrants and their relatives and friends in India. So far as the removal of all official obstacles to emigration is concerned, this has, indeed, been the steady policy of the Government of Bengal for many years past, and if, as has been stated by the Emigration Agencies, they have sometimes found reason to complain of their operations being unreasonably impeded by Government officials, such obstruction has never been countenanced by the Government. Any impediments of this nature could, moreover, have never materially affected the success of the Agencies. The real and only serious obstacle to recruitment for the Colonies has, doubtless, been, and must continue to be, the objection of the people themselves to emigrate, due to caste prejudices, attachment to their homes, general ignorance of the conditions of life and prospects in the Colonies, and unwillingness to leave their villages in seasons of prosperity and cheap food. The ignorance and prejudices of the people may, to a large extent, be removed, and towards this the Agencies themselves can contribute by the employment of return emigrants in recruitment, by helping to promote regular correspondence between the Colonies and this country, and by providing that the intestate estates of deceased emigrants shall be regularly conveyed to their heirs in India. The effect of prosperous seasons on emigration is, however, due to economic laws which cannot be controlled by any legitimate executive or legislative action: no improvement of the law or rules will stimulate emigration when the Indian labourer earns good wages at home, and can readily provide himself with food and clothing.

2. It was found necessary last year to close emigration to the French Colony of Réunion owing to the unsatisfactory reports received of the condition of the emigrants in the island, and an order to that effect was accordingly issued by the Government of India under section 57 of the Act. The Emigration Agencies at work during the year were eight, six representing the British Colonies of Mauritius, Trinidad, Demerara, Jamaica, Natal and Fiji, one the Dutch Colony of Surinam, and one the French Colony of Gaudeloupe. The requisitions for emigrants received from the Colonies and the number actually despatched in the last two years are shown in the following statement :—

Total ...	12,314	7,946	17½	4,365½	16,502	8,927	54½	7,009½

The number of labourers wanted by the Colonies last year thus exceeded that in the preceding year by 4,188 statute adults ; but so great was the difficulty experienced in inducing coolies to emigrate, owing to the favourable harvests and low prices of recent years, that none of the Agencies, save that for Guadeloupe, succeeded in meeting the demand of their respective Colonies. The success of the Guadeloupe Agency was apparently due in the main to the small number of labourers required, and the fact that the Agent's attention was entirely given to recruitment for that Colony alone. The terms offered to emigrants by the various Colonies remained the same as in previous years.

3. The larger demands of the Colonies and the difficulty of procuring emigrants necessitated an increase in the number of recruiters, and tended at the same time to stimulate resort to irregular recruitment. The number of recruiting licenses granted was 576 against 452, and the cancellations for misconduct were 15, or 2·60 per cent., against 14, or 3·09 per cent. in 1881-82. Sufficient evidence of misconduct was obtained in three cases for a conviction, and the offenders, besides losing their licenses, were sentenced to fine or imprisonment.

4. The total number of emigrants registered during the year was 13,035, the chief centres of recruitment being Calcutta (where the recruits were as usual, up-country people), Lucknow, Benares, Cawnpore, Allahabad, Patna Agra and Faizabad. Distributed according to their places of residence the emigrants of the year were supplied thus by the different provinces :—

North-Western Provinces	6,577
Oudh	2,656
Bengal and Behar	2,170
Punjab	528
Central India	331
Miscellaneous (Nepal, Madras, Bombay, &c.)	773
Total ...	13,035

The Natal and British Guiana Agencies found it necessary, in consequence of the scarcity of emigrants in the northern Provinces, to extend operations to Ganjam, and several hundred persons were recruited there and brought to Calcutta for embarkation.

5. Of the 13,035 emigrants registered, only 12,253 were admitted into the Calcutta depôts, the balance being accounted for by 180 desertions in the interior, 137 detentions in the mofussil depôts, and 465 discharges by the Agents, of which 25 were for unfitness, 8 for unwillingness to emigrate, 16 because they were claimed by relatives, and 416 because they were recruited too late for shipment during the season. These results, showing 5·99 per cent. of total deductions between registration and arrival in depôt, were somewhat better than in the previous year, when the percentage was 6·17. The percentage of deductions after arrival in depôt was, however, less favourable, having amounted to 17·94 against 14 in 1881-82. The difference was especially marked in the case of desertions, and the increase of these is attributed to delays in the embarkation of the emigrants and the prevalence of high wages in Calcutta, which naturally tempted the men to abandon their intention of emigrating and seek for work in the town. The rates of sickness and mortality during the year were also somewhat higher than in the previous year, the principal diseases being, as usual, malarious fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, chest affections and cholera. The percentage of fever cases was especially high in the Guadeloupe, Trinidad, Fiji and Surinam depôts, and, as these depôts also had the largest percentages of such cases in the previous year, the excessive prevalence of fever in them may possibly be accounted for by defects in their sanitary arrangements. The Lieutenant-Governor, therefore, desires that Dr. Grant will especially enquire into this matter, and suggest improvements to the Agents should any be found desirable. The total deductions in depôt were 2,397, comprising 84 deaths, 824 desertions, and 1,489 discharges on account of unfitness, unwillingness to embark, applications of relatives, relationship to other persons discharged, transfers to other Agencies and releases from engagement. The total number of emigrants in depôt during the year was altogether 13,356, 1,090 remaining from the previous year, and 13 born in depôt having been added to the number admitted within the year. The number available for despatch to the Colonies, after allowance for the deductions, was, therefore, 10,959. Of these 9,576, consisting of 6,108 men, 2,498 women, and 970 children, actually embarked, and 1,383 were thus left in depôt at the close of the year.

6. The emigrants embarked included 743 who had previously been in the Colonies, and, classified according to religion, consisted of 7,695 Hindoos (1,995 being Brahmins, 2,454 agriculturists, 456, artizans, and 2,790 of low castes), 1,846 Mahomedans, and 35 Christians. The large number of Brahmins would indicate that caste prejudice is, after all, not so strong an obstacle to emigration as is generally believed. The emigrants were despatched in 21 sailing ships, with an average number of 456 in each, and reports of the arrival of 20 of the vessels have been received, which show that 170 deaths occurred at sea, and that 9,406 souls altogether reached the different Colonies, thus: Demerara 2,956, Trinidad 1,930, Jamaica 393, Natal 869, Fiji 902, Mauritius 983, Surinam 403, and Guadeloupe 970. The remaining vessel contained 461 souls and was bound to Guadeloupe. With exception of a bad outbreak of cholera on board the Sheila bound to Surinam, the general health of the emigrants on boardship was better than in the previous year.

7. The return emigrants who arrived in Calcutta during the year were 3,546, or 386 in excess of the number in the preceding year, and they brought with them savings aggregating Rs. 5,69,760, their average savings being thus Rs. 161. The most prosperous of the emigrants were those returning from Demerara, and next those from Natal, Mauritius and Jamaica. As usual the emigrants returning from the French Colonies had the smallest savings.

8. The duties of the Protector of Emigrants were efficiently discharged by Dr. Grant, and also by Dr. Richards, who officiated for him during three months of the year.

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER 1883.

THE normal features of the meteorology of Northern India for the month of November are extremely simple. The temperature (more especially the night temperature) decreases rapidly during the month. The sky is generally cloudless, the air dry and winds light and from points ranging between west and north. Bengal is liable from its position during the month to two different kinds of atmospheric disturbances The first and more common originate as cyclonic disturbances in the Bay of Bengal (due to the continuance of the south-west monsoon in the centre of the Bay after its retreat from Bengal and the adjacent coast). These cyclonic disturbances influence directly or indirectly the meteorology of Bengal. It is very rarely that a cyclone formed in the Bay in November advances into Bengal. Those which form in or near the Martaban gulf usually pass into Burmah and Arracan. Those generated in the centre or south of the Bay of Bengal generally move in directions varying between west and north-west, and advance across the Coromandel coast or the coast of the Circars. Those formed late in November almost invariably cross the coast to the south of Madras and near Negapatam. These cyclonic disturbances influence more or less the weather over Bengal, as well as the Bay. In Bengal the winds generally shift to the east, and the air becomes damper from the slight indraught due to the cyclonic circulation in the Bay. If the conditions are favourable, cloud forms rapidly over part or the whole of Bengal and more or less general rain may follow. The termination of this period of damp, cloudy, or rainy weather in Bengal is almost simultaneous with the breaking up of the cyclonic disturbance in the south of the Bay and Southern India, and is marked by the return. to the normal cold weather conditions in Bengal, viz. the prevalence of dry northerly winds, clear skies, and low temperatures.

The second source of disturbance, although common in December, January and February, is very rare in November. This is the occasional occurrence of what may be termed north-east monsoon storms of Northern India, during which probably a large proportion of the winter snowfall of the Himalayas takes place These commence (so far as India is concerned) as depressions with the usual cyclonic circulation of the air in the Punjab, and advance eastwards through the North-West Provinces occasionally into Behar and Bengal. Whether these storms originate in the Punjab or to the northwards or westwards in Afghanistan or Beloochistan has not yet been ascertained. These storms, however, do not frequently occur in November in the Punjab, and rarely extend eastwards as far as Bengal.

The preceding remarks not only indicate the normal character of the meteorology of the month of November in Bengal, but also the small amount of the rainfall. The average rainfall over the whole of the Province, excepting the Chittagong, Backergunge, and Noakholly districts of South-Eastern Bengal, and the Cuttack and Pooree districts of Orissa, is less than one inch. Over those excepted districts, the average rainfall ranges from one to three inches.

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY OF THE MONTH.

THE month has been characterised by an almost entire absence of disturbances affecting Bengal. A small one noticed in last month's report gave cloudy weather in Bengal, and light rain in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur on the 1st and 2nd of November. The only disturbance originating in the Bay, which affected Bengal to any marked extent, was one which apparently formed in the Martaban gulf about the 9th of November, and gave very stormy weather to the north and north-west of the Andamans until the 15th of November. This gave cloudy weather for a brief period over Southern and Eastern Bengal, and light showers in the Chittagong district. One disturbance also occurred during the month in North-Western India, and gave heavy snow to the North-Western Himalayas, but it did not extend so far east as Bengal. The weather in Bengal during the past month has hence been that which characterises the prevalence of the north-east monsoon in its most pronounced form. Skies were unusually clear, temperature (more especially the night temperature) lower than the normal, northerly winds unusually steady, and the rainfall nil over the greater part of the Province.

Pressure has fluctuated considerably during the month, but the variations are of little importance. It has, contrary to what might have been expected, been in defect on the average over nearly the whole of the Province. Northern Behar continues to present pressure in excess relatively to adjacent districts.

Temperature was below the average for all stations except False Point. The deficiency was greatest in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. The mean temperature of the month is 3½° below the normal at Gya, 2·8° at Purneah, 2·7° at Berhamporo, and 2·4° at Calcutta

The humidity of the month was below the average at all stations except Chittagong. The deficiency averaged 10 per cent. for the whole Province, and was greatest in South-West Bengal, where the deficiency ranged from 10 per cent. at Saugor Island to 20 per cent. at Calcutta.

The rainfall of the month is below the average in all districts except the Hazaribagh and Ranchi districts. Light showers fell in Orissa, South-East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but the average district rainfall nowhere exceeded an inch, except in the Ranchei district, (as represented by the station of Ranchee) In this respect more especially the month of November has been the continuation of the three preceding months. The south-west monsoon appeared to change its character from some cause or action as yet unknown in August, and the rainfall since the beginning of that month has been abnormally small over the whole Province.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of November 1883:—

* The ratios for Darjiling are calculated upon the census of 1881, which gives 100 only as the number of the Christian population. That population, however, is a very fluctuating one, reaching sometimes an average of 1,000, but as the census was taken in the month of February, when the number of this section of the community is at a minimum, the calculations based thereon must of necessity exhibit fallacious results. Since then an attempt has been made to obtain a special and more consistent census for Darjiling during a more favourable season of the year, but as its results are not recorded in the authorised form of age classification, it cannot be employed as a basis or calculation in these tables.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1·6° lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

GOODS.

The total figures result in an increase in weight, but a decrease in earnings. This is owing to the large quantities of downwards coal carried during the period, while the earnings from wheat and grain traffic show a marked decrease, consequent on the export traffic to Howrah being limited.

The principal staples showing fluctuations are—

INCREASES.

Coal, down.
Ordnance stores.
Rice.
Other grains.
Indigo.
Piece-goods.
Railway material construction account.
Railway material, foreign.
Saltpetre.

DECREASES.

Coal, up.
Cotton.
Wheat.
Pulses.
Gunny.

REMARKS.

Coal, downwards ... ... Mds. 2,17,730 Rs. 32,260
The increase occurs principally at Toposi, Asansol, and Barakar stations.

Ordnance stores ... ... Mds. 640 Rs. 12,590
Howrah was the principal despatching station with consignments of ammunition to Cawnpore and stations on the Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railway.

Rice ... ... Mds. 85,070 Rs. 30,900
The downwards traffic has been normal, the increase being in rice despatched from Bengal to Behar.

Other grains... ... ... Mds. 50,750 Rs. 12,950

Indigo ... ... Mds. 4,520 Rs. 13,249
Sales of native-made indigo in Calcutta were carried on earlier than usual this year.

Piece-goods ... ... Mds. 23,210 Rs. 29,760
Increases appear at Howrah, Delhi and vid Jubbulpore.

Railway material, construction account ... ... Mds. 1,41,350 Rs. 7,550
Materials carried by ballast trains chiefly in the Howrah, Dinapore and Delhi districts.

Railway materials, foreign ... ... Mds. 1,65,070 Rs. 94,520
Large despatches from Howrah to the several railways on the north bank of the Ganges.

Saltpetre ... ... Mds. 22,240 Rs. 9,270
Exports to Great Britain and America show an improvement.

DECREASES.

Coal, up ... ... Mds. 80,210 Rs. 19,560
This falling off is apparent at Barakar and Giridih.

Cotton ... ... Mds. 33,160 Rs. 35,840
The business in cotton in Calcutta has been of a moderate nature.

Wheat ... ... Mds. 85,050 Rs. 1,26,950
Owing to unfavourable markets in England and the Continent, the export of wheat has been reduced to small proportions
The following statement exhibits the falling off at stations :—

Pulses ... ... Mds. 39,150 Rs. 14,590

This traffic has fallen off at Burhee, Dinapore and other stations in the Dinapore district consequent on the market in Calcutta being unfavourable.

Gunny ... ... Mds. 11,470 Rs. 12,520

Exportation of country produce being normal, the demand for bagging has fallen off.

Salt ... ... Mds. 1,99,970 Rs. 59,470

The falling off is at Howrah and is attributable to the closing of the Government Salt Golahs for the holidays.

Seeds ... ... Mds. 47,530 Rs. 61,300

In the first fortnight of the period, business in Calcutta was much restricted, but improved subsequently.

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd December 1883.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Lieutenant-Governor intends, if no valid objections be raised within one month from this date, to approve of the following rules to regulate the account of expenditure on drainage schemes sanctioned under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880:—

Rules for the account of Expenditure on Drainage chemes sanctioned under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880.

1. In the following rules the word "scheme" means any project or portion of a project sanctioned by the Government under section 54 of the Act as a separate scheme.

2. Expenditure on any scheme for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land under Act VI (B.C.) of 1880 will be incurred on estimates adopted by the Commissioners appointed under the Act and sanctioned by Government.

3. The expenditure will be incurred partly by the Public Works Department and partly by the Civil Department. The expenditure in the Civil Department will be in respect of compensation for lands taken for the purposes of the Act, and for damage inflicted in carrying out the scheme, salaries of officers, servants and establishments, and cost of surveys and valuations (other than those made by officers of the Public Works Department), whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans.

4. On the vouchers on which such expenditure is incurred it will be distinctly stated for what particular scheme the payments are made, and no voucher shall be paid at the treasury unless it is first passed by the Collector of the district as a charge to a particular scheme under the Act.

5. The expenditure will be passed by the Accountant-General to charge of a special advance head to be opened for each scheme upon his accounts, and an account of all the transactions under each such account (opening and closing with a balance) will be forwarded by him to the Collector at the end of each quarter for communication to the Commissioners. The account should be made up in such detail as to show the general nature of the expenditure included in it, such as "surveys," "compensation for land," "payment of drainage," &c.

6. The accounts of expenditure in the Public Works Department will similarly be kept separately for each "scheme," the charges being in the first place passed to debit of a special advance head to be opened upon the books of the Examiner.

7. A quarterly account of the expenditure so charged will be prepared by the Examiner, and by him transmitted to the Accountant-General for communication to the Collector and the Commissioners. This account will show the general nature of the expenditure only, such as "establishments," "works," "stores" or any other similar particulars.

8. At the final closing of the account of each year, but not till then, the total charge upon the Examiner's books will be transferred to those of the Accountant-General, which will then show, under a separate advance account for each scheme, the total expenditure in each year, both in the Civil and in the Public Works Department.

9. At the end of each quarter, until the work is finally completed, the officer in charge of the works will, as required by section 27, make a detailed report to the Drainage Commissioners, through the Collector, of the progress of the works and the expenditure thereupon, so far as known to him, from the date to which the next preceding report has been brought down.

10. The quarterly account received from the Accountant-General by the Commissioners will be received as the statement of the accounts of Government in respect of each scheme. They will, on receipt, be examined by the Commissioners against the register of sanctioned charges (for Civil Department), and be compared with the quarterly report of the officer in charge of the works (for Public Works Department). The Commissioners will report to the Accountant-General objections they may have to raise to the accounts whether in respect of their completeness in point of the detail required for their purposes or in respect of their accuracy.

11. It shall be the duty of the Accountant-General to meet such criticisms, as far as consistent with the facts, by adjustments which will appear in the succeeding quarterly accounts. But the Accountant-General is the final authority in respect of the correctness of the account.

12. A copy of the certificate of completion of work required by section 28 of the Act will be sent by the officer in charge of the work to the Accountant-General, who will thereupon calculate the interest due up to date of completion, and add it to the total cost charged in his books to the advance head, for recovery from the persons concerned.

13. The interest shall be made up by reckoning for interest the total of the net expenditure shown in each quarterly account from the end of the quarter to which it appertains.

14. A complete account will now be made up by the Accountant-General in such detail as the Drainage Commissioners may require, but not in greater detail than that of the quarterly account. This complete account shows the total recoverable under the Act.

15. The Accountant-General will at the same time draw up a statement, agreeing with the above, showing the quarterly totals in the following form :—

Quarter ending.	Amount of expenditure.			Amount of interest till (a specified date.)
	Civil.	Public Works.	Total.

The complete account, together with this statement, will be communicated by the Accountant-General to the Collector for communication to the Commissioners, and will be subscribed by the Accountant-General as a certificate under section 27 of the Act.

The 20th November 1883.—The following correspondence and regulations for the Matriculation Examination of the University of London are published for general information.

A. P. MACDONNELL,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 105P., dated India Office, London, the 20th September 1883.

From—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India,
To—His Excellency the Most Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council.

I FORWARD herewith a packet of Regulations for the Matriculation Examination of the University of London, transmitted to this office by the Clerk to the Senate of the University, in order that candidates for the Gilchrist Indian Scholarship in the divisions of the Bengal Presidency may be informed of the requirements of that examination.

2. I take this opportunity of forwarding a copy of a letter received from the Secretary to the Trustees of the Gilchrist Educational Trust, in which it is stated that, owing to the very limited competition among natives of India for the Gilchrist Scholarships provided for their benefit, the Trustees have decided to admit candidates from Ceylon to compete with those of India for the single scholarship of £150 per annum to be henceforth annually awarded.

Dated 21st August 1883.

No. 4, dated Broad Sanctuary, London, the 21st August 1883.

From—W. B. CARPENTER, ESQ., Secretary to the Trustees of the Gilchrist Educational Trust,

To—Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

GILCHRIST EDUCATIONAL TRUST.

Trustees:

CHARLES HOLLAND, ESQ., M.D., F.R.S. | ROBERT VERITY, ESQ., M.D.
SIR JOHN BOWRING, LL.D., F.R.S. | WILLIAM BURNLEY HUME, ESQ.

GEORGE GROTE, ESQ., D.C.L., F.R.S.

Secretary:

W. B. CARPENTER, ESQ., M.D., F.R.S.

Standing Counsel:

F. H. BOWRING, ESQ.

Solicitors:

MESSRS. F. J. AND G. J. BRAIKENRIDGE.

I HAVE the honour of informing you that in consequence of the very limited competition among natives of India for the Gilchrist Scholarships provided for their benefit (only a single candidate having appeared at the last examination, although there were then two scholarships each of £100 per annum), the Trustees have decided to admit candidates from Ceylon to compete with those of India for the single scholarship of £150 per annum to be henceforth annually awarded in accordance with my previous communication to you.

In making the increase to the annual stipend of the single scholar, the Trustees desire to place him beyond the necessity of supplementing their allowance from private resources. They have no doubt that, with due economy, the sum of £150 per annum will suffice to meet the necessary expenses of their scholar's maintenance and education during his residence in this country.

[1] By the term "Academical Year" is ordinarily meant the period intervening between any examination and an examination of a higher grade in the following year, which period may be either more or less than a calendar year. Thus the interval between the Intermediate Examinations in Arts, Science, and Medicine, and the Degree Examinations of the next year in those Faculties, respectively, is about sixteen months; whilst the interval between the B.A. Examination and the M.A. Examination of the next year, or between the B.Sc. Examination and D.Sc. Examination of the next year, is less than eight months. Nevertheless, each of these intervals is counted as an "Academical Year."

Instructions to Candidates for Matriculation.

Care should be taken, in sending notice, to give a correct postal address, and the candidate's full name should be distinctly written.

Fees should not be sent by post.

Candidates entering their names for the examination for the first time should on no account send a notice of entry to the Registrar unaccompanied by the requisite document-giving proof of age. No candidate, however old, is admitted to the examination without the production of such a document.

A certificate must in all cases be accompanied by a letter stating that the person to whom it relates wishes to enter for the examination.

The age of a candidate with regard to entry is reckoned from the first day of the several examinations, that day being computed to fall as late as the Regulations will possibly allow. The two dates, in the case of the Matriculation Examinations, are January 14th and June 21st. Candidates who complete their sixteenth year on either of those dates will therefore be admissible to the January or the June examination, as the case may be; but no further extension of time will be allowed.

Candidates who have previously presented themselves at the examination need not send in their certificates of age a second time; but should state, when giving notice of entry, that they have so presented themselves.

Notice of entry should not be sent earlier than six weeks before the commencement of the examination.

The full marks obtainable at the Matriculation Examination are 2,800. Of these 2 000 qualify for a Prize, 1,800 for Honours, and 1,400 for the First Division. There is no regulation fixing the number of marks required for a pass. No further details as to the marking at this or other examinations can be furnished.

The alphabetical pass list is sent, as soon as it is printed off, to every College or School from which any candidate (whether successful or not) has immediately proceeded to the Matriculation Examination.

The classified list is sent to every College or School from which a successful candidate has immediately proceeded. It is also widely circulated among the leading newspapers of the United Kingdom.

Lists cannot be supplied to individual candidates or their friends.

The examination papers of past examinations are not published separately; but the papers of the previous academical year are printed in the University Calendar of the current year, which is issued annually at the beginning of April, and is to be obtained (price 4*s.*) of the publishers, Messrs. Taylor and Francis, Red Lion Court, Fleet Street, E.C.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these Conditions of Sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A promissory note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal Receipts, or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

6.—The said promissory notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory for the year 1882-83, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. The public are hereby informed that the opium manufactured at the Patna factory in season 1882-83 consists of opium made at consistences of 73°, 74°, and 75°, and that the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore factory in the same season consists of opium made at consistences of 70°, and 75°. The consistence of the opium which will be sold each month will be mentioned in the sale notification of that month.

19. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

20. It is hereby further notified that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand that out of the quantities of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories declared as above for sale at the twelve sales of the year 1884, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular sale or sales to which the opium so applied for may belong, a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisition specifying the quantity of opium required by them at any particular sale within thirty days from the advertisement of such intended sale: provided, however, that the Agent of the French Government may make such requisition for the whole quantity within thirty days from the publication of this notification. If the Agent of the French Government shall not make the requisition for opium within the time above mentioned, the entire quantity of about 47,550 chests of opium manufactured at the Patna and Ghazeepore factories, as above estimated, will be brought to sale in the usual manner; and if they shall make application for a quantity of opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertised for sale at each or any of the twelve sales above-mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the opium which the French authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the sale next ensuing after the date fixed for payment, or by selling such opium, or any portion of it, at any subsequent monthly sale in addition to the quantity which in this advertisement is approximately mentioned as the quantity to be sold at such sale; or by selling such opium at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Article of the Convention above referred to.

"Article VI.—With regard to the trade in opium, it is agreed between the high contracting parties that at each of the periodical sales of that article there shall be reserved for the French Government, and delivered upon requisition duly made by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty, or by the persons duly appointed by them, the number of chests so applied for, provided that such supply shall not exceed three hundred chests in each year, and the price for the same shall be determined by the average rate at which opium shall have been sold at every such periodical sale, it being understood that if the quantity of opium applied for at any one time shall not be taken on account of the French Government by the Agents of His Most Christian Majesty within the usual period of delivery, the quantity so applied for shall nevertheless be considered as so much in reduction of the three hundred

SUBURBAN WATER-SUPPLY.

The Hon. MR. MACAULAY moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta. He said—"I have been entrusted with the duty of submitting to the Council a Bill to provide for the supply of filtered water within the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta, and I have now the honour to move for leave to introduce such a measure. I need hardly remind the Council that this is not the first occasion on which the subject of the metropolitan water-supply has engaged its attention, and Hon. Members who read their newspapers, though I cannot suppose that they have any very clear idea how matters stand at present, are doubtless aware that, at one stage or another, the question has been before the Corporations of Calcutta and the Suburbs for some years, and that a protracted, if fitful, battle of the schemes has been proceeding in the midst of this peace-loving community. The first chapter of its history,—a history extending over about three years,—was lucidly narrated by my Hon. predecessor, Mr. Mackenzie, in the debate of 2nd April 1881, when Act VI of that session of the Council was passed. The materials for a bulky second, and I hope last, chapter, extending also over about three years, are now available. I do not propose, however, to detain the Council with a review of this mass of fascinating literature, or to describe the circumstances under which the many Municipal Commissioners who have applied their minds to the subject have successively entertained a preference for a masonry conduit, an open cut and an iron main, discussed the merits of cement collar-joints, and weighed the respective advantages of masonry and earthen settling tanks. These monumental records now possess an antiquarian rather than a practical interest, and I may dismiss the historical part of the subject by congratulating the Council that, whereas in 1881 they had to deal with an unsettled question, we are to day in the satisfactory position of dealing with an accomplished fact. In April 1881, the Calcutta Municipality was still pondering the project of a masonry culvert. In December 1883, they have already obtained the sanction of Government to the purchase of a 48-inch iron main, which will provide a daily supply of 12,000,000 of gallons of filtered water, and the materials are, I understand, already on the way from Europe. I think, Sir, that the inhabitants of this great city may be congratulated that at last a really practical step has been taken towards the accomplishment of a measure which is essential to its well-being and salubrity. The youth of the water extension scheme has been one full of pain and peril; it suffered from many virulent attacks, chiefly of talk, which caused grave anxiety to its friends, and at times its condition was most precarious; but I am happy to say that it has at length emerged from this period of trial, and that we shall soon see it flourishing in the healthy and prosperous maturity.

The circumstances under which it has been found necessary to introduce a separate Bill for the regulation of the water-supply in the Suburbs are briefly these. Act VI of 1881 amended section 160 of the Calcutta Municipal Act by authorizing the Local Government to include any portion of the environs of the Town in the Calcutta system of water-supply, the Calcutta Corporation assessing a separate water-rate upon such portion, not exceeding the maximum leviable under the Act, and the Commissioners of the Municipality arranging for the detailed assessment and collection of the rate. The portion thus included would become, for the purposes of the water-supply, a part of Calcutta, and the Corporation of Calcutta would be responsible for supplying it with water like any other part of the Town; and inasmuch as the water-rate in Calcutta, after the extension of the new supply, will be assessed at nearly maximum rates, it would have to supply it on practically similar terms. The Calcutta Municipality was thus to be responsible, not only for bringing the water to the boundary of the affiliated tract, but for distributing the water throughout it. Mr Harrison, in a very able memorandum, dated 31st October 1881, pointed out the objections to the latter portion of this arrangement. I cannot do better than, with the permission of the Council, read portions of Mr. Harrison's Minute. He said:

"In Calcutta the law requires us—(a) 'to cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made or constructed as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets;' (b) for fifteen hours every day, so far as may be reasonably practicable, to 'keep and maintain in the pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than 10 feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers;' (c) and for three hours daily to maintain a pressure

'sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced to a height of not less than 50 feet.' The above are the chief liabilities which we should incur. That marked (c) we are not now able to discharge even in Calcutta, and I will assume that it would be a dead letter in the Suburbs. The liability to raise water 50 feet high in a house in Garden Reach is one which it would not be easy to enforce without a separate pumping station and reservoir for that Suburb only; but take the liability marked (b), that of keeping up 10 feet pressure throughout the day, and see what it involves. We are now only bound to keep up that pressure to the southern edge of Calcutta, but what would become of it by the time it reached Bhowanipore, Alipore, Kidderpore, not to mention Garden Reach! We every night now have to pump water from Tallah into the Wellington Square reservoir; and such is the effect of distance and friction in diminishing pressure, that I am informed that, if we pump through the independent 24-inch main only at the normal velocity, it takes a pressure of 40 feet at Tallah to yield 10 feet pressure at the reservoir. This one fact surely speaks volumes as to the difficulty of supplying the Suburbs to the south of Calcutta. Tallah is about four miles from Wellington Square, and the friction in a 24-inch main is much less at the same velocity than in the smaller distributing pipes which would be necessarily used in the Suburbs. I think I must be well within the mark in saying that Wellington Square would not only require to have its pumping power greatly increased, but also to pump all day at a higher pressure than it now does for five hours only in order to give the required pressure of 10 feet to the Suburbs, and even then it would fail in the more distant places."

"Mr. Harrison came to the conclusion that the community of system and control should terminate with the delivery of the filtered water at Tallah, each municipality sharing in this expenditure in proportion to the water required by it, and then undertaking the responsibility of its own distribution. This view has been accepted by Government, and the Bill, which I hope to have the honour of submitting to the Council, will provide that the Suburban Municipality shall pay the Calcutta Municipality for the water supplied to it, and shall take its own measures for distributing the water. There was, however, a very important point to be settled before legislation could proceed. Could the Suburbs on these terms afford to join in the scheme at all? Was Calcutta to look to such extension as might provide for its own wants only, or was it to make deliberate provision for the wants of the Suburbs also, and in the latter case how was it to be guaranteed against loss? The Suburbs could decide nothing until they should know approximately how much they would have to pay. The Calcutta Commissioners, not knowing what they were going to do for themselves, were naturally unable to say what they could do for any one else. As a contribution to the settlement of the difficulty, Sir Ashley Eden, just before he left the country, with the liberality which always characterised his action in regard to any question of municipal improvement, offered the Suburbs a contribution of Rs. 50,000 in the first year and Rs. 30,000 in each of the succeeding four years, on condition that the distribution works should be commenced by 1st January 1883, and that the Suburban Commissioners would consent to take the water from the Calcutta Municipality at prime cost as determined by arbitration. But at this time the Calcutta scheme was in what may be termed the "open-cut stage;" in fact everything connected with it was open; and so matters dragged on. The Suburban Commissioners could not tell how much water they could afford to take without knowing how much they would have to pay for it; the Calcutta Commissioners would not entertain the question of cost without knowing how much would be required. At length the matter was taken up in earnest by the new Commissioners elected in October 1882, the open cut and masonry culvert were both discarded, and it was decided that the wants of the Town could be fully provided for by a 42 inch iron main, which could produce 8,000,000 gallons a day. If the Suburbs required 2,000,000 a day, a 45-inch main must be laid; if they required 4,000,000 a day, a 48-inch main must be laid, and in either case the additional cost was indicated. Here at length the Suburban Commissioners had a definite issue before them, and they were at once able to say that their resources would not enable them to contract to take more than 2,000,000 gallons a day. They would be very glad if a 48-inch main could be laid, so that hereafter they might be able to take more water; but as this would cost about Rs. 21,000 a year more than the 42-inch, it was out of their power to pay for it, even if Government would consent to keep open Sir Ashley Eden's offer. Now, Sir, Mr. Rivers Thompson considered that this would be a very regrettable conclusion. On the one hand the Calcutta Corporation could not be expected to construct for itself anything more than a 42-inch main, and there was no probability that it would require a further supply within any period to which reasonable anticipation could extend. On the other hand the Suburbs are rapidly increasing in importance, and it would be a grievous pity that they should be indefinitely restricted to a daily supply of 2,000,000 gallons only of filtered water. In these circumstances, Mr. Rivers Thompson determined to come to the assistance of the Suburban Municipality and place them in a position to guarantee the extra cost of providing a 48-inch main, so that they might be able, as their circumstances permitted, to pay for and distribute any quantity up to 4,000,000 gallons a day. He relieved them of police charges, amounting to about Rs. 35,000 a year, on condition that the sum to be paid to the Calcutta Municipality should be the first charge upon the income thus set free. These terms have been accepted, and, as I have said, the 48-inch main has been ordered from England. The Bill will provide for an arrangement such as was contemplated by Sir Ashley Eden when he made his offer of assistance to the Suburban Municipality. The principle upon which the price of the water is to be calculated will be settled between the municipalities, the Suburban Municipality will have power to raise a rate of 6 per cent., and to provide for the details of distribution and the like, and the payment to Calcutta will be the first charge on the net proceeds of the rate. Should any dispute arise regarding the amount claimed, or any other matter connected with the water-supply, it will be settled by three arbitrators—one to be appointed by Government, and one to be appointed by each of the municipalities With these remarks, I have the honour to move for leave to introduce the Bill."

The motion was agreed to.

The HON. THE PRESIDENT, in adjourning the Council, said that in the ordinary course the Council would stand adjourned to Saturday next, the 22nd instant, but owing to there not being sufficient legislative work in hand, and to the approaching holidays, the Council would be adjourned to Saturday, the 5th January next. The interval covered by the postponement would, no doubt, be utilized in advancing the Bills now before Select Committees, in order that, when the Council next met, there might be one or more Bills ready to be dealt with.

STATE AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 18th December 1883.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter No. 1158T—R, dated 13th October 1883, to the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

Circular letter No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October, to all Commissioners of Divisions (except Burdwan).

Replies to the above from the Commissioners of Divisions.

Statistics of Rainfall in the Lower Provinces from May to October 1883.

IN the Rainfall Tables appended to this Resolution are shown the results obtained from the returns which have appeared weekly in the pages of the Calcutta Gazette. They show, first, the distribution of the rainfall resulting from the south-west monsoon of the present year; and secondly, how this distribution has varied from that of previous years. For the purpose in hand, however, it is only necessary to note the most important features of the monsoon, and to draw attention to its results. The returns refer to the period of six months from May to October. In May the principal characteristic was the prevalence of unusually strong south-west winds. Much aqueous vapour was brought up from the Bay, which was not, however, condensed over Lower Bengal, but was carried inland to the Garo and Khasia hills, showers only falling elsewhere Hence the result was excessive rainfall in Eastern and Northern Bengal, normal rainfall in South-West Bengal and Orissa, and deficient rainfall in Behar and Chota Nagpore. Showery weather continued in the early part of June, but the real monsoon rains began about the 13th, and towards the end of the month a cyclone was formed and gave heavy rain to Orissa. On the whole, the monthly rainfall was deficient in Bengal and excessive elsewhere. The July weather was, roughly speaking, not very dissimilar to the normal, except that in the northern districts there was now a decided deficiency. In August there appears to have been a generally feebler monsoon current than is usually the case, and a consequent deficiency in the rainfall, the only exception being Northern Bengal, where the rainfall this month showed a slight excess. September weather was practically a continuation of that of August, with the exception of slight breaks, during which the monsoon current became stronger and the rainfall heavier. The result was that at the end of the month there was again general deficiency of rain in all the districts except Chota Nagpore. The ordinary south-west monsoon rains appear to have ceased about the 29th of September, and though in October two small cyclonic disturbances were formed over the Bay, their influence was very slight.

2. The tables appended to this Resolution show that the importance of any given excess or deficiency is proportional to the average rainfall in the particular district, and the value of these variations is, therefore, shown better by the table of percentage variations (IV) than by that of actual variations. It is of importance, however, to notice that even in these cases any excess observable was due, not to continued steady rain throughout, but rather to exceptionally heavy falls in the early part of the season, which were not entirely counterbalanced by the subsequent drought. If the various Divisions are taken separately, it appears that in Orissa the July rainfall was up to, or exceeded, the average; but that in August and September there was slight, and in October very considerable, deficiency; that in South-West Bengal there was an excess of rainfall only in July, all the other months showing a deficiency; that in Eastern Bengal (with the exception of Mymensingh, where there was drought throughout) the rainfall of the earlier months was irregular, and that of the later months very deficient; that in Northern Bengal, except in the neighbourhood of the hills, there was deficiency throughout; that in Northern Behar the earlier months showed irregular changes, and the later months decided deficiency; that in South Behar, with the exception of June, there was great deficiency; and that in Chota Nagpore there was great deficiency at the close of the period, and partial deficiencies previously. These results are shewn upon charts which have been prepared by the Meteorological Reporter to this Government. The Lieutenant-Governor would have been glad had time permitted of these charts being lithographed and published with this Resolution; for an inspection of them, and a perusal of the correspondence published herewith, would have shewn in a striking manner the intimate relation which exists between deficient rainfall and crop failure. In fact, it may be said that the information supplied to Government by the Meteorological Reporter suggests practically the same conclusions which an examination of the local reports dictates.

3. In consequence of the defective rainfall, the attention of Commissioners was called to the prospects of the country by the circular letter of the 23rd October, which is cited in the preamble, the Commissioner of Burdwan having been previously specially addressed regarding the condition of the crops in parts of Hooghly. In that letter it was stated that the early cessation of the autumnal rains seemed to have had generally an injurious effect on the winter crops; that there were grounds for fearing that a continuance of dry weather might also affect the rubbee sowings injuriously. Reports on the state of the last autumn and on the prospects of the coming winter and spring crops were called for, and information on the general condition of the stocks and prices was also required from each district. There has been delay in the submission of some of the divisional reports, the last having reached Government on the 11th instant. This delay, however, is not without some counterbalancing advantage, in the fact that the reports bring down the information on the state of portions of the country to a very recent date. The Lieutenant-Governor will now separately consider these reports, which are published in extenso as an appendix to the Resolution.

4. Presidency Division.—The report submitted by the Commissioner states the facts as they existed in the beginning of November. The general conclusion Mr. Monro comes to is that, while there will be in some districts scarcity and pinching, there will not, as far as he could perceive, be any pressure as regards food amounting to famine, and such pinching as may ensue will be experienced chiefly among the labouring classes. Judging from the detailed information furnished by the local officers, the Lieutenant-Governor at present sees no ground for thinking that in the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Moorshedabad, Khulna and Jessore, the scarcity will be such as to call for any interference on the part of Government. In the remaining district of Nuddea, the tenantry in certain portions of which are in a somewhat depressed condition owing to the prevalence of epidemic fever and other causes, the outlook is less satisfactory. But even here the facts do not warrant an apprehension of famine, though some contributions from Provincial to Local Funds, for expenditure on district roads, may possibly be needed hereafter. The rain which has fallen since the submission of the Commissioner's report is stated to have done good to the cold-weather crops, some inconsiderable injury having, however, resulted therefrom to the amun crop which had been cut. With a view to Government being kept informed of the progress of events, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to receive copies of the bi-monthly reports which the Commissioner has called for, with such recommendations as he may desire to submit.

5. Burdwan Division.—The Commissioner, reporting on the 12th of November, gives it as his general impression that the division as a whole will not require any general measures of relief, though perhaps some slight assistance may be necessary here and there. Examining the detailed local information, the Lieutenant-Governor finds that in Hooghly, where much good has been done by irrigation from the Eden Canal, the crops are not so bad as had been at first reported, while the stocks of rice throughout the district, both in the hands of zemindars and ryots, are at present very large. The same remarks may be said to apply generally to Howrah. The late rain has also improved the prospects of sugarcane, potatoes and the winter crops, and, as in both these districts crops other than rice are largely grown, a failure in that crop is not so severely felt as in other districts. It may be concluded, therefore, that the condition of neither district affords cause for anxiety.

In Burdwan it may also be stated that much good to the crops has resulted from irrigation from the Eden Canal and from tanks, while the late rains are reported to have greatly benefited the cold-weather crops. The late Collector, Mr. Larminie, while thinking that the labouring classes, and in some villages the ryots, will suffer pressure, does not consider that there will be any need for direct interference on the part of Government. In this view the Lieutenant-Governor, with the information before him, concurs.

The Commissioner, Mr. Beames, writing from Midnapore on the 12th November, stated as follows:—"I have been over a considerable tract of country in Midnapore, and have received verbal reports from several of the officers in charge of the canals and wards' estates in the interior. There will be a deficient crop in some parts, while in others it will, thanks to irrigation, be an average one. The low-lying deltaic portions of this district, which in years of ordinary rainfall are liable to suffer from floods and accumulation of rain water inside the intricate net-work of embankments with which the country is intersected in all directions, will, it is hoped, have a very fair outturn this year." In an unofficial letter of a later date, Mr. Beames also expresses his belief that there is no cause for anxiety regarding the Midnapore district. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the Commissioner's view.

As regards Bancoorah, the Commissioner, reporting on October 24th, observed that the crops had been largely irrigated from reservoirs, while rain which had fallen in the north and west of the district on the 15th idem had also greatly benefited them. The Collector then hoped for a 10-anna crop. Writing later, the Commissioner reported that the crops had turned out better than had been expected, and that the Collector thought no aid from Government would be needed. Inasmuch as the late rains have extended to this district, the Lieutenant-Governor considers its condition satisfactory.

With respect to the remaining district of this division—Beerbhoom—the Commissioner, who in October considered prospects there rather gloomy, reported on the 12th November that the district would have from a 4 to an 8-anna crop of amun, the aus having been up to the average. In a later unofficial report of the 18th November, Mr. Beames, qualifying his previous views, stated that the condition of the crops was better than previously believed, and that the outturn would be up to an all-round average of 8 annas. The only portion of the district in which scarcity needing the attention of Government was apprehended was in the tract skirting the Sonthal hills and inhabited by Sonthals. In this tract, in the best of years, the crops are precarious; and further special enquiries as to the state and prospects of the locality are being made. The Lieutenant-Governor will await the Commissioner's report on this point.

6. Dacca and Chittagong Divisions.—The reports from the Dacca Division show that, while short crops may be expected in certain portions of the division, the general outturn will be fair. From Chittagong the reports are more satisfactory, the Commissioner stating that the outturn of the aus was generally fair, while the early cessation of the autumnal rains had not generally affected the crops in the various parts of the division. From these statements the Lieutenant-Governor anticipates that the usual export of rice from the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions will suffer no great diminution.

7. Orissa Division.—Regarding the state and prospects of the crops in the Orissa Division, the Commissioner submits the following report, which satisfies the Lieutenant-Governor, not only that no difficulty will be experienced in Orissa itself, but that the province will be in a position to export largely:—

"The Collector of Pooree has not yet given any detailed report on the state of the crops in his district, but assures me that the main crop of rice is safe in consequence of the late rain, and that a fairly good average outturn may be expected. He adds that no famine or scarcity need be apprehended.

"The Collector of Cuttack reports that the only crop which suffered from want of rain was the sarad or chief rice crop, but that there has been no serious failure. Taking the bialí and sarad together, the outturn will be, the Collector says, about 10 annas, or two annas less than an average crop. The prospects of the rubbee crop are reported to be favourable.

"The Collector of Balasore reports that in the southern part of the district there has been a full crop, but that outturn falls off gradually towards the north, and is worse in a tract called Bograi, which suffered from an inundation of the Subhanreka. Even there, however, there is no reason for alarm. The prospects of the rubbee crop are good; there is a larger demand for labour on account of the coast canal works, and there is a considerable stock of grain in the district.

"It is to be remembered that during the last three years there have been almost bumper crops in the greater part of the Orissa Division, and a large portion of these is doubtless still in the hands of the merchants.

"The range of prices during the coming year cannot be estimated even approximately. It must depend to a great extent on the demand for rice elsewhere.

"There is not, in my opinion, any present cause for anxiety in regard to the Orissa Division, and I do not think any special precautionary measures are now necessary."

8. Chota Nagpore Division.—The Commissioner's report, which deals in some detail with the various districts of his division, shows that, although in a few localities the crops may be short, there is nowhere any apprehension of scarcity, while generally throughout the division a fair outturn may be looked for. A great portion of the division was fortunate in an opportune fall of rain in the commencement of November, whereby the rice crop was benefited and rubbee sowings facilitated. Recent reports show, moreover, that the late rains have extended to the division to the great advantage of the rubbee crop; while the outturn of the winter rice is reported to give two-thirds of an average crop in Lohardugga, nearly an average crop in Singbhoom, from two-thirds to an average in some portions of Manbhoom, and a full average in others. From these reports the Lieutenant-Governor concludes that no difficulty need be apprehended in the Chota Nagpore Division.

9. Rajshahye Division.—In regard to Dinagepore, the Commissioner states that the prospect does not seem bad as a whole, and he thinks that the railway works in progress, and some expansion of district road and wards' estate work, will supply ample employment for labour throughout the district. The Collector takes a somewhat more gloomy view of the state of things, but even he does not anticipate any distress before March, and then only among a limited class of the population. During his recent tour in Northern Bengal, the Lieutenant-Governor made personal enquiries into the state of the crops in Dinagepore and the information he then received from well-informed sources did not lead him to apprehend anything like distress in that district. He desires, however, that fortnightly reports of the state of the district may be submitted to Government.

The Collector of Rajshahye, though reporting that on the whole he sees no reason for anxiety as to the supply of grain in the district during the coming year, fears that the inhabitants of the Bhurind may suffer some distress. The Bhurind is a tract of country about 350 square miles in extent, half unreclaimed, occupied by low-caste dhangurs who readily take to spade labour. For these ample employment will be provided on the western extension of the Dinagepore Railway, and the district officer should see that information as to employment being there procurable is made known in the tract in question.

In Pubna the Commissioner reports that things seem to be better than in either Dinagepore or Rajshahye, and as the Collector states that for the whole district the amun will be about an eight-anna crop, while the prospects of the winter crops owing to the recent rains are fair, it may be concluded that no difficulty will arise needing Government interference in this district.

In Julpigori the amun crop, according to the Deputy Commissioner, will be "the usual full crop," while the winter crops at present promise well. The condition of the Darjeeling district also is satisfactory.

There remain the districts of Bogra and Rungpore, in portions of which prospects are decidedly less satisfactory than in other districts of the division. The localities, however, in which the crops are reported to have failed to a considerable extent are limited in area, and to them special attention is being paid. Looking to the fact, however, that the rainfall this year has been better in the worst locality than it was in 1873, and that in the latter year there would have been no pressure in Bogra had the district stocks not been depleted by outside demand, the Lieutenant-Governor still hopes that both districts will escape any very considerable pressure during the coming year. Prospects, it may be added, have also been improved in these districts, as in the other parts of the division, by the late rain, which is reported to have done much good to the rubbee crops.

10. Bhagulpore Division.—In the Bhagulpore district the bhadoi crop, which gives ordinarily from 25 to 30 per cent. of the food-supply, was not far short of the average anywhere except in the Sudder sub-division, where it is reported to have been two-thirds of an average crop. The aghani rice is estimated to yield something over a half average in the Sudder and Mudhepurah sub-divisions, and half an average in the rest of the district. The rubbee promises at present to be half an average crop over the entire district, but with winter showers the prospects of this crop must greatly improve; and there has actually been some rainfall since the date of the Commissioner's report. In forecasting the future, the Collector says he does not anticipate serious distress anywhere, although he believes that in certain portions of the district the labouring classes and cultivators will undoubtedly suffer privation after January, when the price of rice may rise to 11 seers for the rupee. The Commissioner, while concurring generally with the Collector, thinks it possible that the Banka sub-division may feel greater pinching than other portions of the district. In regard to this sub-division further enquiries are being made, and the results of these should be reported to Government. Should any pressure and demand for employment arise in the district, however, there will be, in the extension of the Assam-Behar Railway, which has been sanctioned by the Secretary of State, a source of employment open to those who need it. But on the whole the circumstances of this district do not at present give the Lieutenant-Governor cause for any serious anxiety.

Purneah.—The condition of the district is fairly satisfactory. The Collector reports that the bhadoi crop was "a very fair one over the whole district;" that not much damage was done to the aghani rice crop over an area equal to half of the district, while there will be very few places, except parts of thanas Gundwara and Dhurumpore, where half a crop will not be realized; and that, if there be seasonable rains about Christmas, there will be a fair rubbee crop throughout the district." Upon these facts, there are, in the Lieutenant-Governor's judgment, no grounds for any anxiety regarding the Purneah district.

From Maldah the reports show that the bhadoi crop, which forms one-fourth of the district food-supply taken as a whole, was this year above the average. The aghani rice is estimated generally at 4 annas of an average crop, while the Collector, writing on 13th November, thought that without rain the prospects of the rubbee were gloomy. Generally speaking the Collector was of opinion that the inhabitants of the Bhurind (which cover a portion of the Maldah as well as of the Rajshahye districts) would suffer pressure, and that some assistance may be needed there. The Commissioner, however, is not satisfied as to the correctness of the Collector's views and has called for fuller information. The Lieutenant-Governor will await the further report promised by him. Meanwhile, it is well that attention should be drawn to the fact that the inhabitants of the "Bhurind" are to a large extent aborigines of Santhal origin, and that for men of that class the railway works in the adjacent district of Purneah will afford remunerative occupation. The Lieutenant-Governor also desires to note the fact reported in the Famine correspondence in 1874, that the spring (boro) and autumn (bhadoi) rice crops seem usually to be largely retained for home consumption in this district; that the failure in this year's crops is not so great as was reported in 1873; and that in 1874 the Maldah district suffered more from high prices consequent on the depletion of stocks by outside demand than from any other cause. There are no reasons to anticipate that during the coming year prices will range so high as they did in 1874. The rubbee crops have been benefited by a recent fall of rain.

From the Santhal Pergunnahs the reports, though somewhat defective, seem to show that the last bhadoi crop was inferior in the Doomka and Pakour sub-divisions, though not far short of the average elsewhere. The aghani rice is estimated as close on an average crop in Deoghur, and at two-thirds of an average crop elsewhere, except in the Rajmehal sub-division, where it is stated to be half the average. The prospects of the rubbee were gloomy last month, but the recent rains must have materially improved them. The Commissioner does not think, judging from the high prices which prevailed last year, that the stocks in hand can be large; but he anticipates no difficulty, except possibly in the Rajmehal sub-division, which includes the Damin-i-koh. In regard to that tract further enquiries are being made, and the result of these the Lieutenant-Governor will await.

From the Monghyr district the Collector reports that in the Sudder and Jamui sub-divisions the bhadoi was a ten-anna, and in Begusarai an 8-anna crop (the average crop in such estimates being represented by 12 annas). The estimated outturn of the aghani rice is given at 5 annas, but no forecast is furnished of the prospects of the rubbee, though the remark is made that with rain it may yield from 8 to 10 annas. Some estimates of stocks in hand and of the probable outturn of the year's crops are given by the Collector. These estimates, however, tested by such information as the Government possesses on this difficult question, do not seem to the Lieutenant-Governor to call for serious notice. On the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor would say that, as far as a judgment can now be formed, there is no ground for any special anxiety on account of this district.

11. Patna Division.—The accounts from this division are recent, and enable the Government to form a fairly accurate conception of the situation as it exists at present. It is generally admitted that the fall of winter rain will improve the condition of things greatly. With regard, first, to the districts south of the Ganges, it may be stated generally that no cause for anxiety exists as to Shahabad. The bhadoi crop, indeed, was short, but it forms an inconsiderable proportion of the district food-supply, the bulk of which consists of winter rice. The outturn of this crop in the Sudder and Sasseram sub-divisions is estimated at 8 annas, or two-thirds of the average; and although the reports from Bhabuah represented what was tantamount to a total failure of the rice crop in that sub-division, the Collector's personal investigations have satisfied him that one-third of an average crop may fairly be expected there. It may be added that Mr. Macpherson, who has been prosecuting careful enquiries into the state of that part of the Shahabad District, takes an even brighter view of things. Finally, there seem to be ample stocks in the district; the price of wheat rules low, though rice is dear; the prospects of the rubbee crops are at present favourable, and if rain fall in due course a full crop may be secured.

From Gya the Collector sends a gloomy account. The portion of the district regarding which he is more seriously concerned is the extensive rice tract to the north; but in regard to this the Sub-Divisional Officer takes a brighter view of the prospects than the Collector, who has only recently joined the district. There is a good deal of irrigation done in Gya, both from the Sone Canal system and from wells and reservoirs; and it is to be remembered that where the people admit a 4-anna crop, it is very safe to rate the outturn at a higher proportion.

From Patna also the accounts are not very encouraging; but the Lieutenant-Governor does not forget that with as scanty a rainfall in 1873 there was no scarcity whatever in Patna. A very considerable portion of the district is inundated, the consequence being that there is always a fair rubbee crop. This year it is admitted that the rubbee has germinated fairly well, and with seasonable rainfall a good harvest may, it is stated, be looked for. No apprehensions are entertained of any immediate rise in prices, nor of any further rise unless the rubbee "totally or materially fails." On the whole, it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that the Patna district will be well able to tide over the coming year.

Passing to the districts north of the Ganges, the Lieutenant-Governor notices that in Sarun the bhadoi crop, which seems to be the most extensive food crop grown in the district, was, if not an average crop, very near the average. The rubbee promises, with seasonable rain, to be fairly good; but the winter rice is reported to have largely failed. The Collector does not think this crop can be estimated at more than a 2-anna crop. Looking to the fact, however, that considerable use has been made of the Sarun Canals, which run from the north to the south of the district, there are some grounds for thinking that the Collector may, as time goes on, find reason to take a more favourable view even of the winter rice crop. Meanwhile, it is satisfactory to know that the stocks in hand are probably large, and that, although the price of rice has risen, that of other edible grains is still moderate. From the state of the market no scarcity, amounting to distress, is to be at present apprehended in this district.

From Durbhunga the Collector reports that the last bhadoi was a poor one, not exceeding, on the whole, a 7-anna crop. The outturn of the winter rice is estimated as a 6-anna crop for the entire district, the crop in the Modhubani sub-division, which is a great rice-producing tract, being estimated at 8 annas of an average crop. The Lieutenant-Governor has, however, been informed (though the statement needs confirmation) that the rice crop in North-East Modhubani is very good; and if this be true, it may be safely stated that there will be no scarcity of food in the district during the coming year, unless stocks are exported When it is added that "the rubbee is still looking good everywhere, particularly in the Tajpore sub-division, in spite of the want of rain," and that in the extension of the Behar-Assam Railway towards the Purneah boundary there will be ample employment, it may, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, be fairly concluded that there are no grounds for present anxiety in regard to the district.

With reference to the Mozufferpore district, correspondence has already passed between the Government and the Local Officers. A portion of the district towards the north suffered seriously from inundations in August last, and accounts of a somewhat serious character regarding the distressed condition of the people in the affected tracts were forwarded to Government On full enquiry, however, by the Collector and the experienced Commissioner of the Division, Mr. Halliday, it turned out that the prospects were not so gloomy as had been at first apprehended, and all that it was ultimately found necessary to do was to make a small grant-in-aid of local funds for the construction of a much needed road, which will serve as a means of communication with, and a protective embankment to, the tract in question, which has suffered more or less from inundation every year.

Writing quite recently on the general condition of his district, in which it is estimated there has been only a 7-anna bhadoi and a 4-anna aghani rice crop, the Collector states. "No deficiency in supplies has occurred anywhere. Should there be rain within the next few weeks, a moderate outturn of rubbee may be expected, and in this case there are no grounds for anticipating any actual deficiency on the supply of food." Should the rubbee fail, however, Mr. Norman anticipates scarcity more or less severe. The Commissioner does not share these apprehensions, and the Lieutenant-Governor is bound to say, having regard to the character of previous local reports, on which presumably the Collector bases his opinion, that he agrees with the Commissioner. It is desirable, however, that the condition of the Mozufferpore district be watched, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad if the Commissioner will take an early opportunity of visiting it, and, in communication with the Collector, reporting the result of his observations.

Regarding Chumparun, which it is stated has had about three fourths of an average bhadoi crop, and about two-fifths of an average rice crop, the Collector reports that with seasonable rain there will be an average rubbee outturn. "Though the outlook," writes Mr. Henry, "is on the whole gloomy, the condition of the people of the Chumparun district does not afford any immediate cause for anxiety. We can only now look forward hopefully to the fall of seasonable winter rain. If this fails us, the condition of the poorest classes of the people will require careful watching, and the direct intervention of the Government will be required to a greater or less extent." Mr. Rivers Thompson hopes, however, that the downward tendency of prices, which the Collector already notices, may indicate the revival of confidence among the people themselves.

12. The preceding observations give a general idea of the state of the country as reported in the appended correspondence. The impression which a perusal of this correspondence has produced on the Lieutenant-Governor's mind is that, although the monsoon has been deficient over the greater portion of the Lower Provinces, there is no reason, with a moderate rubbee harvest, to anticipate anything like general scarcity. The local reports estimate the outturn of the late rice crop in many cases at a very low figure, but it must be borne in mind that these quantified estimates of crops, based to a large extent on information received from cultivators and police officers of the inferior grades, usually understate the real outturn, and there is reason to think that the present estimates have been in some measure influenced by the same tendency to exaggerate failure. Prices may rule high in particular districts, and in a few isolated localities in North-East Bengal, and possibly also in a few portions of Behar, it may be necessary to offer employment to the poorest classes of the population. But such employment would even if there were no deficiency in the crops, be open to some extent on the lines of Railway in progress, and on those which it was intended to undertake. If additional works are to be undertaken, there will apparently be no need that they should be of greater magnitude than can be provided for by local resources, supplemented in some cases by moderate grants from Provincial funds. In conclusion the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that nothing in the nature of charitable relief will be found necessary in any district of Bengal.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MACDONNELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 1158T—R, dated Darjeeling, the 13th October 1883.

From—A. P. MacDonnell, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department,

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

The Lieutenant-Governor's attention having been attracted to the scanty rainfall in the Hooghly district, particularly in the Serampore sub-division, I am to request that you will be good enough, after due enquiry, to submit to Government a special report on the condition and prospects of the crops there, and in any other portions of your division, where the year's rainfall has been insufficient.

I am to request that you will submit your report with as little delay as possible.

Circular No. 9T—R, dated Darjeeling, the 23rd October 1883.

From—A. P. MacDonnell, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Department,

To—All Commissioners of Divisions (except the Commissioner of Burdwan).

I am desired by the Lieutenant-Governor to call your attention to the state of the crops in your Division. The apparently early cessation of the autumnal rains seems to have generally had an injurious effect on the winter or khurreef crops, and there are some grounds for fearing that the dry weather may, if it lasts, affect, also injuriously, the rubbee sowings. It is possible that timely rain may still remove all cause for anxiety; but if such rain does not fall before you are satisfied that the north-east monsoon has become established, or at any rate, before the end of the first week of November, you are requested to submit to Government, with as little delay as possible, a full account of the state and prospects of the last bhadoi and of the coming khurreef and rubbee crops in each district of your Division. Your report should consider the amount of grain stocks in hand in each district, and the probable range of prices of food during the coming year. For those districts in which prospects may not be bad, the information need not be detailed; for them a general statement is all that is needed. I am to add that your report should reach the Government before the end of November at the latest.

No. 78T, dated Camp Bankoora, the 24th October 1883.

From—J. Beames, Esq, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

In reply to your No. 1158T—R, dated 13th October 1883, I have the honour to submit the following information regarding the state of the crops and prospect of harvest in this division.

2. I have already given a general idea of the state of things in my demi-official letter of the 18th instant. Since that date the Collector of Burdwan reports that there has been hardly any rain in that district for some time past, nor does there seem any sign of any. Prospects are worst in the Cutwa sub-division which has had inferior harvests for the last two years. In Culna matters are more promising, and there is likely in case to be a 6-anna crop. In the Sudder and Raneegunge sub-divisions the fields are in most cases dry, and unless rain falls there will be a very poor outturn. The Collector is using his influence with the zemindars to induce them to allow of irrigation from tanks which are numerous and of large size. A considerable portion of the crop may be saved by this means.

3. In Beerbhoom irrigation from tanks is being resorted to. There has been very little rain during the present month, and the prospects are rather gloomy.

4. In Bankoora, where I am at present staying, storage of water in large reservoirs locally known as "bundhs" is facilitated by the undulating character of the country. The crop has been largely irrigated from these reservoirs, and this has to some extent compensated for the want of rain. In those parts which I have visited the crop is still looking healthy, and it is only on the higher lands which cannot be reached by irrigation that it is drying up. Heavy rain fell in the north and west of the district on the 15th, and the reports since received show that the crop has greatly benefited. In many places the Collector still hopes for a 10-anna crop: and does not now think 9 annas a too sanguine estimate for the district in general.

5. Both in Burdwan and Bankoora the Collectors report that stocks of grain appear to be plentiful, except perhaps in Cutwa. Purchases for export have been made in Bankoora and Sonamookhi towns lately to a considerable extent, and this while it has caused some rise in prices seems to confirm the reports of the local officers as to the existence of large stocks in those place.

6. Regarding Midnapore, Mr. Wilson informs me demi-officially that rain seems to be impending. If there is anything like a fair amount of rain there will be a fairly good outturn, but if there is no rain I fear the crop, especially on the high lands of the north and west, will be very poor indeed.

7. In Hooghly there was a fall of over two inches during the week ending 20th October 1883, and this must have very much improved the prospects of the crops in the Sudder sub-division and in parts of Serampore. Arrangements have been made for irrigation from the Kanna Nudi and Kanna Damoodar rivers which are supplied from the Eden Canal, but I fear the supply from this source will not be very large. The Collector promises, a further report shortly. Such a great variety of crops is grown in the Hooghly district that even the total failure of the amun rice crop would not result in such general distress as would be the case in other districts.

8. Further reports will be submitted as they come in from the Collectors; at present I consider that though there is some cause for anxiety the situation is very far from being hopeless. Any fall of rain within the next ten days would effect a very great improvement everywhere in the division.

No. 857G, dated Bankipore, the 29th October 1883.

From—O. T. METCALFE, Esq., C.S.I., Officiating Commissioner of the Patna Divn.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to Government circular order No. 91—R, dated 23rd instant, I have the honour to submit as a preliminary report a statement giving a summary of the state of the prospects of the crops in the Patna Division for the week ending 27th October 1883.

A further and fuller report will be submitted on receipt of the district reports.

Return showing rainfall, character of weather, and prospects of the crops in the Patna Division for the week ending 27th October 1883.

Patna ...	.....		.....	Not yet received.

	Bhubooah	1 2
	Sasseram not received.
Gya ...	Sudder	0·52	Set fair, cool ...	The rice crop will be very bad. The late slight rain has done rice very little good, but has somewhat improved rubbee prospects. Prices rising.

	Jehanabad	0 82
Muzufferpore...	Muzufferpore	0·08	Weather bright and rainless There has been no rain except a slight drizzle on the 20th.	The rice on high land has withered and in some place is being cut as fodder; that on low ground is better; the crop will not exceed five annas. Rubbee sowings are in progress.

Durbhunga ...		18	Getting cool and pleasant.	The rice crops is irretrievably damaged throughout the district, and under no circumstances will it be more than an eight anna crop. Rubbee cultivation is progressing, but not under the most favourable circumstance. Prices of food grains are steadily rising.
Saran ...	Chupra	·36	Weather dry; days hot; night cool; no sign of rain.	Rain most urgently wanted; paddy crops suffering (except where irrigation is practicable), and rubbee sowings delayed for want of rain. It is doubtful whether a heavy fall would now be of much use to the paddy crop. Prospects bad; prices rising.
	Sewan	0·06
	Gopalgunge	Nil
Chumparun ...		Nil	Seasonable ...	Prospects of all standing crops bad. No rain has fallen since the beginning of September. If rain falls within a month, the country will be covered with rubbee. If no rain falls most of the rubbee that has already germinated will die off.
				Generally the condition of the crops causes grave anxiety.

C. T. METCALFE,

Offg. Commissioner.

No. 1419, dated Hooghly, the 3rd November 1883.

Memo. by F. WYER, Esq., Collector of Hooghly.

Copy forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

No. 1418, dated Hooghly, the 3rd November 1883.

From—F. WYER, Esq., Collector of Hooghly,
To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

As directed in your memorandum No. CV, dated the 17th ultimo, forwarding copy of Government letter No. 1158T—R of the 13th idem, I have the honour to submit the following report on the condition and prospects of the crops in this district, particularly in the Serampore sub-division.

1. On hearing from Mr. Collier of the great want of rain in Serampore sub-division, I wrote to the Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle, asking him to aid the ryots by allowing cross dams to be put up and by increasing the water, if possible, in the Eden canal. He gave the required permission to the erection of the cross dams, and has sent more water down the canal, so as to save a good deal of the crops in Harripal and Singoor.

2. On the 20th and 23rd ultimo I went with Collier over Singoor and Harripal thanas, and from what I saw I agree with his estimate of the amun crop in these places; if anything I think the estimate is somewhat too high; but in thana Singoor for every beegha under amun cultivation there are about two beeghas under potato, and in Harripal the proportion is about 3 to 1; so that even with the gloomy prospects of amun, if the potato crop turns out well the people will not be very badly off. If rain falls within the next fortnight the potato crop may turn out a good one, unless there is no water for irrigating it; but this is not likely to happen.

3. The sugarcane crop at present has not suffered so much as the amun; this is owing to the fact that the ryots always irrigate their crop and plant it where water for irrigation is generally accessible. Where no water could be procured the crop has failed; but this is only in a few places: Mr. Collier's estimate of a 10-anna crop may be accepted.

4. Taking into consideration the fact that the ryots have had a fair average aus crop—though this is grown over a very small area compared with the amun—and that the sugarcane promises pretty fairly, while, if there is rain shortly, the potato crop may turn out well, and remembering that plaintains and vegetables are grown to a very large extent in Serampore sub-division for the Calcutta market, I do not think there will be any very great scarcity in this sub-division, or any relief measures will be called for. In case, however, any relief measure was required, I think that ample work would be provided along the Tarkessur Railway, which runs through the sub-division, and that thus it is not necessary to provide for relief works in this sub-division. I enclose a copy of Mr. Collier's report, from which you will see that he has himself been over the whole of his sub-division, and most carefully noted the state of the crops in it. I have not been over Chanditolla and Kristonagur thanas, but Mr. Collier's report gives all the information required.

5. In the sudder sub-division I have been through Polba, Hooghly, Bullaghur, and Pandooah thanas, and from what I saw I think the outturn of amun in those thanas may be half an average one if on the outside, and probably will be only one-third. If, however, rain fell within the next five or six days, I think a 6-anna crop would be assured, and in some places an 8-anna one. As instances in Dwarbasiny and Mahanad for the first four miles along the road from Pandooah to Inchura the rice crop promises very fairly, but for the last six miles it is almost a total failure, as, too, is the case along the high ridge of land along the road from Inchura to Tribeni. The early amun wherever it had not been drowned in the early rain, and the late amun wherever there was water for irrigation, will most likely yield from a 6 to 8-anna crop. The sugarcane is pretty good; what the rubbi will turn out depends on there being rain within the next eight or ten days. At present the land is generally too hard for ploughing, and unless rain comes it cannot be cultivated.

6. Though I have no doubt there will be some scarcity in the sudder sub-division, yet the scarcity will not be very pressing from the enquiries I made; while in the interior I have no doubt but the stock of rice throughout the district, both in the hands of the zemindars and ryots, is at present very large. There have been very fair crops for the last three years, and people have been holding back their rice with the hope of better prices, so much so that ryots who used formerly, as a matter of course, to take advances from their zemindars in dhan have taken none for the last two or three years.

7. In Jehanabad sub-division the sub-divisional officer reports that the prospects of the crops are most gloomy; what outturn there is will be due to irrigation. The excessive rains in the beginning of the year inundated the amun where it was first sown and transplanted, and so destroyed the crop: he estimates the outturn for Goghat thana at 6 annas, and for Kanacool and Jehanabad 4 annas.

8. The early cessation of the rains in this sub-division has greatly retarded the cultivation of the cold-weather crops, and the sub-divisional officer is afraid that subsequent rains may injure the crops which are now being sown by means of irrigation. He says that if rain were delayed beyond a week it would be of no service to the amun crop.

9. The price of rice has risen within the last ten days in Jehanabad; it has exactly doubled, being Rs. 1-5 a maund ten days ago, and Rs. 2-10 at present. At Serampore it has increased from Rs. 2-4 to Rs. 2-8 a maund, and at head-quarters from Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 3-4.

10. I do not think, however, that any aid will be required even in this sub-division. The store of rice is, as I observed in my 6th paragraph, large. The following is the opinion of the sub-divisional officer, which, from his intimate knowledge of the sub-division, is entitled to the greatest weight:—"This sub-division, as you are well aware, is mostly inhabited by people in poor circumstances, and I am not prepared to say that their condition is prosperous. Almost all the persons in this sub-division follow agriculture, and when the rice crop fails, the people, as a matter of course, suffer. The condition of the aboriginal class of men such as Haris, Bagdis, Doalays, Domes, &c., and that of the higher castes in poor circumstances is of a nature which might arouse anxiety in the mind of a keen observer; but on the whole it appears to me that the sub-division will of itself be able to tide over the emergency without any extraneous aid."

11. I find I have omitted to say that there was a very fair aus crop, and this, though only about one-eighth of the amun crop of the whole district, will be a great help to the people this year.

12. I send a copy of this letter direct to Government to save time. I had to delay its submission owing to Mr. Collier, from illness, being unable to send me his report before the 1st instant.

No. 436, dated Serampore, the 31st October 1883.

From—F. R. S Collier, Esq., Sub-divisional officer of Serampore,
To—The Collector of Hooghly.

I have the honour to submit the report called for on the state of the crops in this sub-division.

2. The only crops of any importance now growing are amun rice and sugarcane. Potatoes are only just being planted. Hardly any other cold-weather crops have been sown yet, except a little kalay. The other cold-weather crops in this sub-division are not of much importance, and may be left out of consideration altogether. Their prospects will depend to some extent upon the amount of rain which falls in the cold weather. Unless an unusually large amount of rain falls, they will certainly be short. However, they are not of much consequence one way or the other.

3. The circumstances of this sub-division, with reference to its crops, are somewhat peculiar. The soil of a large portion of it is exceptionally well adapted for the cultivation of sugarcane, potatoes, and plantains, while its proximity to Calcutta ensures a good market being available for these productions. The principal crops are therefore amun and aus rice, sugarcane, jute, potatoes, and plantains. I have placed them in the order of their relative importance. It will be as well perhaps to give some particulars with regard to the outturn of these crops, as you will then be in a better position to judge of the amount of distress which the comparative failure of the amun crop is likely to cause.

4. The aus crop was on the whole a good one, and may be put down as a 14-anna crop. The jute crop was also a good one, at least 14 annas—and the prices of jute have ruled unusually high. The plantain crop is not one which varies much as a rule, and it has been quite up to the average. In most districts it would be absurd to mention it as one of the important crops. You are well aware, however, how important it is here.

5. Until now therefore the ryots have had nothing to complain of. They have had a more than average aus crop and a good jute crop. They have also, I may add, been exceptionally fortunate in having excellent crops of almost every kind during the last two years. The amun crop now on the ground must, as you are already aware, be a very short one. It is much better in some parts of the sub-division than in others. There is no doubt, however, that on the whole the outturn must fall considerably below the average. I think that from my own personal inspections of the crops I shall be able to give a fairly correct estimate of the outturn for each thana, and also for the whole sub-division.

6. Besides seeing a large amount of the crops in each thana personally I wrote (on receipt of the orders of Government calling for the report) to the principal zemindars in the sub-division asking them for reports on the subject. I also deputed the canoongoe to make a tour all round the sub-division, and to submit a report on the prospects of the crops. The divisional police inspector who was on tour was also requested to submit a similar report.

7. The only zemindar who has submitted his report in time is Baboo Peary Mohun Mookerjee. He takes a somewhat gloomy view of things. With regard to the amun crop he says:—"We shall have barely a 4-anna crop. The crops on the low lands only will be preserved. There is no more hope for those on the high lands. Very great distress is apprehended." With regard to the sugarcane crop he says:—"I apprehend that we shall get barely an 8-anna of this paying crop. The loss to the ryots will be heavy, as the costs of cultivation have been mostly already incurred."

8. Baboo Prosanno Kumar Chukervarti, the sub-divisional canoongoe, is not much more hopeful. He estimates the outturn in Chanditolla at four annas, in Kristonagur at ten annas, in Harripal at four annas, and in Singoor and Serampore at two or three annas. He states that in his opinion "it may probably be feared that, owing to the shortness and early cessation of the rains, there will be a general scarcity throughout this sub-division, or of worse evils in some parts of it." I do not agree either with his estimates or with the conclusions which he draws from them. His estimate of the crop in Chanditolla is absurdly low, while that for Kristonagur is too high. The only one which is nearly correct is that for Harripal.

9. Baboo Ishur Chunder Chatterjee, the sub-divisional inspector of police, says:—"I have travelled through almost every part of the sub-division and found that the crops have suffered everywhere very badly from drought. Heavy rain is wanted throughout. The average outturn of paddy crop can hardly be expected to exceed four annas." He also remarks as follows:—"The agricultural population have become disheartened and melancholy. The expected appearance of famine is the common topic now. The gradual rising of the price of rice is looked upon as an unfavourable omen. The people in general have become greatly terrified, so much so that those who have means are gathering rice from this time. The precautionary steps on the part of the better-off class to save their families from starvation at the time of scarcity have increased the prices of rice considerably."

10. The inspector thinks the crops bad everywhere, except in Chanditolla. He does not think that there will be more than a 4-anna crop even in Kristonagur, which is certainly better off than the other remaining thanas. He appears to anticipate a great rise in prices, considerable distress, and even something like a famine. I cannot myself at present see any valid grounds for such gloomy forebodings.

11. Up to the middle of August the state and prospects of the amun crop were good. There had been the usual complaints of too little water at one time and too much at another. The plants were not planted until late in many places owing to want of water. In others they suffered from floods owing to the heavy rain which fell at the end of July. But when I was out in camp towards the end of August, and rode nearly all over the sub-division, I noticed that all the crops were looking well everywhere. On the 22nd August I rode through Sheakala to Deorhata with the District Superintendent, thus seeing the crops of some 20 miles of country. I noticed in my diary that "the crops of every kind are looking well, though some of the rice, both aus and amun, on the higher lands requires rain. On the 23rd we rode to Kristonagur and back, and I find the remark recorded." The crops of all kinds in the Kristonagur thana appear to be good. There is, however, very little moisture in all the paddy-fields which are at all high, and more rain will soon be required. On the 24th we rode to Campadanga, and I find the following remarks recorded:—"The crops about here (that is Campadanga) are said to be generally good. The amun was planted out very late in many places, and is therefore backward. A bumper crop is not expected in any case. Aus is in ear and will be a good crop. Jute is very good, and sugarcane is doing very well." The crops in Harripal and Singoor, which thanas we rode through on our return to Serampore, were then very good.

12. From this time until now but little rain has fallen, and the crops have in consequence steadily got worse except in the beels. During the month of September the rainfall in the sub-division was as follows :—

Serampore	...	...	...	...	3·1
Chanditolla	...	...	...	...	4·25
Harripal	...	...	...	...	2·20
Kristonagur	...	...	...	...	2·32

13. The average rainfall in the sub-division for the month in question was only 2·94 inches.

14. During the month of October the following rain was recorded :—

Serampore	...	...	...	...	·14
Chanditolla	...	...	...	...	·10
Harripal	...	...	...	...	·0
Kistonagur	...	...	...	...	2·15

15. It appears therefore that in the greater portion of the sub-division only about three inches of rain fell during the months of September and October.

16. I shall now give some account of my inspections of the crops of the sub-division during the present month and of the estimates of the outturn which I have made.

17. On the 6th October I drove out to Bydobati and rode from there to Singoor vid Durgarampore and Telipokur, returning by the direct road—the Tarkessur road. I find the following notes in my diary :—"The country between Durgarampur and Singoor is very dry. Some of the villagers with whom I conversed stated that the amun crop on the high lands was as good as last. I am afraid that it is, as although it has hardly suffered as yet, there is very little moisture in the field; and they are rapidly drying up under a hot sun. Unless rain falls this month, which does not appear likely, I am afraid that all the rice, except upon the downright low lands, will perish. The land seems as dry as it was last cold-weather. I saw some ploughs turning up soil which looked like dry dust."

18. On the 8th I rode out to Boray and back. On the 9th I rode out to Janay vid Dankuni and Gubra, and from there to Boray by a cross road. "The ryots at all the villages I passed through said that the amun crop had perished altogether. This of course is a great exaggeration; but as regards the high lands I am afraid that it only anticipates the result which must happen unless we still get rain. At Jaykristopur some ryots with whom I conversed ascribed the failure of their crops to the Dankuni drainage scheme. They said that they would have had plenty of water if it had not been for the drainage, and remarked that it was very hard that they should be heavily taxed, distrained upon, and in many cases utterly ruined for a scheme which did their village more harm than good. I am inclined to think that there is a good deal to be said on their side of the question."

19. On the 12th I went by rail to Chandernagore and rode from there to Bhola on the Tarkessur road—a distance of about twelve miles—returning through Singoor to Serampore, about twelve miles further. "The rice is turning yellow on all the high lands, and leaves are getting brown at the tip. The fields are as hard and dry as in March. Unless rain falls soon the greater portion of the crop must go."

20. On the 14th I went out to the Government khas mehal at Bolkuli, but there is not much rice in that direction.

21. On the 15th I rode out to Boray, and from there by a cross road to Nasibpur on the Singoor road. "The rice crop except in the beels is looking very yellow and stunted, and in many places is beyond help."

22. On the 20th I accompanied you to Bhola and Gopalpore, and you saw the state of the crops of a large tract of country. On the 23rd we went through the Singoor and Harripal thanas to Deorhatta, and disposed of several questions with regard to irrigation from the Kana Damudar. During the rest of the week I was only able to make short journeys in the neighbourhood of Serampore owing to press of work at head-quarters consequent upon the reopening of the courts. On the 28th, however (Sunday), I was able to make a long journey, and to see the state of the crops over some 35 miles of country.

23. Starting at 6 A. M. I drove out to Borah. From there I rode on to Sheakala. The crop between Serampore and Borah are fairly good, the rice land is all part of the Dankuni beel. Beyond Borah they are not so good; but towards Sheakala they are extremely bad. Round about the village of Bonomalipur in Sheakala the dhan is an almost entire failure. Throughout the Sheakala outpost the crops are bad. The outturn cannot possibly be more than a 4-anna one. After calling at the Sheakala outpost I rode on by the old Benares road to Chanditolla. Between Sheakala and Masat the crops are very bad—not more than four annas. After Masat, however, they improve very much, and in the large beels on both sides of the road are very fine. South of the old Benares road they are particularly good."

24. "From Chanditolla I drove to Uttarparah. There are some good crops in some of the beels within view of the road. On the high lands, however, the crops are dried up I was much struck by the enormous amount of sugarcane on this road. Some of it is suffering for want of water. From Uttarparah I drove back to Serampore, returning at 2 P.M." Altogether there can be no doubt that the crops in the south and south-west of Chanditolla are fully equal to the average. Notwithstanding therefore that there is only a 4-anna crop in the north of the thana, I should estimate the outturn of the whole thana at about nine annas.

25. I have not been able to see much of the Kristonagar thana. I am quite satisfied, however, that the crops to the south-east of it are on the whole good, while those on both sides of the Kana Damudar have been now almost all well irrigated. Moreover, two inches of rain fell over a considerable portion of the south of this thana on the 13th October, while only light showers fell over the rest of the sub-division. The crop on the high lands, where no rain fell in October, is of course burnt up like everywhere else. On the whole I think that the outturn of this thana may be estimated at very nearly eight annas. Seven annas, I think, may safely be reckoned on.

26. The Harripal and Singoor thanas are much the same. There are no very large beels in them, and there are no really fine crops anywhere. On the high lands the rice is quite burnt up. Even on the low lands the crop is stunted for want of sufficient moisture. Some of the crops in both thanas have been saved by irrigation from the Kana Nadi and Kana Damudar. In fact if it had not been for the water supplied by the Irrigation Department through these thanas there would have been an almost entire failure of the crops in these thanas with very few exceptions what has been saved by irrigation.

27. Taking into consideration how stunted the rice is in these thanas, where it has course to anything at all, and remembering that quite a third of it will not come into ear, I do not think that the local estimate of a 4-anna outturn is much too low. It is probably somewhat too low. I think that there will be at least a 5-anna crop. I do not think that there will be a 6-anna one. We cannot, I think, rely upon having more than a 5-anna crop in these two thanas.

28. The rice in the Serampore thana hardly calls for comment, as the extent of it is so small. The thana consists almost entirely of municipalities.

29. The following shews the above estimates in a tabular form :—

Thana.	Area in square miles.	Estimated outturn.
Chanditolla	72	Nine annas.
Singoor	71	Five ,,
Harripal	115	,, ,,
Kristonagur	63	Seven ,,

30. If we calculate the average outturn per square mile for the whole sub-division from this we shall find that it comes to 6·29 (nearly); we may say therefore that the outturn for the whole sub-division will be a 6-anna one.

31. The sugarcane crop is, as already remarked, an important one in this sub-division. In a special report submitted with regard to it this year, I estimated its average area at 8,000 standard acres, and its value as varying from Rs. 288 to Rs. 540 per acre. The average value per acre may therefore be taken as midway between these two extremes, or, say, at Rs. 414 per acre. The total value therefore amounts to Rs. 33,12,000, or to just over thirty-three lakhs of rupees. This crop has not as yet generally suffered to any very considerable extent from want of water, though it is beginning to do so in places where irrigation is not practicable. The crop is so valuable that the ryots are willing to go to almost any trouble to irrigate it. The water which has been sent down the Kana Damudar and Kana Nadi has been invaluable for this purpose.

32. Taking twelve annas as an ordinary crop, a ten-anna sugarcane crop is the utmost that can be expected. In places where there is absolutely no water available for irrigation, the crop must be a comparative failure.

33. Potatoes constitute a very valuable crop here, and one which requires a good deal of irrigation. The prospects of this crop will very much depend upon whether any rain falls in November or not. It would be premature to discuss them yet.

34. I do not think that it is possible at present to give any definite opinion on the question as to the probability of serious distress resulting from the comparative failure of the crops. The question turns very much upon the result of the crops throughout the country generally, and the consequent effect upon prices. The matter is one which I shall not lose sight of in my cold-weather tour, which I hope to be able to commence almost at once. At present, however, I do not see any grounds for concluding that there must necessarily be any serious distress, much less scarcity; or that any special action on the part of Government will be necessary.

No. 262T, dated Camp Midnapore, the 12th November 1883.

From—JOHN BEAMES, Esq., Commissioner of the Burdwan Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

IN continuation of my No. 73T, dated 24th October, I have the honour to submit further report on the prospects of the harvest in this division.

2. The Collector of Hooghly has submitted his report direct to Government for some reason, and I need therefore only say that I do not anticipate any serious scarcity in that district. The Hooghly ryot does not depend entirely on his rice crop; potatoes, sugarcane, and garden produce for the Calcutta market are so very largely grown that, as I remarked in my last letter, a failure in the rice crop does not entail such hardship as it would elsewhere. The same remarks applies to the sudder sub-division of Howrah, where there will be some loss of crops; in the Ooloberiah sub-division further south the crops seem to be in fair condition.

3. There are undoubtedly considerable stocks of grain in various parts of the Hooghly and Howrah districts, even in the hands of cultivators, and I am disposed therefore to think that even if there should be some shortness of crops, the people will be able to tide over the year without help from Government.

4. As regards Burdwan, I regret that I am still without official information. The Collector, however, reports demi-officially that he is making enquiries in all directions, and at present estimates that there will be from a 4-anna to 6-anna crop all round. In Raneegunge there has been very considerable loss. The Eden Canal in the south of the districts has been of very great service, irrigating 100,000 bighas of land, the crops on which would otherwise have been lost. Mr. Larminie thinks there will be some pressure on the poorer classes, but that no special measures on the part of Government will be needed.

5. My information from Beerbhoom is not as full as I could wish. The Collector is, however, now making a tour round the worst parts, and I hope for fuller details shortly. As far as I can see at present, I think Beerbhoom will have from a 4-anna to an 8-anna crop of amun, while the aus has been up to the usual average.

6. I have been over a considerable tract of country in Midnapore, and have received verbal reports from several of the officers in charge of the canal and wards' estates in the interior. There will be a deficient crop in some parts; while in others it will, thanks to irrigation, be an average one. The low-lying deltaic portions of this district, which, in years of ordinary rainfall, are liable to suffer from floods and accumulation of rainwater inside the intricate network of embankments with which the country is intersected in all directions, will, it is hoped, have a very fair outturn this year.

7. My general impression, up to date, is that the division will not require any general measures of relief, though, perhaps, some slight assistance may be necessary here and there.

No. 17M.—A., dated Calcutta, the 13th November 1883.

From—J. MONRO, Esq., Commissioner of the Presidency Division,

To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to your circular No. 9T.—R., of date the 23rd ultimo, I have the honour to submit the report therein called for, regarding the state and prospect of the crops in this division.

2. The report is not so full as might have been had I waited a little longer before submitting it. I am, however, shortly going on leave, and I thought it right to dispose of the matter myself rather than to leave it to my successor, who naturally could have acquired little or no experience of the circumstances of the districts of the division before the end of this month.

3. I am also glad to be able to submit a general rather than a detailed report, inasmuch as while there will be in some districts scarcity and pinching, there will not, so far as I can perceive, be any pressure, as regards food, amounting to famine.

4. The detailed reports of Collectors which have been furnished are sent herewith. I abstract the contents of each.

5. 24-Pergunnahs.—Agricultural prospects unfavourable. On the whole at least one-half of an average crop expected. Stocks of rice not ascertained with any degree of certainty. Prices expected to rise to Rs. 4 and in some cases Rs. 5 per maund.

6. Moorshedabad.—The aous crop was on the whole a good one, and in no places is the amun a complete failure. About a third of an average crop will be realized. High prices expected, but no apprehension of famine entertained. Stocks large and subject to replenishment by facilities of importation.

7. Khoolna.—The prospects of this district are not bad. The crops now coming on, the stock of food in hand, and the means of communication are sufficient for the requirements of the district.

8. Jessore.—About half an average crop may be expected. Sufficient food in hand for six months if supplemented by growth of new rice and importation. Prices expected to rise to Rs. 4 per maund.

9. Nuddea.—Prospects in Chooadanga sub-division, Teyhatta and Gangni in Meherpore, and Kaligunge in sudder, bad. On the whole the Collector thinks that amongst the labouring classes there will be unavoidable pinching, most of them already in Teyhatta living upon one meal a day. In the places above mentioned the aous crop did not amount to more than 8 to 10 annas, and the amun crop is not expected to reach more than two annas. The Sub-divisional Officer of Chooadanga indeed reports that only one anna will be harvested.

10. From the above it will be seen that on the whole the districts of the division may expect to pull through with scarcity of food and pinching on the part chiefly of the labouring classes. In Nuddea, certain areas have been very prejudicially affected by the cessation of the rain; and a fuller report will be submitted with reference to them when further details are ascertained.

11. Meanwhile all that is required on the part of officers is to watch carefully the condition of their district, and collect information quietly as to stocks, imports and exports, prices, water-supply, &c., &c. I shall take steps to have a bi-monthly special report submitted from all districts, and, if any information of importance is received, shall communicate with Government.

No. 687G., dated Alipore, the 12th November 1883.

From—C. C. STEVENS, Esq., Collector of 24-Pergunnahs,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to Government Circular No. 9, dated 23rd October last, received with your endorsement No. 20M.—A. of the 27th idem, calling for a report in respect of the crops in this district, I have the honour to submit the following statement.

2. The head-quarter sub-division consists of the police stations Barripore, Tallygunge, Sonapore, Bistoopore, Acnipore, Bhangore, Canning, Burranagore, Joynagore. The District Superintendent of Police, agreeably to my requisition, reports that in none of the tracts under these thanas is much bhadoi, or early paddy, grown, but what little of this crop was raised here gave a good yield. With regard to the late rice crop, he fears that, within the jurisdiction of the Tallygunge, Sonapore, Bhangore, Burranagore, Joynagore, and Barripore thanas, the outturn will not on the whole be more than one-half of an average crop, while in Bistoopore the prospect is somewhat better, the yield being estimated at ten annas. In the Achipore thana he expects only a six annas crop. In Canning the high lands, it is said, will scarcely produce "anything," but the crop on low lands "still promises a fair outturn" But little rubee is cultivated in these parts, and that little has been injuriously affected by the early cessation of rain. As to the amount of grain stocks in hand, the police have given no information beyond noticing that now it "is no way shorter than that of the last year at this period." The price of ordinary rice has already gone up from Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 3 per maund, and it is apprehended would rise still higher to Rs. 4 or even Rs. 5.

3. In the sub-division of Diamond Harbour, the officer in charge, in responding to the Government call, states that "in no part of the sub-division there will be anything like total failure of crops." He adds that tracts which have suffered much for want of moisture are places under the thanas Bankipore and Kulpi, which constitute about one-fifth of the entire area of his sub-division; but even in these parts he estimates the yield at about one-half of an average crop, and considering that the lands in most places of the sub-division are low, and that there are numerous khals and creeks to supply the fields with water, the people hope to secure a full ten-anna crop. Nothing has been said by the Deputy Collector about the grain stock, the state of the rubbee crop and of the yield of the last bhadoi crop, as well as of the expected rise in the price of food-grains. As to the early paddy, I can, however, say, without any reference to him, that there is little or no cultivation of it in the sub-division.

4. In the Baraset sub-division the aus is always more extensively cultivated than in other parts of the district, and forms one-fourth of its entire rice crop. The outturn of the past season was fully up to the average. The prospects of the late rice are very unfavourable. On the high lands not more than from two to four annas can be hoped for, while in the bheel, or low-lying lands, the yield is estimated at eight annas, provided there be some rain within a few days; otherwise the Sub-divisional Officer fears it would dwindle down to a four-anna crop. As regards the rubbee, the outlook is equally bad. The short time that was allowed for the present enquiry has not enabled the Sub-divisional Officer to ascertain the amount of food-grain in hand. But he gives a table showing the prices of food-grains—

Food-grain.	Present price per rupee.	Price in Pous per rupee.	Price in rainy season per rupee.
	Seers.	Seers.	Seers.
Coarse rice	14	12	10
Good ,, ...	10	10	8
Moog	9	10	8
Khesari	16	16	12
Musuri	16	16	12
Kalai	16	16	12
Matar	16	16	12
Gram	16	15	12
Atta	9	8	6
Mustard	8-8	7	6

5. The next sub-division in importance is Basirhat, where the last aus crop is reported to have been three-fourths of the usual average, and the amun now on the ground is estimated to yield eight annas. No information as regards the amount of grain stock in hand has as yet been given; but, in the Sub-divisional Officer's opinion, "it may be sufficient for the local consumption under the existing state of things." His report is also silent about the rubbee crop, which, it is superfluous to say, cannot be good. In this sub-division ordinary rice is selling at Rs. 2-8 per maund, and there is no doubt that the price will considerably rise as the season advances.

6. With regard to the Barrackpore sub-division, Major Hopkinson reports that the bhadoi crop was "very bad indeed," and thinks that there may be a yield of eight annas of the late rice on low lands, but from "the high lands no outturn at all can be looked for." The prospect of the rubbee crop generally is also said to be "very bad." The Cantonment Magistrate estimates the grain stock in hand to be only 4,500 maunds. This is certainly very far below the truth, and moreover the grain merchants of Barrackpore being so near, as they are to Calcutta, often draw supplies thence. In Major Hopkinson's opinion, the price of rice may rise to Rs. 4 or Rs. 5 per maund in the coming year.

7. Major Creak, the Cantonment Magistrate of Dum-Dum, does not except more than six annas of the usual yield of amun in his sub-division, and fears the price of rice will rise up to Rs. 4-8 or Rs. 5 per maund. The bhadoi crop is stated to have been poor for want of rain, and the rubbee sowings for the same reason to have been entirely stopped. He estimates the grain in hand at 14,000 maunds.

8. It will thus be seen that the agricultural prospects of the district are not favourable. Yet, as matters now stand, I am justified in believing from existing data that there will be on the whole at least one-half of an average crop. The time allowed for the preparation of this report has been quite insufficient for ascertaining any details of the stocks of rice in hand, but the general impression seems to be that these stocks are considerable in quantity. One of the first symptoms of distress is a fall in the price of labour, but up to the present time nothing of this has been observable. It is probable that the Exhibition will have a material influence in keeping wages up. Altogether it does not at present seem likely that there will be any serious general distress in this district, although I fear that the poorer members of the upper and middle classes of society may suffer much inconvenience from high prices. Even in prosperous times many people of this sort obtain little more than a bare subsistence, and my experience is that, when the times become hard, they are among the first to feel the stress.

9. This report has necessarily been brief, as the Sub-divisional Officers and the police have not had sufficient time to make a more detailed enquiry; but further reports have been promised, and as soon as they come in, I shall lose no time in furnishing you with further information.

No. 1859G., dated Kishnaghur, the 9th November 1883.

From—W. V. G. Taylor, Esq., Collector of Nuddea,

To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

With reference to your No. 20M—A, dated the 27th ultimo, forwarding the Government Circular No. 9T.—R., dated the 23rd October 1883, I have the honour to report that the prospects of the district as regards the late paddy and winter crops, excepting only in the sub-division of Kushtea, are anything but favourable.

2. In Kushtea the lands are low, and there are several large rivers. Sugarcane, teel, arahur, turmeric, millet and jute have done well, and the price of the last-named has risen from 12 annas and 1 rupee last year to Rs. 2-8 and Rs. 3 this year. The winter crops, too, are all promising, and 10 annas aus and 12 annas amun crop is reported to have been harvested.

3. Throughout the remainder of the district the aus crop ranges from 8 annas in the Chooadanga sub-division and stations Gangni and Teyhatta in Meherpore to 10 annas, and in some parts of Ranaghat and sudder to even 12 annas. The amun has been destroyed on all high lands, and has been seriously injured even in the low, and not more than a two-anna crop is expected. Indeed the Deputy Magistrate of Chooadanga reports that not more than one-anna will be harvested in his sub-division.

4. The winter crops have every where been a failure, with the exception of arahur and teel. The latter, it is said, will be destroyed by insects unless we have rain, of which, however, I see but little prospect.

5. The portions of this district which have suffered most are the sub-division of Chooadanga, stations Gangni and Teyhatta in Meherpore, and Kaligunge in the sudder.

6. The time allowed for the submission of this report was too short to enable me to discover the actual amount of grain in stock within the district. I have, however, issued orders to my subordinates to obtain full and reliable information on this subject, and a further report will be submitted by me hereafter.

7. Considering however, that on the whole about 10 annas of the aus crop has been harvested, we may safely say that the stock will suffice for several months. It is reported, however, that the greater portion has found its way into the hands of the mahajans, who, in view of the certain very high rise in prices, are unwilling to part with any of it at present.

8 The price of rice has already risen to about 50 per cent., and there is every likelihood of higher prices being obtained shortly, more especially if the state of crops in neighbouring districts from which importations are received is as bad as is generally reported.

9. The classes who will suffer the most are the labourers, among whom, I fear, there will be considerable pinching. Indeed it is reported from Teyhatta station that most of them are now living on only one meal per diem.

10. I have issued instructions to the Joint-Magistrate of the sudder, who is in camp, and to all Sub-divisional Officers, to make personal enquiries, and periodically to submit reports with regard to the stock in hand and the condition of the people in general, and to test reports submitted by the police.

No. 1280G., dated Jessore, the 8th November 1883.

From—E. J. Barton, Esq., Collector of Jessore,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

With reference to your memorandum No. 20 Met., dated the 27th October last, forwarding a copy of the Government circular No. 9T R., dated the 23rd idem, calling for a report on the state and prospects of the crops in this district, I have the honour to submit the following report.

2. I calculate that the rains virtually stopped in Jessore about the 8th of August What we had after that was small and did little good.

3. In the latter part of October, rain was expected, as the sky then appeared to be dark and cloudy; but the expectation was not realized, and there has been no rain up to date. The north-east monsoon has commenced and the cold weather set in, so there is badly any expectation of our getting rain soon. Want of rain has injured the grown-up amun paddy, and retarded the sowing as well as the growth of the rubbee or winter crops. The amun, which is the principal paddy crop in this district, was partly sown and partly transplanted; and although there was a scanty fall of rain in the first instance, the occasional showers we had from time to time proved conducive to the growth of the crop. But it is to be regretted that when this crop was almost in ear, the early cessation of rain caused great damage to it. The rain ceased in August. The amun on high lands withered and was to a large extent used as fodder for cattle. The amun on low lands also partially suffered from want of rain, but was saved from the great injury done to the amun on high lands. A fair outturn of amun grown on low lands is expected. Taking the present state of both the amun on high and low lands into consideration, the general or average outturn is estimated at about eight annas

4. The last aus or bhadoi crop, which had the benefit of the early rain, yielded a fair harvest. The aus on high lands did not, owing to the scanty fall of rain, yield a good harvest; but this partial failure was to some degree compensated by the good harvest which the people reaped from the aus that grew on those low lands which escaped the injuries usually caused by high inundation. It is to be remembered that in this district the area of the land on which aus grows is much smaller than that on which amun grows. The proportion is estimated at 4 and 12 annas respectively. It is therefore evident that the aus, which yielded a fair harvest, cannot be expected to make up the deficiency likely to result from the failure of the amun, more especially as the people could not reap a bumper harvest of aus. This, as well as the fact of the great injury that has been caused to the amun crop in consequence of want of rain and absence of inundation, has created some alarm among the people, who apprehend, if not a famine, a great increase in the price of food.

5. No hops of a good or even a fair outturn of the rubbee crops can now be entertained. Those that were sown early could not thrive. In some places the lands were ploughed and ready for the seed; but there was no moisture in the soil, and the sowing could not proceed. It is premature now to say what the outturn of this crop will be. If there be rain soon, a fair outturn on the whole may be expected. A kind of winter crop called Gusi, grown in the Magoora sub-division, is reported to have been injured by an insect called "jab poka."

6. With regard to the enquiry ordered in the Government circular, as to the amount of grain stocks in hand in the district, I beg to submit that it is difficult to give correct figures, which would require an elaborate enquiry, involving much more time than is allowed in the present case. The stock in hand may, on a rough calculation, meet the demand for about six months; but it is probably not sufficient to meet the requirements of the people till the next aus is harvested. In my opinion, if the stock which is already in hand is supplemented locally by the growth of new rice and by imports from elsewhere, there need be no apprehension of distress. This district is not, strictly speaking, a rice-exporting one; yet a portion of its harvest is usually sent to Nuddea, while, on the other hand, it receives a supply of balam, or good rice, from the districts of Backergunge and Khoolna. Now, if the rice is not exported from this district elsewhere to a large extent, and if it receives a moderate supply from Backergunge and Khoolna, there is no apprehension of famine, though I am afraid prices will increase greatly.

7. With regard to the price of range of food-grains in the coming year, I beg to say that as rice and other food-stuffs are getting daily dearer, there is every reason to believe there will be a considerable increase in prices as the year advances. Rice is now selling at Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 3-4 per maund. It may rise up to Rs. 4, but this cannot be said with any degree of certainty, as it chiefly depends on the amount of exportation from, and importation into, the district.

8. I am afraid there may be in the next hot weather distress from want of water in some places, because the rivers and tanks are low, and khals, water-courses and village ponds are almost dry.

No. 1761C., dated Berhampore, the 7th November 1883.

From—F. H. B. Skrine, Esq., Officiating Collector of Moorshedabad,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

I have the honour to submit the report called for by Government circular No. 9T.R., dated the 23rd ultimo, received with your memorandum No. 20M.A. of the 27th idem, on the state and prospects of the crops of this district, as affected by the early cessation of the autumnal rains.

2. Under demi-official instructions from yourself, I had, as far back as the 18th ultimo, requested the Sub-divisional Officers and the police to furnish replies to questions on the same lines as those raised by the Government circular above quoted. I am therefore in a position to afford tolerably accurate information as regards the larger portion of the district.

3. Physical aspect of the district as affecting crops.—Moorshedabad is divided into two unequal parts by the river Bhagirathi. The larger portion on the west or right bank of the river is locally known as the "Barh" or mainland, and is principally an amun, or late rice-raising tract, producing but little aus, and less of the crops known as "cold-weather." Indeed the proportion of land under amun to the whole area is not less than seven eighths, the remainder being devoted to aus rice and the cold-weather crops.

4. The tract on the left or east bank of the Bhagirathi is locally known as "Baghri" or "Bangar" (Bengal Proper). It is mainly an aus or early rice district; the proportion of the latter crop to amun being not less than three-fourths. The proportion would indeed be larger but for the existence on this side of an extensive marshy tract known as the "Kalantar," and devoted exclusively to amun cultivation.

5. As the portion to the west of the Bhagirathi is the larger of the two, I would estimate that, taking the district as a whole, the proportion of amun to aus is as 5 is to 3.

6. It is universally admitted that the aus crop has been a fair average one. In some parts, indeed, it is reported to be a "bumper." On the whole, we may safely estimate it at a 12-anna crop all round, 16-annas standing for a bumper harvest.

7. The amun rice crop.—The accounts of the amun or late rice, as might be expected, over an area so large and with such diversified material condition, vary considerably in character. As it is a crop for which moisture is absolutely essential, it is necessary to supplement any deficiency of rainfall by irrigation, and in this view energetic efforts were made last month to induce recourse to irrigation. Leave was freely given to ryots to cut through embanked roads for such purposes. Stringent orders were issued to landholders to allow recourse to tanks, and the Sub-divisional Officers and the police were directed to use their utmost efforts to induce the people to irrigate. Immense labour has consequently been devoted by the cultivators to this work, and their efforts have been, in the majority of cases, crowned with success.

8. The Sub-divisional Officer of Kandi writes: "The injury was much averted by irrigation, and except on lands remote from tanks or khals, the amun in all other lands throughout the sub-division promises well;" and again, "the outlook is much improved since irrigation was had recourse to." The Sub-divisional Officer of Lalbag informs me that "wherever there is any water 200 or 300 yards off, the people have by great labour dug trenches to the fields, and have scooped out the water into these trenches, and from one level to another until it reaches the field." I have myself observed the extended recourse to irrigation in the sudder sub-division, and my experience is confirmed by police reports and the numerous petitions daily presented for my influence with zemindars to induce them to allow irrigation from their tanks.

9. It is only on the north of the district, where the people are always in great straits for drinking-water, that irrigation has not been largely practised, and the amun will probably be a failure.

10. Estimated outturn of "amun" rice.—Generally the amun rice may be fairly expected to afford a third of the average crop, the range being from a half crop in the Kandi sub-division to a sixth in Jungipore. In the "Kalantar," which, as remarked above (paragraph 4), is a tract of exceptional physical features, the crop is by no means so backward as one would suppose. In the bheels, or marshes, it promises splendidly; on the higher lying lands it partakes of the general failure, the result of the drought. I would estimate the amun in this tract as rather less than half an average one.

11. Cold-weather crops.—The amun dhan brooks no rival, and cold-weather crops are only extensively grown in tracts suitable for the early variety of rice. Generally speaking, they have perished beyond recall in the heavy loams (matyal), while in the sandy loams (rashi) they are looking very much better than one would expect.

12. October indigo.—The October indigo is one of the most important, and regarding this crop I feel bound to modify a statement made in my weather and crop report of the third current, and which was based on imperfect information I now learn on trustworthy authority that where recourse has been had to deep cultivation, in accordance with the modern system, the October plant is looking remarkably well. Indigo, as you are aware, has an enormous tap-root, which if the soil be well loosened, can penetrate to depths comparatively unaffected by the drought, and still retaining a certain degree of moisture.

13. Sugarcane.—Sugarcane is not largely grown here, and this is to be the more regretted as the crop is most promising at the present season. Mulberry is fair average crop, having been largely irrigated.

14. Cereals —The other cold-weather crops may be classed as (a) cereals, (b) oil-seeds, (c) pulses. The cereals, comprising wheat and barley, where sown at all, have only just sprouted, and it is impossible to afford an approximate forecast of their outturn. They are suffering to some extent from the attacks of insects; but these would disappear with a rainfall; and generally it may be said that rain between this and February would prevent a total failure, and that, if it fell within the next fortnight, a fair crop might still be expected.

15. Pulses.—Pulses comprise arhar, kalai, peas and gram; but the first two only are sufficiently advanced to admit of a forecast as to their outturn. Arhar has an enormous tap-root and is really independent of the autumnal rain. It will retain a three-quarter average crop, as well as kalai, which is generally grown with indigo on low lying and alluvial lands. Peas and gram are barely above the ground, and the remarks made regarding cereals apply here.

16. Oil-seed.—Oil-seed comprising linseed [teel and sunflowers (sakurguji)] will retain about two-thirds of an average crop.

17. Speaking generally of the cold-weather crops, they are most largely cultivated in the eastern portion of the district, generally after the early rice, but occasionally alone. Their prospects depend in a great measure on the rainfall. Should the drought continue till the end of January, when the harvest begins, the outturn all round will not exceed one-third of an average, and may be even less. Heavy rain within a fortnight would result in a three-quarter crop.

18. Stock of rice.—The question of stocks is a delicate one to handle. My experience in two famines has warned me of the danger of inquisitorial proceedings as regards this, point, as I have known such to culminate in an absolute panic on the part of holders. Government officers should maintain a calm and confident attitude in crisis such as this and should remember that their demeanour is narrowly watched, and exercises a certain influence over the public. From all I can learn, there is not the slightest reason to anticipate any universal depletion of stocks.

19. Prices.—Last year, and still more so its predecessor, were years of plenty, and there is an abundant store of old rice in the mahajans' and wealthy agaleultrists' granaries. The holders are, however, discounting the continuance of the drought, and are "holding up;" thence the sudden rise in prices, which indeed is quite abnormal, and was not justified by circumstances.

20 The larger towns have been the heaviest sufferers, as stocks are always low at such places at a time when the new amun comes into the market; hence the enormous rise (from 21 seers to 12 seers 14 chittacks per rupee) in the price of coarse rice at Berhampore and Moorshedabad that marked the close of last month. Immense importations have since been made from Cutwa and Rajshahye and Maldah, and an equilibrium between supply and demand has been re-established.

21. Forecast as to the range of prices.—It is not very difficult to afford a forecast as to the range of prices during the next few months. Generally speaking, the tendency will be upwards. The present average is 14 seers per rupee. I am inclined to think that each succeeding month will show a progressive increase until February, when the average price of coarse rice may be expected to be as high as 10 seers per rupee. It will, of course, be understood that this estimate is subject to considerable modification should rain fall during the current month, which would swell out the grain of rice now forming, and add perhaps 25 to the outturn, besides greatly benefiting the cold-weather crops. In such a case prices would fall to perhaps 17 seers.

22. In February the cold-weather crops came into the market, and are extensively bartered against rice from the "rash." Should no rain intervene, these crops will be almost total failures, and the price of rice will undergo a further rise. If heavy rain falls between this and the end of the year, the cold-weather crops will (as remarked above) give a "fair return," and will bring a large amount of rice into the market, when prices will naturally fall to perhaps 18 seers, or even lower.

23. As to prospects generally, the outlook is by no means such as to cause any serious apprehension of a famine or scarcity approaching the famine limit. Last year, and more especially its predecessor, were years of splendid harvests, causing proportional rise in the resources, and consequently the purchasing power of the cultivating class.

The district is well provided with road and river communication, and is fairly well served by the railway. The aus crop has been rather above than under the average, while the amun will nowhere be a complete failure. Thus, while we may expect high prices, pressure on the labouring class, and a consequent increase in crime, any apprehension of a famine, as far as this district is concerned, may fairly be scouted.

24. A much more serious result of the drought is to be looked for in the shape of a failure of the water-supply during next hot-weather. The south of the district is fairly well supplied with tanks; but the north and portion of the centre are miserably provided in ordinary times, and the effect of any marked failure in the rainfall is absolutely disastrous in these localities. Epidemics of cholera, small-pox, and virulent types of malarious fever may be expected. Indeed, as I write, I have under consideration a report from the Sub-divisional Officer of Jungipore, to the effect that an outbreak of malarious fever, causing 38 deaths, has occurred in the villages round Lalgola.

25. Prophylactory measures.—I have requested Sub-divisional Officers, the police Court of Wards' managers, and tehsildar in charge of khas mehals to report promptly and minutely requirements of each village in respect of an improved water-supply. The Road Cess Committee have resolved to expend all available funds in this direction. I would urge that zemindars and committees of ryots, in cases where the need is very great, be encouraged to take tuccavi loans for the purpose of re-excavating tanks, &c.

26. Finally, I have deputed Baboo Jagat Chandra Roy, Sub-Deputy Collector, to ascertain the condition and requirements of the western half of the head-quarter sub-division, while Baboo Rajendro Nath Banerjee, canoongoe, has a similar mission for the eastern portion, including the "Kalantar."

No. 953G., dated Khoolna, the 8th November 1883.

From—W. CLAY, Esq., Collector of Khoolna,
To—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division.

WITH reference to your No. 20M.A. of the 27th ultimo, I have the honour to state that rain fell continuously, though in small quantities, till the 19th September last, when there was a break of five days. Then there was rain for five days, and after that there has been no rain except a slight drizzle. There appears at this moment no prospects of rain, and if it were to fall, the crops on the ground would not benefit to any extent; but the rain would be useful for the preparation of the ground for winter crops.

2. There is very little bhadoi or aus crops in this district. The only part where such crops are reported to be grown are in thanas Satkhira and Kalaroa, in the Satkhira sub-division. The outturn there is said to be fair, but I have no details.

3 As regards the khurreef (if this means the late rice crop), such part of the rice crop as is grown in high lands is totally lost; but at a rough guess I should suppose this to be six annas only out of sixteen of the whole rice crop of the district.

4 The remainder of the rice crops, which includes almost all the crops grown in the Bagirhat sub-division and three-quarters of the crops of the other two sub-divisions, may be taken to be in a fair condition, likely to yield a ten-anna crop.

5. Of winter crops it is not possible to say much; almost nothing has been sown yet in consequence of the absence of rain, and this crop is not much cultivated in the district, the ground being almost entirely taken up with late rice.

6. I have not got accurate accounts of the grain stocks, but I am informed that there is in the district, including private stocks, sufficient for six months' consumption. There do not appear to be large stores of grain locally stored by mahajuns in any place.

7. As regards prices, I find that the price of common rice has risen in the past month from about 20 seers to 16 seers, and the price is still rising.

8. I may say of this district that the prospects are not bad. The crops now coming on and the stock of food in hand, and the means of communication are sufficient for the purposes of the district.

9. If things appear to grow worse, I shall of course inform you.

No. 419Ct., dated Camp Ramgurh, the 23rd 24th November 1883

From—G. N. Barlow, Esq., C.S.I., Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department, Famine.

I have the honour to reply to your circular No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October 1883.

2. From the beginning of the month of October, in consequence of the abnormal conditions of the season's rainfall, I had warned all officers to be upon the look out to ascertain and note the state and prospects of the crops. On receipt of your circular, reports were called for, and I asked for information in a tabulated form, which would have disclosed the conditions of each district at a glance. Replies from some districts only have come in to-day, when I commence my report. The statement also has not been understood in some cases. I deal with the case of each district, therefore, separately, and if I can get a correct statement prepared for all districts, it shall follow hereafter.

3. Table A annexed shows the rainfall registered during the year at each head-quarter and sub-division station, compared with the average of the previous three years. The remarkable features of the past season are (1) the variation of the rainfall in adjacent localities, and (2) the general failure of rain in the months of September and October. As regards the first point, the statement shows (as in the case of Banka, Jamui, Godda, and Rajmehal sub-divisions) a marked deficiency of the total fall in certain places. The variation, however, has extended beyond this, and in the same neighbourhood will be found tracts of land, the one yielding a fair outturn, while the crops upon the other have almost entirely failed. As regards the short rainfall in the last two months of the rainy season, there has undoubtedly been a great deficiency, but it is not to be forgotten that the figures shown in statement A, for the purpose of comparison, include the years 1881-82 and 1882-83, when the rainfall at the close of the season was unusually heavy.

4. Bhagulpore district—The ordinary proportion of harvest to food-supply here,* and the estimated outturn in 1883-84 (in annas), is shown thus—

* The figures for this purpose for all districts are taken from Appendix B attached to the General Administration Report of the Division for 1882-83.

Sub-division.	Ordinary proportion of harvest to food-supply.			Estimated outturn in 1883-84 in annas.
	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.
	Per cent.	Per cent.	Per cent.
Sudder sub-division	25	38	37	8	7	7
Banka ditto	32	56	12	10	6	6
Muddehpurah ditto	25	50	1,	10	7	6
Soopole ditto	25	50	25	12	6	6

5. The following are details :—

Sudder sub-division. Bhadoi crop.—In western portion fair. In pergunnahs Jahangeerah, Bhagulpore, and Colgong, eight annas.

Rice crop.—In eastern half of sub-division, generally speaking, bad; yield will not exceed four annas, and in many places nil.

Rubbee crop.—In south-eastern portion, near Sonthal Pergunnahs, there has been more rain; crops have germinated, and there is sufficient moisture. The large tracts south and north of the railway, between Bhagulppore and Colgong, usually flooded by the Ganges, have sufficient moisture. On the high lands generally, where there has been no rain, the rubbee crops have germinated; but unless there are good showers before December, the yield will be very poor.

Banka sub-division. Bhadoi crop.—Fairly good generally, with yield from 8 to 12 annas.

Rice crop—Most damage done to the east of the Bowsi road, although miles of bare ground are to be seen on both sides of the road; estimate of four annas crop of the eastern portion of the sub-division and eight annas for the west.

Rubbee crop.—Not promising in the east; mustard, linseed, and gram have come up in about half the area, but the yield will not be good. Koorthi not good; rahar and sugarcane will be a full crop; cultivation of latter has very much increased.

MUDDEHPURAH SUB-DIVISION. Bhadoi crop.—10 annas.

Rice crop.—High lands drying up everywhere except where irrigation available. Yield estimated at six annas. Low lands better, but outturn not likely to be over eight annas.

Rubbee crop.—Results could not be estimated by Sub-divisional Officer; but although koorthi plants were looking healthy, and mustard and linseed coming up slowly, prospects are not considered hopeful.

SOOPOLE SUB-DIVISION. Bhadoi crop.—Yield 12 annas out of an "average yield of 16 annas" (sic).

Rice crop.—Eight annas from the low lands and four annas from high. Area of latter exceed that of former.

Rubbee crop.—Estimated at two annas with no rain, and six annas if rain falls. Koorthi, an important crop, still looking well.

6. The Collector expresses himself as unable to estimate the amount of stocks available; but he has ascertained by personal enquiries that the cultivators have lately stopped selling their grain, and he is inclined to believe that generally they have kept a fair stock in hand. The people show no signs of distress as yet.

7. The Collector thinks that prices will not fall below 11 seers (80 total weight). For three weeks past the price has stood at 15 seers, the lowest point yet touched.

8. In forecasting the future, the Collector says that he does not anticipate serious distress anywhere. The labouring classes and the cultivators in those parts where the dhan crop has utterly failed and the rubbee crop not yet germinated will undoubtedly suffer privation after January next. He proposes to urge the zemindars to take, where necessary, tuccavi advances for construction of new or repair of existing bundhs and daurs. Then, again, there is a much used road which passed through the very heart of the Banka sub-division, where the crops have suffered most, which he proposes to repair at a cost of Rs. 3,000 to Rs. 4,000, to be obtained from the road cess.

9. PURNEAH DISTRICT.—

Sub-division.	ORDINARY PROPORTION OF HARVEST TO FOOD-SUPPLY.
	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.
	Per cent.	Per cent.	Per cent.
Sudder	31·25	40·25	28·5
Kishengunge	30	55	15
Arrariah	31·25	56·25	12·15

The Collector has not furnished the estimated outturn of 1883-84 in such a shape that I can make use of it.

10. His estimates regarding crop for the whole district are as follows:—

Bhadoi crop—A very fair one over the whole district.

Aghani rice crop.—Not much damage done over an area equal to half of the district. Elsewhere there will be very few places where a half crop will not be realized, except in parts of Gondwara thana and Dhurumpur pergunnah, both in the sudder sub division.

Rubbee crop.—Sowings in progress, and if there be seasonable rains about Christmas or before, the outturn will be fair throughout the district.

By sub-divisions, details are—

SUDDER SUB-DIVISION.—Bhadoi, average 10 annas; aghani, nearly a full crop in places subject to inundation, and elsewhere 4 to 10 annas; rubbee will be a good crop if there be rain within a month, and, if not, a six-anna crop.

KISHENGUNGE SUB-DIVISION.—Bhadoi, almost a full crop; aghani, 12 to 14 annas crop everywhere except to south of Asuragudh; rubbee will be a full crop. This is not grown in two thanas; a larger area than usual has, however, been sown, and there is sufficient moisture

ARRAREAH SUB-DIVISION.—Bhadoi, nearly a full crop; aghani, 8 to 12 annas; rubbee, 8 annas.

11. Stocks.—The Collector has offered an estimate of his own upon this head. He sets the stocks, in the hands of the mahajuns and ryots together, at—Sudder sub-division, 13 lakhs of maunds; Kishengunge 15 lakhs; and Arrareah 14 lakhs.

12. As regards prices, the Collector remarks as follows:—

"I confess myself unable to predict from the data before me the probable range of prices. On the Caragola and Darjeeling road, where prices are always high, and notably along the part north of Kishengunge, where prices are equalized with those of Darjeeling and Calcutta, prices have already gone up to 10 seers per rupee. Considering the large extent of partial failure of crop, even Burma being threatened and parts of the Benares Division at least, if not other parts of the North-Western Provinces, I think it quite possible prices may rise to almost famine rates before the next bhadoi comes in, though I hardly think this likely, considering that there must be comparatively large stocks all over the country, for last year's harvest was by no means deficient.

"I have put down the range for the whole district as from 15 to 10. Lower than that I hope it will not go; probably the rate will be soon established."

13. MALDAH DISTRICT—

Nawabgunge	2	12	2	14	4	6*

I reproduce the figures given by the district officer for each thana, because they supply separate information for the "Barinda" tract, which forms the subject of chief anxiety.

14. The bhadoi crop was a success, and above the average throughout the district. The estimated area of this crop in the "Barinda" thanas was—Maldah, 31,000 bighas; Nowabgunge, 20,000 bighas; and 3,000 bighas for the other two thanas conjointly.

The aghani rice crop is generally given at only a four-anna outturn. In Ratnah and Khurba, where it is shown at two and six annas, the area of land so cultivated is given at 700 and 68,000 bighas respectively.

The rice country area in the "Barinda" is—Maldah, 85,000 bighas; Gazole, not given; Gomastipore, all except 2,200, which are under rubbee; and Nawabgunge, 1,50,000 bighas.

Rubbee crop.—The Collector's report is dated 13th instant. It states that at that time only about one-half of the lands usually sown with this crop had been planted. The rest were waiting for rain, and without rain in a fortnight would not be sown. There is no reason to suppose that there has been rain, or that there will be within the time named. The areas for this crop in the "Barinda" are—Maldah, 11,000 bighas; Gazole, 1,500; Gomastipore, 2,200; and Nawabgunge, 25,000.

15. Stocks.—The Collector says that it is roughly estimated that the stocks in hand amount to 3,80,000 maunds of dhan, 15,000 maunds of rice, and 1,30,000 maunds of other grains. He adds that these figures are probably far under the mark. The police inspectors, after visiting the localities and enquiring, state that stocks are held by the ryots in Nawabgunge, Gomastipore and Ratnah, while they are fairly well off in Khurba and parts of Maldah. It is said that in English Bazar, Kaliachuck and Shibgunge, people are in a position to purchase supplies owing to the fine mulberry crop. In Gazole, however, there is likely to be scarcity.

16. The Collector reports that rice is now selling at 13 to 15 seers for the rupee, and dhan at between 22 to 30 seers; wheat is 18 to 20 seers; and barley, pulse and peas, at 25 seers. Prices are higher at Gazole and Gomastipore than elsewhere, the reason being that stocks in hand are small. Taking the coming months of December, February, and May for comparison, the Collector forecasts the range of prices as follows. The figures below the line in each case are for 1873, 1874 and 1875:—

		12	12	10
Gram	...	18	18	12	Ditto.
		11½	13½	13½
Wheat	...	18	14	14	Ditto.
		12½	12	13

17. In speaking of the condition of the people, Mr. Porch reports as follows:—

"East of the river Mohanunda, in parts of the "Barinda" tract most affected by the loss of the amun or late rice, their only crop, the poorer people are suffering to some extent at present, and it appears to be advisable to arrange for opening relief works in suitable localities in that tract, viz. in Gazole, Bamongola, Nawabgunge and Gomastipore. The Bunnas and other aborigines who inhabit parts of this tract of country are suffering most from the present failure of the crops and the dearness of prices of food-grains in view of badness of prospects.

"I have during the past five weeks visited various places in thanas English Bazar, Ratnah, Gazole and Bamungolah ("Barinda"), Old Maldah ("Barinda"), Gomastipore ("Barinda"), and made special enquiries on these subjects from the local police and punchayats and chowkidars and leading residents and from the zemindary amla at the local tehsil cutcherries.

"By personal communication with Mr. W. Price, who has charge of property bordering the "Barinda" in Nawabgunge thana, I have ascertained that the circumstances of the poorer classes of ryots in those parts, viz. south Nawabgunge, as reported by the police, are not immediately pressing."

The Collector closes with asking for a grant of Rs. 20,000 for relief works to be opened at once in the thanas of Gazole, Old Maldah, Gomastipore and Nawabgunge. This would be supplemented by Rs. 5,000 from road cess and Rs. 5,000 from zemindars, promises of assistance having been, it is said, made. The works contemplated are roads and repairs, and construction of tanks in places already selected. I shall refer to this matter again.

18. SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS DISTRICT.—

SUB-DIVISION.	ORDINARY PROPORTION OF HARVEST TO FOOD-SUPPLY.			ESTIMATED OUTTURN OF 1883-84 IN ANNAS.			REMARKS.
	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.
	Per cent.	Per cent.	Per cent.
Dumka	25	60	6	7	8	¼	* There is some doubt about this figure owing to the mode of calculation followed by the Sub-divisional Officer. The Deputy Commissioner believes what I have given to be correct. Further enquiry will be made.
Deoghur	13	70	12	10	11	4
Godda	31·25	56·25	12·5	10	8	Not yet sown.
Rajmehal	18·75	68·75	12·5	13*	6	¼
Jumiara	15	75	10	8	8	4
Pakour	Not received.

Respecting the district as a whole, it is only stated that the bhadoi crop was not good. The early rains caused some of the bhadoi lands to be sown with aghani, reducing the area. The heavy and continuous rains of July and August caused the bhadoi plants to be stunted and the cobs exceptionally small and light.

19. THE SUB-DIVISIONAL DETAILS.—

DUMKA SUB-DIVISION.—Bhadoi (Indian-corn) crop, seven annas; aghani eight annas or less.

Rubbee.—There was rain outside the registering area on 14th and 15th October, which saved the crops in much bari land; otherwise mustard, the chief rent-paying crop, will yield very little. Koorthi will be below the average, and no extra crops, such as wheat, barley, or carrots, will be sown, the tanks being dry.

RAJMEHAL SUB-DIVISION.—It is stated that the Sub-divisional Officer has not furnished a full report, and another is promised. It is thought that the dhan crop throughout will yield about four annas. The spring crops in the Damin will yield nothing, while they promise better in the zemindari portion of the sub-division.

For the remaining sub-divisions the figures in the table above furnish the information which I have received.

20. Stocks.—The Deputy Commissioner observes that the crops of 1882-83 were generally favourable, and therefore it may be assumed that the district commenced the present season with a surplus. The crops of last season were, however, bad in Rajmehal,* and it is here unfortunately that present prospects are worst.

* According to the report of 1882-83, bhadoi 6 annas, aghani 4 annas, rubbee 9 annas.

Some figures have been furnished showing the estimated stocks in certain sub-divisions. They are 4,00,000 maunds of food-grain for Deoghur and 10,000 maunds for Jamtara. I regard such estimates as useless. The Deputy Commissioner, basing his calculation upon the consumption of the population, and assuming that there are three months' supplies in hand, excluding the crops on the ground, places the available stocks at 22 lakhs. In addition to this, there is the fruit supply to be taken into account, that yielded by the mahua trees being very important.

21. The settlement statistics enable us to make something more like a correct estimate of the prospects of the large portion of the Rajmehal sub-division included in the Damin. There were, in 1879, dhan lands 1,79,000 bighas, and bari lands 1,60,000 bighas, say 1,13,000 acres in all. Taking an average yield for different classes of land (vide Food-supply of Bengal, page 7), the full product would be 7,20,000 maunds+4,44,000 maunds; and assuming the Sub-divisional Officer's appraisement of the current season's crops to be correct, the outturn would be 1,80,000+4,00,000= 5,80,000 maunds. This tract of the Damin contains 24,000 occupied houses, consuming 8,85,000† maunds annually. The deficiency would, therefore, be about two lakhs of maunds, liable to reduction by the amount of stocks in hand and the rations of those who may go elsewhere in search of work.

† This calculation is based upon six persons to a household—
One seer each for two adults.
Two seers for four children.

22. The range of prices is thus estimated—

Sub-division.	Month.	1883.		1884.
		Common rice.	Indian-corn.	Common rice.	Indian-corn.
Doomka ...	November ...	17	30	.....	.....

	June ... / July ...	.....	.....	12	18
Rajmehal ...	January ...	.....	.....	12	20
	June ... / September ...	.....	.....	16	32

23. Before leaving this part of the subject, I may say that if I can succeed in sending up to Government the statements referred to in paragraph 2, these figures for estimate of the range of prices will be more clearly given.

24. I cannot venture any opinion as to the stocks of food-grain available. Figures in such a case are useless. I notice that between April 1882 and March 1883 prices rose considerably in every district in the division (vide tables C to G attached to the Administration Report of 1882-83), and therefore I do not think any large stocks can be in hand. I do not see how there can be any stocks in Rajmehal, taking last year's crops into account.

25. I have now furnished such information as was called for in your circular under reply for all districts expect Monghyr. The report for this district will follow as soon as I receive it from the Collector. I shall of course enter into communication with each district officer separately regarding the condition of his district, and anything of importance that may arise will be promptly reported to Government. I may conclude with a few general remarks expressive of my own opinion upon the outlook. The year will be a prosperous one for the cultivators and others who have superfluous grain to dispose of, as prices will be high. It will as certainly be one of privation and difficulty to all who have short supplies, and to the labouring classes. The tracts in regard to which I at present feel anxiety are the sub-divisions of Banka and Rajmehal, and the "barinda" tract in Maldah. For the first of these, I have reasonable hopes that we shall get on. We fortunately have a Sub-divisional Officer who knows his sub-division well. He has been, and is, going round village by village, making notes of the condition of affairs, and he states (and I believe him) that he will have early knowledge of the approach of any distress. The estates in this part to a considerable extent belong to well-to-do people, and it may be expected that, at the instance of the Collectors, assistance will be forthcoming towards carrying out works of improvement, which will at once afford relief to the poorer classes, and give us time to organize larger works, if such are required.

26. I need a fuller report before I can say what may be required in Rajmehal. The Deputy Commissioner will be asked to ascertain and report upon the actual present condition and future prospects of the people of that sub-division, especially in the Damin. He will be told also to consider what useful works could be undertaken, should such form of relief prove to be required. In this connection it seems to me that the works upon the Purneah and Dinagepore Railway, at the Manibari end, should be useful both as a test of the state of the people if it draws them in large numbers and also as a means of relief when they apply themselves to labour in order to obtain food. I beg, therefore, that effort may be made to expedite the opening of the works in that locality, and that, as soon as may be, intimation may be given me of the time when the engineers will be prepared to employ a large quantity of labourers. District officers may then be told to inform the people of their districts where work can be found.

27. For the "Barinda" tract in Maldah, I have told the Collector that I must have clearer information as to the real necessity of the case before I can ask Government for a grant for the immediate opening of relief works here, as proposed by him. There is some portion of the rice crop admittedly to be reaped, and the general cutting of the crop throughout Maldah and adjoining districts will afford temporary employment and living for the poor. I cannot at present, therefore, see that relief works need be started. If, however, conditions are found to be otherwise, some of the work proposed to be done by the road cess, as also by the zemindars who are willing to assist, can be tried first by way of experiment. I believe the Purneah Railway should help this part also.

28. In no place is it at all likely that there will be found any difficulty in selecting works for execution, as may be necessary. There is a general outcry about the drying up of the water in tanks, &c., the means of supply of drink for man and beast. The excavation of these reservoirs would be everywhere useful.

29. I would suggest that the application of Act XIX of 1883 (Land Improvement Act) and the publication of rules under its different sections may be expedited.

30. Since writing the above report, the Monghyr Collector's letter No. 1480R, dated 21st November, has come to hand. The following are the conditions of that district as therein disclosed:—

Division or sub-division of district.	Ordinary proportion of harvest to food-supply.			Estimated outturn in 1883-84 in annas.
	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubbee.	Bhadoi.	Aghani.	Rubee.
	Per cent.	Per cent.	Per cent.
Sudder sub-division	10	60	30	10	4 to 5	Not given.
Jamui ditto	15	60	25	10	4 to 5	ditto.
Begusarai ditto	30	5	65	8	Not given.	8*	* Will be 10 annas if there be rain within a month.

It is stated that the aghani in Khurrukpore is better on account of the irrigation there This may raise the average yield of this crop to five annas for the whole district, including the small area sown in Beguserai. The Collector gives the average of bhadoi for the whole district at eight annas, and rubee for the same at five to six annas. He adds that the bulk of this crop is grown upon dearah lands which retain moisture. It is too soon accurately to forecast the prospects of rubbee, as sowings are still going on. He thinks that if rain falls within the next month or so, the district average for rubbee will be eight to ten annas.

31. Stocks.—The Collector's estimate is as follows:—

	Stock in hand.	Estimated outturn of crops.	Monthly consumption of population at half seer daily.	Period food-supply will last.
	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.	Months.
Sudder sub-division ...	3,69,000	24,40,810	3,12,960	7½
Jamui ditto ...	1,25,000	17,72,150	2,07,673	8½
Begusarai ditto ...	2,50,000	11,56,000	2,19,493	5½

These estimates are based upon the acreage under each crop, ascertained by enquiry made in former years in connection with the famine of 1874. They pre-suppose no exportation. It is added that the district does export wheat, maki and gram.

32. Prices.—I am unable to understand the figures supplied by the Collector under this head. I will submit the information required as soon as possible.

No. 68, dated Burdwan, the 28th November 1883.

Memo. by—J. BEAMES, Esq., Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

Copy forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Revenue Department, in continuation of this office No. 262T of the 12th instant.

No. 1274G, dated Burdwan, the 17th November 1883.

From—W. R. LARMINIE, Esq., Collector of Burdwan,
To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

I HAVE the honour to reply as follows to your circular No. 75T, dated the 25th October 1883.

2. I have obtained reports from the different sub-divisional officers, and have myself been over a considerable part of the Raneegunge sub-division. I have enquired also from various persons who had opportunities for judging as to the state of the crops, &c.

3. The rains, as you are aware, practically ceased about the middle of September, and a crop which promised to be a bumper one has been injured to a very serious extent. That on high lands, except where artificially irrigated, is a total failure, and that on low lands, except where enjoying similar benefits, is reduced to about half an average crop. A great deal, however, has been done by irrigation. About 100,000 bighas have been irrigated from the Eden canal, and the owners of tanks have, as a rule, promptly responded to the call I made upon them to give as much water as they could for irrigation purposes. The crop on the whole may be estimated at about one-third a full crop. In some villages it is less, and in others it is more, but the average is, I think, as stated above.

4. It is not easy to arrive at any conclusion regarding stocks. A good deal of rice was exported in October, the ryots being tempted to sell by the rise in price. Since that time some rice has been imported, and there is doubtless sufficient rice in the district to feed the people for several months. At all events means of communication are so good that if rice be anywhere to be had in sufficient quantity it will find its way here.

5. The labouring classes, and in some villages the ryots, will suffer pressure, but I don't think there will be any need for direct interference on the part of Government.

6. I shall urge landholders and others to take advantage of the provisions of the Land Improvement Act, and thus provide labour where required.

7. The rubbee crop will be a very poor one.

No. 3T, dated Calcutta, the 29th November 1883.

From—W. R. LARMINIE, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Orissa Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to your famine circular No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October 1883, I have the honour to report as follows.

2. The Collector of Pooree has not yet given any detailed report on the state of the crops in his district, but assures me that the main crop of rice is safe in consequence of the late rain, and that a fairly good average outturn may be expected. He adds that no famine or scarcity need be apprehended.

3. The Collector of Cuttack reports that the only crop which suffered from want of rain was the sarad, or chief rice crop, but that there has been no serious failure. Taking the beali and sarad together, the outturn will be, the Collector says, about 10 annas, or two annas less than an average crop. The prospects of the rubbee crop are reported to be favourable.

4. The Collector of Balasore reports that in the southern part of the district there has been a full crop, but that outturn falls off gradually towards the north, and is worse in a tract called Bograi, which suffered from an inundation of the Subhanreka. Even there, however, there is no reason for alarm. The prospects of the rubbee crop are good; there is a larger demand for labour on account of the coast canal works, and there is a considerable stock of grain in the district.

5. It is to be remembered that during the last three years there have been almost bumper crops in the greater part of the Orissa Division, and a large portion of these is doubtless still in the hands of the merchants.

6. The range of prices during the coming year cannot be estimated even approximately. It must depend to a great extent on the demand for rice elsewhere

7. There is not, in my opinion, any present cause for anxiety in regard to the Orissa Division, and I do not think any special precautionary measures are now necessary.

No. 617G, dated Dacca, the 28th November 1883.

From—N. S. ALEXANDER, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to your circular No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October 1883, I have the honour to submit in abstract the reports of the Collectors of this Division as to the state and the prospects of the crops in their districts.

2. The Collector of Dacca reports that the outturn of the last bhadoi or autumn rice crop was about 12 annas, and that the amun or winter rice crop is likely to be an average one in his district. The stock of grain in hand is not large; it is probable, therefore, that the prices of food-grains will range from 11 to 12 seers for the rupee. Mr. Staley writes: "From enquiry made in my own tour, I believe there is no ground to apprehend any scarcity in this district. There was less than half the usual area under jute cultivation, and rice was grown in its stead, yielding a good crop. The day-labouring class is small, and finds ample and highly paid employment on the railway, at the jute presses, in the loading and unloading of boats and ships, and in harvesting. I believe that, so far from the scarcity being injurious to the people of this district, it will add to their prosperity by giving them high prices for their good crops."

3. The Collector of Furreedpore states that the outturn of the aus or autumn crop throughout the district may be estimated to have been about 10 annas, while that of the amun is likely to be 8 annas; that the spring crops will be very bad and the outturn next to nothing, unless rain falls before the end of the year; and that there are no large grain stocks in hand in his district. He thinks "that prices may be expected to remain about the same as now (14, 15, or 16 seers of common rice to the rupee) till January, when they may perhaps fall, probably to rise again in April to 10 or 11 seers of common rice for the rupee." "On the whole," says Mr. Sharp, "if there be not large exportations, I believe that there is quite enough in the district to supply the people well till next year's crop come in, but not much more."

4. The Collector of Backergunge writes that the average outturn of the crops in the district for the present year will not be more than 10 to 12 annas, and that the price of rice has already risen by one rupee this year. The Collector has not furnished information on the other points required by the Government circular.

5. The Collector of Mymensing reports that in the Jamalpore sub-division the last bhadoi crop was good, but the amun or khurreef is not expected to be more than a 6 annas crop; in the Attia sub-division the bhadoi was about 8 annas, but the khurreef and the rubbee are likely to yield only 6 annas and 10 annas; in Kishoregunge the bhadoi was 8 annas and the khurreef is expected to give 12 annas; in the Nitrokona sub-division the khurreef is expected to be a little better than the average, viz. 13 annas. On the whole, there is likely to be an 8 to 9 annas crop of amun or winter rice in the district. The stock of grain in the district is reported not to be large, but the Collector thinks that prices will not rise higher than 10 seers per rupee.

6. Mr. Manisty writes: "There seems to be no reason for apprehending any serious scarcity, as the ryots are too well off to really suffer by the prices anticipated, and there are but few labourers without land."

7. There does not appear to me to be any likelihood of any great distress at all. Prices of food-grains will no doubt rise high, but they will not be higher than they were in 1878-79—probably not so high—and only those will suffer who are generally the object of charity—beggars, lame, blind, widows, &c., and their support must be borne by their well-to-do neighbours and the wealthy public generally.

No. 929G, dated Bankipore, the 1st December 1883.

From—F. M. HALLIDAY, Esq., Commissioner of Patna,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to the Government of Bengal orders contained in your circular No. 9T.—R., dated 23rd October last, calling for a full account of the state and prospects of the last bhadoi and the coming khureef and rubbee crops in each of the districts of this division, I have the honour to submit the following.

2. No rain fell during the first week of November, nor has any fallen up to date.

3. Shahabad.—The Collector of Shahabad writes that the bhadoi crop is not of the first importance, being about 10 per cent. of the whole produce of the year, and that Mr. MacDonnell, in his statistical work on food-grain supply, estimates the yield of bhadoi at 68,500 tons out of a total of 670,000 tons of food-grain. He had an estimate of the outturn made shortly after the harvest, and reported it to be a 5 annas crop. It was a little better in the two eastern sub-divisions, which yielded about 6 annas each, and somewhat worse in the two western sub-divisions, which yielded only 4 annas.

The winter rice crop is estimated at 312,857 tons, or a trifle more than half the annual food-supply. One effect of the extension of irrigation has been the conversion of rubbee land into rice fields, and another the increase in the produce of rice lands; and the Collector thinks it may now be said that the winter rice crop yields about 60 per cent. of the whole food-supply. The reports received from the sub-divisions are to the effect that in Sasseram there will be an 8 annas rice crop, in Buxar an 8 annas crop on the irrigated land, and in Bhabooa 1½ annas. But from the inquiries made by the Collector during his visit to the Bhabooa sub-division it appeared to him that a 4 annas rice crop may fairly be expected in Bhabooa, which has no canal irrigation worth consideration. Mr. Nolan estimates that the irrigated lands will produce throughout the district a 12 annas crop, the unirrigated a 4 annas crop. As one-third of the produce is derived from irrigated land, it may be said that the yield will be, for the district generally, 7 annas or 6 annas.

With regard to the prospect of the rubbee crop, which forms nearly 30 per cent. of the whole food-supply, the Collector says it is as yet early to speak. In the Sudder sub-division, Bhabooa and Sasseram it is at present as forward as at this season it could be, having benefitted by the most opportune rains in October. From Buxar the Sub-Divisional Officer reports that only 75 per cent. of the rubbee land has been sown, the rest having been rendered unfit by previous drought, but the crop has germinated well in this sub-division. The prospect of the rubbee crop seems favourable, but rain is everywhere wanted to secure a full crop. Even without rain an 8 annas crop is expected.

With regard to grain stocks, Mr. Nolan writes that Shahabad in ordinary years imports rice in moderate quantities, and does not export. Last year the rice crop was only 9 annas, or a third less than the normal yield, and rice has been continuously imported during the present year. It may therefore be assured that the stock in hand in Shahabad is only sufficient for consumption until the new rice is ready, or rather a little less than this, as the imports will go on in the interval. Such is the general opinion among the natives.

A great part of the rubbee harvest is exported, and the export still continues. The Collector thinks that there is in the district a sufficient stock for consumption until next rubbee season, with a slight surplus corresponding with the deficit in the rice.

With reference to the question of the probable range of prices of food during the coming year, Mr. Nolan writes:—"I am not in a good position to judge of the probable range of prices during the coming year, as this will depend, not on local, but on general causes, which are best understood at commercial centres." On reference to the price-current I find that the price of common rice is rising. On the 15th November the average price was 14 seers against 19 seers of the corresponding period of last year. There was no change, however, in the prices of wheat.

4. Gya.—The Collector of Gya states that a complete report cannot be given yet, and that he will probably have to supplement and correct his report before we can have an adequate notion of the state of affairs. He reports that the bhadoi had already failed. The best information shows it to have been only a quarter of an average, or 3 annas of the standard scale, and he states that the rice is being cut for fodder.

The reports of the khureef are not so decided, of course, as the crop has not yet ripened. Mr. Boxwell, however, states he cannot hold out any hopes of the crop being more than a third of an average, or 6 annas of the standard scale.

The rubbee prospects are of course still uncertain so far, as less than half the lineal area has been sown; but rain may do much for the next three months. On the 24th the Collector reports:—"Prospects continue very bad. Rubbee crops, where sown, are suffering for want of moisture in the soil. Further sowings deferred. The rise in prices continues." There is not much likelihood of the crop exceeding two-thirds of an average, or 8 annas of the standard scale. The Collector does not report as to the correct amount of grain stocks in hand in his district and the probable range of prices of food during the coming year. He writes that the Sub-Divisional Officer of Aurungabad estimated the stocks there, on the 11th ultimo, at 7,00,000 of maunds. But Mr. Boxwell does not place any reliance on the figures, either as excessive or otherwise, for it is impossible to obtain accurate, or even approximately accurate, information as to stocks. I have called on him to submit a more detailed report after further investigation in both the Aurungabad and the Sudder sub-division, and he has stated that he will take care the best attainable information shall be submitted.

5. Sarun.—The Collector of Sarun reports that the bhadoi crop may be estimated at 12 annas, or perhaps slightly less: say 11 annas all round.

In the high lands paddy has been entirely destroyed from the want of moisture, and is being cut for fodder or cattle. In some of the low lands, and in places where irrigation has been practicable, a fair crop has been obtained. Paddy has reached that stage at which no improvement nor further deterioration is expected. He does not think that the rice harvest can be estimated at more than a 2 annas crop.

The rubbee promises to be fairly good, provided there be a good fall of rain in December, as was the case last year. If sufficient rain falls, a 10 annas or even 12 annas crop may be expected; but if there be no rain, or only a scanty fall, it will probably not exceed a 4 annas crop. Under no circumstances, however, does Mr. Quinn apprehend a total failure of the rubbee crop, as much of this crop is always irrigated, and in cool and moist soils a harvest of some kind will be obtained even without irrigation.

The Collector has annexed to his report a statement of the prices of the principal food-grains during the current year, as compared with the year preceding and the last famine year. These I append to this report. It will be seen from this that prices, though considerably higher than they were last year, still fall short of those which ruled in the famine year. The great rise is in the price of rice, but Indian-corn is still sold at a moderate price.

A further gradual rise may be expected as long as rain keeps off; but the Collector does not expect at present that rice will fall below 12 seers or Indian-corn below 20 seers per rupee.

As regards grain stocks, the Collector writes:—"I regret that I am unable to furnish any trustworthy statistics. The figures which I have obtained are merely conjectural; but having regard to the abundance and cheapness of the bhadoi and rubbee grains during the past two years, it can hardly be doubted that the better class of cultivators, as well as the grain-dealers, hold considerable stocks. As regards rice, the district is never self-supporting, and the quantity in stock is, I believe, small. I can only say that the general opinion, in which I concur, is that there is a sufficient supply of food available to carry on the people until the rubbee crop is harvested."

6. Chumparun.—From the report received from the Collector of Chumparun it appears that the bhadoi crop will yield three-fourths of an average outturn in the Bettiah and two-thirds of an average outturn in the Sudder sub-division. The outturn of the whole district has been estimated at 8 or $\frac{8}{12}$ths of an average yield.

As regards the prospect of the rice harvest, the average outturn will be 6 annas in the Bettiah sub-division and one-third or one-fourth of an average in the Sudder sub-division. The Collector estimates the outturn of the winter rice crop all over the district at about 5 annas, or two-fifths of an average harvest.

Like other Collectors, Mr. Henry states that it is not possible now to make any satisfactory forecast as to the prospects of the rubbee crops: everything depends upon the winter rain. If this rain falls, the rubbee harvest may be expected to yield an average outturn.

The Collector has submitted a comparative statement of prices current for food-grains in 1873, 1882 and 1883, which are appended. It will be seen that the present rates for common rice and maize, though high, are considerably lower than they were in 1873. Of late the rice market has again become easier, and the Collector does not anticipate any marked fluctuations in the prices of food-grains between this and the end of January. The Terai districts are said to have suffered from capriciousness and scantiness of the rainfall, and exportation, it is said, has been forbidden by the Nepal Durbar.

There appears to be little doubt that there are considerable stocks of grain in the district. The fact that prices have become easier, though there is no importation from Nepal, and the winter harvest has failed to the extent of three-fifths, is satisfactory proof that there is no scarcity of grain.

The Collector reports:—"Though the outlook is, on the whole, gloomy, the condition of the people of this district does not afford any immediate cause for anxiety. We can only now look forward hopefully to the fall of seasonable winter rain. If this fails us, the condition of the poorest classes of the people will require careful watching, and the direct intervention of the Government will be required to a greater or less extent."

7. Mozufferpore.—The Collector of Mozufferpore submits the following estimate of the outturn of the three harvests of the year:—

Bhadoi	... ...	7 annas.
Aghani	... ...	4 „
Rubbee	... ...	From 8 to 10 annas, according to the future rainfall.

The principal causes of injury to the crops have been:—

First.—The cyclone vortex of the 16th and 17th June, which was attended by about 15 inches of rainfall during those two days, swamping the rice tracts and flooding the newly-sown crops.

Secondly.—The inundations of August, which caused extensive damage to the bhadoi and aghani crops.

Thirdly.—The drought which set in in the middle of September, and has prevailed to the present time. The following table shows the rainfall during September and October in each sub-division, as compared with the preceding year:—

	Sudder.		Hajipore.		Sheetamurhee.
	1882-83.	1883-84.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1882-83.	1883-84.
September	10·62	6·11	5·62	3·76	5·56	5·56
October	3·21	0·13	5·40	0·40	2·89	0·07

On the subject of the exceedingly difficult question of the amount of grain at present held in stock, Mr. Norman states that attempts have been made by some officers to estimate the proportion of last year's harvests consumed and number of maunds in stock, but mere guesses of this sort are obviously unreliable. It is, as he rightly says, at best possible only to form a rough judgment upon the subject, guided by such sources of information as are available, such as the visible stocks exposed at the principal marts and bazars, the course of prices, and the general opinion of the people. Judging them in this way, the Collector has arrived at the following conclusion:—No deficiency in the supply has occurred anywhere. Should there be rain within the next few weeks, a moderate outturn of rubbee may be expected, and in this case there are no grounds for anticipating any actual deficiency in the supply of food. Should the rubbee unfortunately fail, it will be our duty to take another forecast of the situation, guided by the then existing circumstances. At present it is impossible confidently to predict the result; but Mr. Norman urges his opinion that there are good grounds for the general impression that a failure of the rubbee will result in a famine more or less severe. I own I am unable to anticipate so gloomy a conclusion as actual famine, though it is possible that, upon the worst realization of the failure of crop, the intervention of Government will be to some extent required.

On the subject of importation and exportation, this district usually imports food-grains largely from Nepal and Chumparun, last year's imports from Nepal having been registered at the five frontier registering stations as amounting to 5,41,000 maunds. The sub-division of Hajipore, which does not grow sufficient food-grains for its own supply, is to a great extent dependent upon importation. It is reported that little or no importation from Chumparun has taken place this year, owing to the dearness of grain there. Exportation from Nepal commenced briskly; but having myself, in the course of a recent tour, been informed by two bodies of cartmen that the Nepal Government had forbidden exportation of food-grains (though owing to the venality of the officials, the prohibition had been in some cases ineffective, except in enhancing the cost of purchase), I am in demi-official communication on the subject with the Resident in Nepal.

With reference to the probable range of prices during the ensuing months, this will depend chiefly on the rainfall of the next few weeks. Mr. Norman estimates that about five-sixths of the rubbee land has already been sown, while one-sixth remains unsown for want of moisture. From all sub-divisions rubbee on high lands is reported to be withering; but as a general rule, though stunted by want of rain, the heavy dews have enabled it to preserve its vitality. Should the crop fail altogether, it is probable that famine prices will result. Should rain within the next few weeks afford the prospect of a moderate harvest (anything higher than 10 annas being already hopeless), it is possible that prices may gradually rise to the following points up to the end of January 1884:—

	Present value. Seers per rupee.	Probable value. Seers per rupee.
Common rice	17	9
Murwa	28	17
Maize	27	15
Barley	28½	14
Wheat	18½	12
Gram	23½	15

These prices, as Mr. Norman says, imply privation and hardship to the landless classes, but not actual famine.

8. Patna.—The Collector of Patna reports that for the whole district there was little or no bhadoi crop. It either failed or was destroyed by inundation. The rice, again, except where the ahars, or irrigation reservoirs, have stood, will be a very poor harvest. Speaking generally, he estimates the yield of the bhadoi to be 2 annas of the ordinary crop, that of rice 4 annas, and of jonera, or Indian-corn, about 8 annas. The paddy, he states, is being reaped.

The rubbee has germinated fairly well, but the hopes of a good harvest must depend upon a seasonable fall of rain. In the head-quarters sub-division, including Dinapore, the prospects are better.

Captain Boileau, Sub-Divisional Officer of Dinapore, writes:—"The total estimated outturn of the aghani, or winter rice, including those grown on the irrigated area, is 30 per cent. of an average crop. The bhadoi (monsoon) crops, which consist chiefly of Indian-corn as a principal crop, have also suffered a loss to the extent of 75 per cent. The prospect of the rubbee crops in places other than dearah (lands liable to flood of Ganges) are in general far from good. On the dearah the rubbee crop will be fairly good. The outturn of the rubbee crop will, on the whole, it may be expected, be 25 per cent. of the average crop. If the rain falls at all, it will, I believe, increase the outturn by about 20 per cent."

In the Behar sub-division there is about 1,60,000 maunds of grain in stock. In the Dinapore rural tracts there are large quantities buried, estimated at about one lakh of maunds. At present throughout the district there is an ample supply of grain, the Collector thinks. The Sub-Divisional Officer of Dinapore reports that the prices of food-grains are at present as follows, as compared with the corresponding period of last year:—

	Per rupee.
	Present year.						Last year
	s.	c.		s.	c.		s.	c.
Rice	11	12	to	12	12		18	0
Wheat	15	0	to	18	8		17	8
Barley	23	0	to	24	0		20	8
Indian-corn	20	0	to	21	0		35	0
Gram	20	0	to	21	0		27	0

Many of the grain dealers state that the prices of food-grains are not likely to rise further unless the rubbee crops totally or materially fail. If this is the case, ordinary trade will not be interfered with, so that large stocks of grain will not be kept by dealers, but such grain will be sent to places where prices are still higher. The Collector does not entertain any apprehension of scarcity in his district.

9. Durbhunga.—The Collector of Durbhunga reports that the last bhadoi crop was a poor one owing to excessive inundation. Nowhere throughout the district was it in excess of 8 annas, and in places very much less, if not entirely destroyed. On an average, all round, it may be taken to have been a 6 or 7 annas crop.

With regard to the rice crop, the Collector says that, under no circumstance, can there be more than 6 annas of the crop throughout the district. If in some places a 12 annas crop is reaped, in others a 2 or 4 annas crop only will be the yield. There is very little paddy grown in the Tajpore sub-division, and he says, from his personal observation, that most of it would be a 10 or 12 annas crop. Throughout the Madhubani sub-division it will scarcely be an 8 annas crop, and not so good in the Sudder sub-division. On the low lands of the district it is good—sometimes very good; in high lands very bad.

The rubbee is still looking good everywhere, in spite of want of rain, particularly in the Tajpore sub-division; but if rain does not fall soon, at any rate in December, the outlook will be very serious, he considers.

The stock of food-grains in the district has been estimated to be seven or eight lakhs; but these figures do not include the hoards of grain in the houses of the zemindars and rich cultivators, to get at which is not easy. But a very good idea may be formed of the stocks by the prices that food-grains have already reached, as noted below, and are reported to be stationary up to the 24th November 1883:—

	Seers per rupee.
Rice	18 to 17
Gram	20
Dál	18 to 15
Mukai and murwa	80

It will be seen that prices are high, but not so high as to cause any immediate anxiety. Doubtless, as the year advances, prices will be still higher than they are now; but the Collector does not, with the prospect immediately in view, anticipate that rice can possibly sell for less than 11 seers for the rupee, dál for 12 or 13½, and mukai and murwa at 20.

10. I have already, in my demi-official communications, after my visit to Mozufferpore, stated that, with regard to the tract of country in that district which had suffered severely from the floods of the Bagmutty and Gunduck rivers, the prospects were not so gloomy as had been at first apprehended. The area affected is comparatively small; and though individual villages may suffer considerably, and the ryots have hard times, from the prospect of failure of the rubbee sowings owing to drought, the supply of grain will be supplemented from other parts of the districts.

It will be seen that the reports from the Gya district are the least assuring as to the coming prospects. Along the west of the district, along its whole length, runs the Soane canal of the Patna and Gya line, from which irrigation is available, so that the rubbee crops should not suffer there. A great portion of the north of the district is similar in character to the Patna district; and the floods in the rainy season, which did damage to the bhadoi crops, should have secured considerable moisture in the soil for the fairly successful cultivation of succeeding crops. In the southern and eastern parts of the district irrigation by means of ahars, or reservoirs, is very extensively carried on; and the crops, the cultivation of which is always to a greater or smaller degree precarious, depend greatly upon this irrigation. Though the Collector does not mention it, I learn that, owing to heavy rain and inundation, many of these reservoirs burst and were rendered useless for the purposes of future irrigation for the winter crops and the rubbee. It is in this part of the country where so much must depend upon the next fall of rain. Mr. Boxwell mentions that the tracts he is afraid for are the extensive rice plains of the north of the Gya district; but he admits that Mr. Jenkins, the Sub-Divisional Officer of Jehanabad, took a brighter view of the outlook than he did. Mr. Jenkins' report had not been received, however, and I expect it shortly: it will relate to the part of the country which I have mentioned above as being most probably favourably affected by the inundations of the rainy season.

11. I propose to submit a further report at the end of December, after ascertaining a more complete position of the state of affairs up to that period. Should, however, the circumstances call for it, I will of course submit further particulars within that period. I think it advisable to urge on Government the question of the very early construction of the line of railway from Hajipore to Mozufferpore. Its completion will materially serve to aid in meeting the necessity for the transit of grain into the three northern districts, should such necessity arise later on. I am aware that, owing to the construction of several bridges, the line cannot be made open for general traffic for some little time; but I would suggest that the earthwork and laying down of rails might advantageously be pushed forward, and the bridge gaps could be easily made passable hereafter by temporary crossings.

In the same way the construction of the Chupra and Sewan line might, under the pressure of Government instructions, be carried on perhaps more expeditiously, though I am aware that the company are carrying on their work with considerable vigour already.

No 330Met, dated Bogra, the 1st December 1883.

From—Lord H. Ulick Browne, Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal Revenue Department.

I have the honour to enclose the replies of the District Officers of this division to Government Famine Circular No. 91—R, dated 23rd October 1883, calling for a report on the state and prospects of crops, the probable stocks of food-grains, and the probable range of prices during next year.

2. As officers seldom adopt the same basis when reporting that a crop is represented by so many annas, I instructed the District Officers of this division to adopt, when replying to the circular, not a bumper or 16 annas crop, such as is obtained about once in 15 or 20 years, as a basis, but to take an average crop, viz. three-fourths or 12 annas of a bumper one, so that, if an officer should report an eight-anna rice crop, it would mean half of an average one, and not half of a bumper one, so rarely obtained. This should be remembered when reading the reports.

3. I have myself seen a little of the Dinagepore and Bogra districts, and have passed through 60 miles of the northern half of the Rungpore district in different directions. In these three districts I have of course endeavoured to obtain from all classes of people, officials and others, as much information on the subject of this letter as possible by verbal enquiries, and I am consequently in a position to judge better in the case of those three districts (as well as Darjeeling) than in that of the others.

4. In regard to the question of stocks in all the districts, of course a general idea of the habits of the people is obtainable, and may be generally relied on, such as, for instance, that it is the custom of this class to store grain for so many months of the next year; but I think all estimates of quantities in maunds in the hands of ryots and dealers are worthless. It may be remembered that on the last occasion of scarcity in Bengal the leading men of the British Indian Association, and notably the late Rajah Degumber Mitter, wrote an elaborate letter on the subject of the stocks then believed to exist in the country, giving reason at length, and the conclusions were alarming, but happily they turned out to be incorrect.*

5. Another point that may be dealt with generally is the probable range of prices. I do not see how any District Officer or Divisional Commissioner can form an estimate of these that would be of the least value. Now that the country has some main lines of railway, with road communications much improved, with some water communication in the dry season, and excellent water communication in many parts during the rainy season, and grain can be sent wherever it is most wanted within a reasonable distance, and it seems to me that prices in any given district or division will in a great measure depend on the condition of the districts in other divisions. Thus, while no single Commissioner or District Officer can form an opinion of any value on the point, Government will have materials for doing so in the reports received from all the divisions. But even the opinion so formed will probably only be good for some months, as the actual outturn of the rubbee crops, and the fall of rain from June, will affect prices later.

6. Dinagepore.—It will be perceived that almost all the more detailed information reported came from three managers of Wards' estates, of whom the manager of one (Sunkerpore) has only lately arrived in the district. I attach little value to his opinion and estimate, and I must say the same of the manager of Hurripore. The manager of Chooramon knows that estate well, and is a superior officer, so I am inclined to rely a good deal on what he says. The Collector has, however, himself been to the north of the district, and the Sub-Deputy Collector has been over a good deal of it, and though he does not say so, the Collector has of course borne in mind what he has heard from the police of every quarter of the district. In Dinagepore the prospect does not seem bad on the whole, and in so far as an opinion can be formed in regard to a period of twelve months just about to commence (a very difficult matter), I am inclined to think that the reaping of the rice on the ground, work on the district roads paid for by road cess funds, work on the line of railway from Dinagepore to the west, and a grant from Government for work in the south of the district, with some small works in the Wards' estates will suffice for the needs of this district.

7. Rajshahye.—On a consideration of the Collector's report, I think relief works in the Bhurind tracts, where there is but one crop, which was an indifferent one last year, and is a bad one this year, will be necessary, and there may be a demand for employment before very long. The road cess funds will be quite inadequate, and a grant from Government will be necessary. The owners of Wards' estates in this district are not rich, and little can be expected from them.

8. Pubna.—This district seems to be in a better condition than Dinagepore or Rajshahye. It seems doubtful whether any special measure will be required. I may mention that information received from Bogra by no means confirms the report that reached the Sub-Divisional Officer of Serajgunge as to the existence of considerable stocks in the part of the Bogra district bordering on Serajgunge.

9. Bogra.—There will probably be a small demand for employment on roads, tanks, &c., in the north and north-west of the district some three months hence; but there is a tract in the south, bounded on the north by the road from Sooltanpore Railway Station to Bogra, and on the east by the road from Bogra to Sherepore (and on to Serajguuge) which covers about a sixth of the area of the district, in which, from the information I have received, there will not only be distress and need for relief works, but the need will come pretty soon. There is in the greater part of this tract only one crop annually, which has been indifferent for two years, and is very bad this year. While on tour here, I have received more than 100 petitions from several hundred ryots of this tract, and from a few of the Rajshahye district bordering on it, asking in general terms for assistance in consequence of the failure of their crops and their distressed condition; and in this instance I think some charitable relief in the way of spinning thread, &c., will certainly be necessary, where there is no able-bodied male relative of the family to work. There is a small fund, being the surplus of the subscriptions raised for the reception of the Lieutenant-Governor on the occasion of his visit to Bogra in September 1882, which has already been set aside for charitable relief, and it will have to be supplemented. It so happens that the Road Cess Committee propose to spend Rs. 6,500 on the Sooltanpore and Bogra road, and work will be offered there and on village roads in the tract at once; but very little can be done with the limited road cess funds, and there are two works in regard to which I recommend Government to take preliminary steps at once, so that they may be available when a substantial demand for employment sets in. One is a railway bank from Sooltanpore to Bogra, the survey of which has, I understand, just been completed though not yet worked out on paper. The other is the construction of a road on a break of eleven miles between Gohail and Doorgapore, places in the south of the unfortunate tract. To the east of Gohail there is a road to Sherepore, and to the west of Doorgapore there is another to the railway, and while the Sherepore people now have to make a long detour by Bogra to get to the railway, the filling up of the gap would be a great public convenience and make a feeder to the railway complete. The Road Cess Committee have been unable to take up the work for want of funds, and Government must find the money for it now if it is to be carried out.

10. Rungpore.—I doubt if any measures will be required to the north of Rungpore sudder station, or near it on the south; but in the tract in the Gyabandah sub-division, mentioned by the Collector, the ryots are poor, the soil indifferent or bad, and the present winter rice crop a very bad one. In this tract relief works will doubtless be required at the cost of Government, and probably some modified form of charitable relief for those who cannot work on roads, &c. But I shall know more about this tract when the Collector, who has now gone there, reports again about it. The zemindars and others of Rungpore tell me that well-to-do ryots in the northern part of the district store rice, but that the poorer classes do not, and I agree with the Collector in thinking there are no stocks in the hands of the ryots in the bad tract.

11. No relief measures will be required in Julpigoree and Darjeeling.

12. General.—I think, where relief measures are required, little or nothing beyond subscriptions towards a modified form of charitable relief can be expected from the zemindars, as, speaking generally, the worst tracts in the division are owned by men who are not rich, and as they will get little or no rents, their resources will be required to pay the Government revenue. The road cess funds that will be available are very limited, being the balance available after meeting the requirements of the law as regards some repairs to all the roads in the district whether in a distressed tract or not, and the cost of establishments and supervision. Thus, where anything but small relief works are necessary, they must be carried out at the cost of Government.

13. My experience is that there is a very good test which will answer the question whether there is not real distress among ryots. It is a test that can be easily applied, and I have never known it fail. It is to offer them work on roads or tanks at two annas a day for able-bodied men, and at lower rates for working women and children. If ryots are really in distress they will work on the roads for that small wage, but they will not do so till they are in distress. It is of course necessary to be on the watch for cases of respectable women who cannot do such work, and to give in such cases light spinning, &c., to be done at home. On hearing that ryots would be ready to work for the two annas, I instructed the District Officers of Dinagepore and Bogra to offer it, and to report the result. The offers are now being, or are about to be, made. In many cases they will not be accepted now, but I think they will be accepted in two or three months' time. I am now about to instruct the District Officers of Rajshahye, Pubna and Rungpore to be on the alert in the matter, and to be ready to make the offer tentatively when they hear of distress. The District Officers of Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Bogra, and Rungpore will be asked to be on the alert for cases requiring a modified form of charitable relief, to exhort the Road Cess Committees to give no earthwork this year to substantial contractors, but to be prepared to get less for their money by giving employment by the day or petty contract under the Committee's officers, to divert as much money as can be spared (it will be very little indeed) from bridges and works in the tracts where the people are well off, to work on village and other roads near the homes of the people in the tracts where distress may be expected, and to give no employment to coolies from far off districts on the smaller local works, as such people, being absent from their homes, can as well work at railway banks in Dinagepore and Bogra (assuming that the latter will be made) as at other works in those and other districts, while ryots of Dinagepore and Bogra, who apply for work on the railway banks, should have the preference over outsiders.

14. I shall take care to keep myself informed how matters are going on, and address Government whenever it is necessary.

REPORT OF THE COLLECTOR OF DINAGEPORE.

I will take the questions asked in their order, and begin by saying that you are correct in assuming the failure of the rainfall to have chiefly occurred in September and October. The subject of the earlier rains will be dealt with in its place.

The loss to the crops in various parts of the district has been reported upon by the managers. I give an analysis of their reports

Loss of crop.—I have assumed, as directed in your paragraph 5, that a 12-anna crop is an average one, and all the calculations I have made are based upon that assumption. Thus, when I say that so many annas are injured, I am to be understood as meaning that so many annas of the average 12 annas crop are injured, the 12 annas being converted into 16 annas for the purpose of this calculation; the loss will therefore not represent the loss on the convertional 16 annas, but will be that calculated upon a 12 annas average crop. Thus, a reported outturn of an 8-anna crop will really equal but a 6-anna outturn according to the usual calculation.

Chooramon.—The manager of Chooramon reports that the paddy crop in his estate has been injured to the extent of 9 annas, or in other words that three-fourths of the paddy crop is affected. This is a greater loss than I anticipated, but my instructions were so clear that I am convinced the calculation has been arrived at after due enquiry by Mr. French. That officer also reports that but 10 annas of the rubbee crop has been sown owing to want of rain. The bhadui on the Chooramon estate yielded fairly in parts, but in others the yield was poor, the entire outturn being 10 annas of an average crop, reckoning 12 annas crop as the unit of calculation. The cold-weather grain crops are grown to but a small extent on the Ganges Mehals, but they do not enter into our calculations in estimating for this district. This estimate for Chooramon may be taken as pretty generally applying to that portion of the district which lies due west of Kaliagunge.

Hurripore.—This estate embraces lands situated in the Ranisankoil, Hemtabad, Kaliagunge, Peergunge, and Thakurgaon elakas. The manager reports that the outturn of bhadoi in all parts of this estate was a poor one; he reckons it to have been but half the outturn of an average crop of 12 annas, or but a 6 annas or p according to convertional calculation. I must confess that this surprises me. One did not hear of any general failure of the bhadoi crop such as this report would pre-suppose at the time. The manager also makes a most gloomy report of the state of the amun prospects. I directed him to enquire personally, and the result of his observations is that in pergunnah Kholerah, which is situated in thannas Ranisankoil, Hemtabad, Kaliagunge, and Peergunge, the outturn will be but three annas of the average 12 annas crop. In lot Madhobpore, which lies in Peergunge and Kaliagunge, it will be 4½ annas of the average. In another part of Peergunge and Ranisankoil it will be but six annas, whilst in Thakurgaon alone it reaches the average of nine annas of an average crop. This is much worse than I had anticipated, or in fact than the manager himself led me to believe when he was in the station, and before I ordered him to go through the State and see for himself the state of things.

Sunkerpore.—Mr. Ricketts has, as you are aware, but a short time ago joined his appointment. He has, however, been round a great part of the estate since the receipt of your letter under reply, and his report is by no means cheering. His estate is almost entirely an amun growing estate. Mr. Ricketts reports on three elakas in his estate. In the Jahangirpore elaka, which has for its centre the Mahadebpore thanna, he reports that the prospects are gloomy in the extreme, and he mentions fifteen villages in which he considers, from personal observation, that a one-anna crop is doubtful, and he names two where the seedlings were never transplanted at all, and where he saw them dried up on the ground.

Of the Baloorghat circle he only reports at second-hand, and mentions that three annas will be the probable outturn; and of Badalgachi, which he has himself visited, and which has facilities for irrigation, he estimates eight annas of an average crop. Taking it altogether, and dividing the estate into the three natural geographical divisions into which it falls, Mr. Ricketts estimates—

Baloorghat	3 annas
Mahadebpore	6 „
Badalgachi	8 „

or on an average a little under a six annas crop all round.

I have not received the Sub-Deputy Collector's report in time to incorporate with this I will, however, send its substance separately when I receive it.

I may mention, as I have already informed you demi-officially, that I have been fortunate enough to be encamped near a large mehal at Kantanuggur, where I had an opportunity of conversing with people from all parts of the district. I spoke to them on the road and in the mehal, and without their having the least opportunity for making collusive statements.

They nearly all said the same that the paddy on the high lands is totally destroyed; that on the lower grounds will yield about a four-anna crop, whilst the paddy in the bhils will be fairly good. I think myself that, taking good lands with bad lands, the outturn of the district will be half an average crop or a 6-7 annas crop on the usual estimate. This is taking the entire outturn of the district altogether, but I fear that in some parts, where bhil land is scarce, the outturn will be only about a four-anna one. I have made, as far as I can, allowances for exaggeration, and this is the result at which I have arrived.

Stocks.—In your letter under reply, you desire me to consider how far this failure of the crop may tend by means of increased prices to increase the comfort of the ryot, and to render him better able to meet the demands against him. On this point I will quote the various managers first before giving my own opinion.

Chooramon.—Mr. French reports that on this estate there are 22,200 tenants holding jummas. Of these, about 5,550 are likely to hold about one-fourth of the rice they will require for their own consumption. About 16,650 are pretty well to do, and are likely to have enough paddy with the crop they are about to reap to keep them going until the bhadoi comes in the September. The manager estimates the stocks as follow:—

	Mds.
In the hands of well-to-do ryots	299,700
Poorer ditto	24,975
In golahs partly owned by head ryots and partly by outsiders ...	50,000
Total ...	374,675

It has been reported to me, with what truth I know not, that some of our Chooramon ryots took their rice for sale to Maldah, but were obliged to bring it back, as orders had been issued in that district fixing a rate above which paddy was not to be sold. It is a fact that they brought their grain back, and it is also a fact that I myself saw and spoke to cartmen coming to the north of this district from the south of Maldah with grain for sale, and these men gave me the same reason for being at such a distance from their homes. High prices of course will increase the ability of the better class of the ryots to pay, but this will be materially interfered with if the course of trade is checked by any artificial means. Whatever may have been the reason of these Chooramon tenants returning from Maldah, it is certain that the expenses of the journey to and fro will affect the profits they will make on their paddy. Mr. French says that some 1,390 men have been reported to him as willing to come on road work. He doubts the fact himself, and is about to put it to a pratical test, the result of which will be duly communicated to you. Mr. French is inclined to the opinion, in which I also concur, that nothing but sheer starvation will bring ryots on to road work and that we are safe from such a state of things in his part of the country until March or April next, or even until May. They will sell everything first before they will turn out as coolies.

Sunkerpore.—The manager of this estate goes into an elaborate though fallacious calculation to show that 87 per cent. of his ryots have no stocks at all. I presume he means no stocks beyond what will feed themselves: but, as this is what we wanted to find out, his calculation is comparatively valueless, seeing that he calculates the maintenance of a family, adult and infant, at Rs. 2 per head per month; the calculation is worthless. I, however, met several ryots from that part of the country, and they said that all the ryots, except those who were just above the status of day labourers, had supplies to last them for three months, and that the stocks ranged (apart from those in the golahs) from a three months' supply in the hands of the poorer ryots up to a full year's supply in those of the well-to-do men. This bears out Mr. French's observations that for three months at least the worst classes of ryots have what will feed them. I have been told that in this part of the district there are men willing to work on the roads. It may be so; but I have subjected the theory to a practical test, and will communicate the result. I have also directed the manager further to enquire and report on stocks in the hands of ryots.

Hurripore.—The manager of Hurripore is somewhat contradictory in his statements. He first says that until May next there will be no pressure on the people. In this he is probably right; but he then goes on to say that after careful enquiry he can only ascertain that some 5,000 maunds of paddy are in the hands of the ryots and some 45,000 maunds stored in mahajans' golahs. He verbally propounded what he considered a simple solution of the difficulties with which we are threatened by requesting me to stop exportation. My own impression is that there are, as far as I can make out, two classes of ryots in this district. The one is comparatively well to do; those who compose it first store what rice they think they shall require for the year and sell the balance. These are men who will benefit by the misfortune of their neighbours. They will sell their surplus grain at high rates. They will always be in a position to borrow. These men may safely be left out of count in reckoning for any future distress. They form 75 per cent. of the Chooramon ryots, and I think the calculation may be accepted for the rest of the district. In this district there is land and to spare, and the cultivators are alive to the fact. They have hitherto held lands on easy terms, and if they have not put by money or grain, there credit is sound and they can tide over one bad year. There is another class, those who put by from crop to crop. They do not live an exactly hand-to-mouth it is true, but they save from one crop what will tide them over the next. These are the men amongst whom distress will appear, if it appears at all, and it will appear after they have sold all their belongings and have no other means of livelihood apart from daily labour. I write under a deep sense of responsibility for what I am writing. Two out of the three managers under me report the existence of no stocks between the people and starvation. But giving every weight to the opinions of those gentlemen, I cannot but think that they have been led away by compassionate zeal for the ryots of the estates which they manage, and that things are not so bad as they really seem. I have seen ryots at this very Kantanuggur fair coming from these tracts where famine is supposed to be imminent. They are, it is true, the better classes of ryots, whom, as I have been informed, a sense of gratitude for high prices has induced to pay their thank-offering to the Thakoor. My observations induced me to believe that they are well off, and are prepared to bring the various piece and other goods which I saw exposed for sale. However it may be, I take the responsibility of saying that, apart from the coolie class, of whom there are very few in this district, we shall have no distress amongst the cultivators before the end of March; that then we shall have distress only amongst the class of ryots immediately above the status of coolies; and that, unless a failure of the bhadoi and another drought takes place, this will be the extent to which famine will touch this district. Prices will undoubtedly be light, luxuries will have to be curtailed, but anything like absolute starvation will not prevail. I am as it were forecasting events according to my lights. I do so after much reflection. I shall not, however, hesitate to report later on if I find my ideas have been wrongly reasoned out, and that I have erred on the side of caution in my reply to your letter.

I am asked by the letter of Government under reply to state what the probable price of food-grain will be during the coming year. The question is one which no man can answer. One of the managers puts down 8 seers to the rupee as the probable selling value of rice in the estate under him. He gives no data for his opinion, and apparently answers to fill up the column under which his answer is required. In this district there is one cause influencing prices—that is the payment of grain wages for reaping the aman harvest. Hitherto this has been reaped by Nagpories and Beharies, and these men at the end of their service rush all the dhan that they earn on the market and convert it into rupees to take home with them. It remains to be seen whether local labour will not this year take the place of this foreign labour, and whether the grain, so much as it is, will not be taken home by local labourers and consumed in their own houses. This influence is, however, but temporary, and is seen in January. I cannot forecast prices, and I do not wish to do so on guess-work which may be found to be utterly fallacious. The prices prevailing now on an average 25 - 30 for paddy and 10—12 for rice. I see no immediate cause for a rise or for a fall, and that is all I will say. It is simply impossible to make a further forecast The circumstances of neighbouring districts, the influx of foreign competition in the shape of merchants coming into this district, tend to bring up the prices of grain. In fact, all the accidents of trade render it impossible for me to fix any rate at which rice will presumably sell during the year, and so I consider that any opinion I might express would be mere guess-work, and useless to Government for the purpose of the enquiry it has on hand.

Your paragraph 3.—Rain undoubtedly failed throughout the district, notably in Chooramon and Sunkerpore, for transplanting. Transplanting had to be done at the last moment.

Since writing the above, I have received the Sub-Deputy Collector's report. He has been over a greater part of the district and has arrived at the same conclusion as I have regarding the probable outturn. He estimates that four houses in every village have a 12 months' supply, and that altogether there are 11 lakhs of maunds in the hands of the cultivators, and, taking all the grain in the golahs, there are 36 lakhs of maunds in the district. This is, I think, a fair estimate.

He reports distress amongst the labouring classes in Porsha and Neetpore, and in the south-west corner of the district generally. I have taken measures to provide labour on surface repairs to main roads and on village roads.

Thannas Birgunge, Thakurgaon, Peergunge, and Ranisankoil are fairly well off, as are parts of Chintamon, Nowabgunge and Gangarampore.

REPORT OF THE COLLECTOR OF RAJSHAHYE.

I HAVE the honour to report that the bhadoi crop suffered in June and the commencement of July from short rainfall, but improved towards the middle of the latter month. It is considered to have yielded three-quarters of an average crop in Nowgong, where, however, the cultivation is not extensive.

In the head-quarters and Nattore sub-division the outturn was smaller, probably not more than three-eighths of the average.

Although the rainfall was scanty, its early distribution was such that nearly a full amun paddy crop was planted out. The almost entire absence of rain in September and October has caused the distruction of the greater part of this.

The amun paddy of the district may be divided, broadly speaking, into two varieties—one planted in the bhils, of which the largest lie in the Nattore or eastern side; the other on the terraced uplands of the Bhurind, which runs from the west of the district in the Godagary thanna round the north through thannas Panchoopore and Manda as far east as Singra.

The bhils were not fully flooded this year, but Nattore was not so much affected as the head-quarters and Nowgong. Its bhil crop is said to be an average one, while in the two other sub-divisions only the paddy of the deeper bhils survived, and not more than one-fourth to three-eighths of an average crop can be reaped. All over the Bhurind the crop which could not be watered from the shallow tanks studding the higher lands gradually withered off. The general estimate in each of the sub-divisions is four annas of an average I have myself verified this in the Godagary thanna.

The failure of rain has affected the rubbee both as regards the quantity of lands sown down and the probable outturn. The deficiency in quantity of land in the head quarters and Nowgong is about three-eighths; for Nattore it has not been stated. Without rain the total crop is not likely to exceed half the average.

Boro dhan seedlings have not been transplanted as yet. There is nothing against the crop being a good one. As bearing on the general wealth of the district, I note that the jute crop has been good, and the trade active. The silk factories have had an unusual season, working almost without intermission. Sugarcane is said to promise well, and ganja, although a smaller area than last year has been planted, will be an average crop if the Christmas rain falls.

With the short notice given, it is not possible to hazard more than a rough guess at the stocks of grain in the district. The police have given returns obtained by sending constables round to all the hauts to enquire, but these are on the face of them obviously incorrect.

They make out the entire stock of the district to be only—paddy 2,13,677 maunds, rice 6,143 maunds. There is no doubt these are largely under-estimated.

The Sub-Divisional Officer of Nattore puts the stocks of his side at a lakh-and-a-half of maunds. In the Bhurind the crop last year was short, and though in some cases the villagers in that direction are at present refusing to part with their grain, and carts return empty, export to other districts still continues. On the whole, from the general enquiries made, I see no reason for anxiety as to the supply of grain for the district during the coming year.

It is impossible to predict the range of prices beyond next June, when everything will depend on the regularity or otherwise of the monsoon. As far as can be judged at present, I should say the highest prices have been already reached, and that, if anything, they will have a tendency to fall after the reaping of the amun paddy. There may again be a partial rise in February and March, but it is not likely to overtop the rates now ruling. These are—

	Commonerice.
	S.	ch.
Nattore	13	8	per rupee.
Nowgong	14	0	ditto.
Sudder sub-division	14	0	ditto.

With regard to paragraph 4 of your letter, the Bhurind is the only part of the district in regard to which there appears reason for anxiety. Its inhabitants are almost entirely dependent on the one crop of roya amun. Last year the crop was not a good one, and this year there will be only about four annas. The people are of low castes very improvident, and the dhangars do not invest in ornaments, so that they have nothing beside their cattle to carry to their mahajans. They will not be able to repay their last year's advances and mahajans in many cases will not give further advances until they see next year's crop on the ground. On the other hand they take readily to spade labour, and can be easily provided for by excavating tanks and in road work. I have called on the Sub-Divisional Officers to impress on local landowners the advantage of having the half-silted up tanks dug out during the coming season of cheap labour. The matter has been taken up in the Ward's Department, and I have, in consultation with the District Engineer, kept back funds allotted to roads in that part of the district until we can see where they will be most required.

REPORT OF THE MAGISTRATE OF PUBNA.

THE rainfall this year has been abnormal. It has not been deficient to any great extent, but while in May and July we had excessive rain and heavy floods in the former month, in August, September and October the fall was scanty. The early cessation of the rains—very little having fallen in September and hardly any at all in October—combined with a deficient supply of spilt water from the rivers, has had a very bad effect on the amun rice crop. I send a statement of rainfall month by month for 1882 and 1883 for comparison.

The aus rice crop reaped in July and August is not an important one in this district, as the bulk of the land is kept for amun rice or jute. The floods in May and the irregularity in the season generally damaged it, and the outturn is estimated at 10 annas.

The most important crop is that of amun rice reaped in November and December. There is very little transplanting in this district, the greater part of the crop being sown and reaped on the same ground. The area under transplanted rice has not suffered specially, as there was sufficient rain in the early part of the season for sowing and transplanting operations.

The amun crop has suffered from the early cessation of the rains, and the want of spilt water from the rivers; which is depended on over a great part of the Serajgunge sub-division for the successful cultivation of this crop. The parts worse affected are the high lands on the northern borders of the district in thanna Kaigunge. Here the outturn is not expected to exceed 6 annas. Elsewhere we estimate that half an average crop or 8 annas may be housed. For the whole district this would give us slightly under 8 annas, but nearer 8 than 7.

The prospects of the winter crops are so far fairly good, but much depends on whether we get a fall of rain before the end of the year. There is at present a want of moisture in the ground, but a few light showers would set this all right.

Stocks are not large in the district owing to the extensive cultivation of jute. Rice is also always imported from Bogra and elsewhere for the supply of food to the people. The larger ryots have a certain amount of reserve in stock, but as a rule the people, it is said, are now subsisting on their current year's harvest, which may last them till March, and from that time till they reap next year's aus crop in June and July they will have to depend on the sale of such winter crops as they may get, or on advances for their future rice crop. Nothing, however, is definitely known about stocks, and as prices rise hidden supplies will doubtless be brought to light. The Joint-Magistrate of Serajgunge, who is now encamped on the borders of the Bogra district, from which we always get a large supply, reports that there are said to be extensive stocks there. The earliest millets which are sown on the eastern churs in February become available in April.

As regards prices, this must necessarily depend very much on those ruling in other districts from which we get much importation. It is estimated that in the Sudder sub-division prices will range from Rs. 2-12 to Rs. 3-12 a maund. In Serajgunge sub-division they will probably go higher and reach Rs. 4 a maund.

The jute crop this year has also been a bad one, and prices have risen from Rs. 2-8 to Rs. 6 a maund. This ought to have put the cultivators in sufficient funds to tide over a bad rice season, but Mr. Farrer reports that old stocks were generally sold at Rs. 3 before the late rise, and so the ryots did not get the full benefit of it. This may be so to some extent, but I expect a fair share of the profits has found its way into the possession of the cultivators, and in any case I do not suppose they will have any difficulty in borrowing what money they need as advances on future crops.

REPORT OF THE MAGISTRATE AND COLLECTOR OF BOGRA.

I HAVE consulted all the leading zemindars of the district, the agent of the great Dighapatia Estate, and some of the principal merchants, jotedars, and legal practitioners. I have also made enquiries through the police, the education, and other inspecting officers, and the following is the result.

Outturn of the aus crop.—In the alluvial (Poli) tract to the east of the Karatya, the area of aus cultivation to that of amun is about 10 to 6. The extent of aus in that part was somewhat larger this year than usual, owing to the low prices of jute last year. This year less of that crop was cultivated than in former years. Taking 12 annas as the yield of an average crop, I estimate the outturn from that part of the district as 12 annas, and had it not been for want of rain at the earing of the crop, it would have been a bumper crop of 16 annas. In the part of the district west of the Karatya, and locally known as the Khair (stiff clay soil) tract, the proportion of aus to amun may be approximately estimated at 3 to 13, and the outturn of the crop was about 8 to 10 annas. The average yield of aus crop for the whole district I estimate at about 11 annas, or nearly an average crop.

The outturn of the amun crop.—Judging from the abovementioned reports received from those I consulted, as well as the result of my personal inspection, it appears to me that the outturn in the worst parts of the district will be about 2 annas, and that of the best about 10 annas. In the low lands near the rivers and bhils in the eastern part of the district the crop will be an average one, and generally there will be an 8 or 10 annas crop in thannas Shariakandi and Shibgunge. In the Panchbibi and Badalgachi thannas, and all along the southern portion of the district, the outturn will be only about 2 annas and 3 annas about Bogra town and neighbourhood. On the whole, I estimate the amun outturn for this district taking 12 annas as an average crop, at about 4 annas; consequently at about one-third of an average crop. The police estimate is considerably higher, namely about 6 annas, and Baboo Rada Raman Moonshi gives also that figure; but the other persons consulted estimate the outturn at 4 annas or less. I myself am quite satisfied, from what I have seen and heard, that this district's outturn cannot be so high as half of an average crop. The police estimate is as follows:—

		As.
Bogra	thanna	5
Sherepore	ditto	3
Shariakandi	ditto	8
Shibgunge	ditto	10
Khitlall	ditto	6
Panchbibi	ditto	6
Adamdighi	ditto	4
Badalgachi	ditto	4
Doopchanchia	outpost	6
Madhupore	ditto	6
Dhunat	ditto	2

Some of these figures are obviously wrong and in excess; for instance, in Panchbibi, which is estimated at 6 annas, the manager's estimate is only 2, and Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Wyndham's agent, estimates at only 1 anna. In connection with the matter I would beg to call your attention to the fact that, though the Shariakandi and Shibgunge outturn is considerable in comparison to the rest of the district, yet it should be remembered that the principal crop of Shariakandi is the aus, not the amun. There is also a good deal of aus in Shibgunge, and the total area of that thanna is very small. Again, in many of the fields ears have formed, yet for want of moisture there is no grain.

The rainfall during the last rains was much below the average as is well known. In thanna Panchbibi, from the 1st of June up to date, there were only about 28 inches. The rains commenced unusually early, and generally speaking the rain was sufficient for sowing and transplanting, but the latter operation was much retarded for want of sufficient rain in the month of June and the first half of July. In thanna Panchbibi and outpost Dhunat especially there was a want of rain at the transplanting time, the result being that much of the land there remained unsown.

The state and prospects of rubbee crop.—This crop is grown only to a very limited extent in the Khiar portion of the district, and owing to the want of moisture in the soil, caused by the early cessation of the rains, the state and prospect of the crop are reported as very unfavourable, except in thanna Sariakandi and outpost Madhupore. In some places the seed sown has not germinated. The outturn cannot now so early be ascertained with any accuracy, but it is not at all likely in any case to exceed 8 annas. The sugarcane also is stated to have suffered a good deal from the want of rain.

Grain stocks.—The merchants of this district usually sell off their stored rice in the rainy season; very little remains in their hands after the poojahs. Cultivators and ryots of the better class sold a great deal of rice to great advantage when the prices rose to 16 local equal to 12 Calcutta seers after the last Doorga Poojah. The stocks now in the district according to those best calculated to judge are only small, and on the whole are not likely to exceed two months' consumption. The quantity required for two months' consumption is about 10,00,000 local 7,50,000 Calcutta maunds. It is not at all probable that at present there is more than this quantity in the hands of the people. It may be expected that with the outturn of the amun those persons who have stocks, but who are the minority, will be able to manage till the next bhadoi crop. It should be remembered that the late export of rice has considerably reduced the stocks in the district, and that the poorer class of ryots have suffered proportionally more from the failure of the amun crop than the well-to-do ones. For this latter class generally has the best rice lands, namely the low lands, while higher rice lands are generally owned by the poorer ryots. In the Poli tract, where several kinds of crop are cultivated, the failure of the amun will not so much affect the people, and nearly half of the district is composed of this description of soil; but in the Khiar tract, and especially that part of it where the amun failed last year for those ryots who have no stocks, for the labouring classes, and the beggars, the prospects, owing to the failure of the amun crop and the high prices of food, are very gloomy, and I much fear that later on extreme want and scarcity will be felt by them, and complaints of want have already reached me.

Probable range of prices during the ensuing year.—Before the Pous kist, which falls due on the 12th of January, prices will fall, as the ryots will sell a portion of their produce to pay their rents; but after that prices will again begin to rise. Early in January the prices of rice will be about 18 to 22 Calcutta seers; in March and April they will probably rise to 12 or 14 seers; and in May and June they may even reach 9 or 10 Calcutta seers per rupee.

REPORT OF THE COLLECTOR OF RUNGPORE.

1st.—The bhadoi crop.—The early rain enabled the bhadoi sowings to begin in unusually good time. The crop had the most favourable alternations of sunshine and rain, and wherever I saw it was a decidedly good one. The crop was harvested for the most part in fine weather so very little of it was damaged.

This remark applies to the sudder sub-divisions, the Nelphamaree sub-division, and the northern portion of the Kurigram sub-division.

A smaller proportionate area of the Gaibanda sub-division and of the southern portion of the Kurigram sub-division is devoted to bhadoi crops; consequently those portions of the district, although they had the same favourable weather as the rest of the district, are not so well stocked with food-grains produced in the bhadoi crop.

I should therefore estimate the outturn of the bhadoi crop for the whole district as a 10-anna crop at the least.

2nd.—The khurreef had a very favourable sowing time, but then there was a break in the rains, so that the transplanting was very much delayed, so much so that the seedlings in the nurseries had in many instances grown too large to be transplanted with success. When at last rain did come the transplanting was hurried on, but for lack of suitable seedlings the area transplanted was under the average.

Now, the rice on the higher lands has completely dried up, so much so that the cultivators have given up all hopes of saving it, and have turned in their cattle to graze it down.

The crop in the low lands is stunted in growth and very yellow. Rain now would hardly save it. The outturn of this crop on the low lands will be a 4-anna one at the outside.

3rd.—The present dry cold weather is favourable to the rubbee sowings, but to ensure germination and a good crop we must have rain before the end of November.

4th.—The jute crop has been small in quantity, but good in quality. The fall in price last year frightened many of the cultivators into sowing down a much smaller area with jute than usual.

5th.—Whether ryots in this district have or have not stocks of rice, I am not in a position to say; if they have such stocks, they are carefully buried out of sight, and the owners positively deny the possession of any such stocks.

The well-to-do ryots in the north and west of the district may have such stocks, but I think, I may say, I am sure, that those in the southern and eastern portions of the district have nothing of the sort.

The large dealers have stocks quite sufficient, I believe, to feed the people if they do not combine to raise the price beyond the reach of the poor. In the southern portion of the district, and notably in Gobindgunge thanna, the ryots at the best of times are miserably poor, in spite of low rents and good landlords. They seldom have more than one meal a day. Their clothing is of the scantiest description, and very few possess such a thing as a brass lota or thali.

6th.—The coarsest rice is now selling at Rs. 4 per maund, whereas the average price in 1873-74, the famine year, was Rs. 3 per maund.

7th.—Under the circumstances, though I have reason to believe that the ryots in the north and west of the district will be able to tide over this bad season, I fear that those in the south and east will be reduced to great straits.

8th.—Immediately your inspection of my office is over, I shall start down for Gobindgunge, Gaibanda, and Walleepore, and shall then be able to report to you more fully from my own personal observation.

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF JULPIGOREE.

THE rains do not appear to have ceased earlier than usual, except in the parts of the district comprised in the thanna of Shikarpore and outpost of Tetuiya, and in pergunnahs Boda and Patgram, where it commenced late and ceased earlier than usual. In the Alipur sub-division and Mynagori tehsil the rains continued even later than usual, though in the latter it commenced a little behind the usual time. There was no want of rain for sowing or the transplantation of the seedlings, except in pergunnah Boda, where the transplantation of the seedlings was somewhat delayed. The actual area under the amun rice, however, does not appear to be smaller this year than usual. There was an entire absence of the usual rainfall in the early part of November, when it is of the greatest benefit to the paddy in high land in forming up the grain in the ear and in generally giving vigour to the maturing plants. This, it is feared, has tended to diminish the quantity of produce on high lands. This, however, has protected the crops on the low lands from such damages as these rains would have caused, and it is expected that the increased outturn of produce on low lands will nearly balance the deficiency of the outturn on the high lands. From the reports received it appears that the amun rice crop is expected to be an average one, i.e. about 12 annas of an usual full crop. In the Alipur sub-division slight injury by caterpillars is reported, but otherwise the crops are stated to be good.

The late bhadoi crop was throughout the district a short one. It was almost everywhere below the average, the proportion ranging from 6 to 8 of an average crop. This was due to heavy and continuous rains during the weeding season and scanty rainfall in September.

The reports received from different parts of the district show that there are not any considerable stock of rice in the hands of the people except in the pergunnahs of Boda and Patgram, where some of the ryots have large stores of grain. The bhadoi crop being a short one and insufficient to meet its share of demand for home consumption, the people have used up their little stores in making up the deficiency, and those who have had no occasion to use up their store for home consumption have sold it, being induced to do so by the high prices prevailing since some time, and by the prospects of the amun crop which appeared promising in its first stages. It may be safely stated that there is not much of the old stock in the hands of the ryots except in a few cases, and of what there is very little is likely to be available for sale.

Of the winter crops the kalai and the mustard can only be taken into account. The kalai is not extensively grown in this district, but its prospect up to this time is good, though it will suffer if there be no rain on an early date. As regards the mustard, it is not yet possible to say anything, as it is still being sown. If the rains hold off, the mustard crop will also be a short one. There is not much vegetable grown in this district, but as far as they go they are reported well.

The price of rice has been steadily rising since August last. The price generally rises from March to August when, with the harvesting of the bhadoi, it falls and remains almost stationary till December, when it begins to fall with the amun harvest, and by February reaches the lowest limit. This year it had no perceptible fall with the bhadoi harvest, and it is feared it will remain 25 to 50 per cent. higher than the usual ruling price during the cheapest season, i.e. in January and February next. The usual price for ordinary rice when it is cheapest ranges from Rs. 1-4 to Rs. 1-8; during the ensuing season it is likely to range from Rs. 1-8 to Rs. 2. In considering the price of rice the influence which the state of the market in other districts bear upon it here need be taken into account, and, therefore, as far as the quantity of outturn is concerned, the price is not a proper index to it. If the present high prices continue in other districts it is unlikely that it will be otherwise here: but as the price is a matter of no consideration to the great majority of the cultivating classes who use their own produce, no general hardship is likely to be felt even if the high price is maintained. On the other hand, as the yield of the ensuing harvest is not likely to be short of all local requirements, there is no ground to fear that there will be any actual hardship consequent on any slight deficiency which may occur. As to the temptation of selling off the produce without regard to their own need, it is to be hoped the ryots generally have had a lesson during the scarcity of 1873-74 which they have not yet forgotten. Upon the whole there does not appear to be reason for any anxiety as regards this district.

The above has been completed from answers to questions sent by the Deputy Commissioner from the Sub-Divisional Officer, Alipur, the District Superintendent of Police, the Tehsildar of Mynagori and the Manager of the Chaklajat Estates, as well as from such information as I (the Deputy Commissioner) myself was able to gather in course of conversation with people I happened to meet.

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF DARJEELING.

I DEAL with the Hill Tracts and the Terai separately.

In the former there is certainly no cause for anxiety. The rainfall of the past season has, it is true, been abnormal, being excessively heavy in June and unduly light in September and October; but the crops have not suffered to any dangerous extent. The principal crop of the rainy season is Indian-corn. This was about a 10-anna crop all round. The price of makai has risen in the Darjeeling market very rapidly in the course of this month, and is now quoted at 16 seers to the rupee; but this sudden rise is due, I believe, chiefly to the determination of the cultivators to hold this year's stocks having declared itself rather suddenly. Murwa or the lesser millet is another principal food-crop of the hills. Some of it is grown early, some late; and neither crop is said to have suffered much. The rice of the hills is grown chiefly on terraced fields subject to irrigation, and though it would of course have been better for rain in October, it is not likely to be much, if at all, below a 10-anna crop. The rice grown in the hills, however, bears a very small proportion to the consumption of these tracts. The bazar rate will depend entirely on the prices which may rule in Northern Bengal. The price now quoted is ten seers to the rupee. My office records show this to have been the price in November 1874. Allowing for the improvement of communications, one would hardly have expected it to have reached this rate already; but I see no cause for anxiety in this. The mass of the population of the district is located on tea-gardens, the owners of which will take very good care that their coolies get supplies at a rate which will prevent their leaving the gardens. All that is perhaps necessary is that Government should keep the planters informed of the stock of rice in North Bengal so far as this can be ascertained, and of the probable range of prices throughout the year.

As to the Terai, the remarks at the end of the last preceding paragraph apply to the northern part of this tract which is studded with tea-gardens. The central and southern portions of the Terai require most attention as under native cultivation. The rainfall in this tract, from April to October of this year, was 96·63 against 128·99 in 1882. In September and October it was only 5·87 against 35·52 in the previous year; so that the deficiency occurred almost entirely at the end of the season.

Two rice crops are reaped in the Terai, but the early or bhadoi harvest is a very small one, contributing, in the opinion of the Deputy Collector, who has been many years there, hardly 1-16th of the whole outturn. Excessive rain in June damaged this crop by preventing weeding, and the yield is reported as not having exceeded 12 annas of an average crop. The main rice crop known as haimanti is reaped in the course of the next two months. As regards this, the Deputy Collector reports that on irrigated and low land the crop is likely to be about 10 annas of an average crop, and on other lands 6 to 8 annas. Fortunately, the irrigation channels in the Terai, except in two central mouzahs, are numerous, and altogether, I think, we may safely hope for a 9-anna crop.

This, I hope, means that the jotedars will have enough grain for themselves and their ticcadars and adhyadars, but they will have none for export. Storing rice from year to year is almost unknown in the Terai; and I agree with the Deputy Collector and Mr. Norton in thinking it unlikely that there are any stocks to come out. Common rice is now quoted at 11 seers to the rupee. This was the price at this season in 1873, but it is, I think, likely to fall directly the new crop comes in.

The cold-weather crops of the Terai are unimportant and contribute but little to the food-supply.

Altogether, I agree with the Sub-Divisional Officers in thinking that there is no cause for serious anxiety in the Terai. In two or three mouzahs we may have to be somewhat lenient in our collections, but this, I hope, is all the help our ryots are likely to want.

I have confined myself to a "general statement" of the outlook in accordance with the circular, as the prospect cannot be considered really "bad."

No. 7166C, dated Chittagong, the 1st December 1883.

From—E. E. LOWIS, Esq., Commissioner of the Chittagong Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

WITH reference to the Government circular No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October last, calling for a report on the state and prospect of crops, I have the honour to report that the early cessation of autumnal rain this year has not generally affected the crops in the districts of this division.

2. On receipt of the circular, I called for reports from all the district officers of this division. From the reports received, it appears that the outturn of the last aus crop was generally fair. The state and prospect of the coming amun crop are also satisfactory at present, although there has been no rain within the last six weeks or so. It may be anticipated that, on the whole, the outturn of this crop will be an average one if no accident happens. No apprehension of any scarcity is felt in any of the districts of this division.

3. The people of the districts of this division are reported to possess sufficient stocks of grain in store. In consequence of the extensive purchases made in the market, the price of rice is gradually rising.

4. There has been some delay in submitting this information, owing to delay in obtaining an answer from Noakholly Collector, who was absent on the islands.

No. 96R—T, dated Camp Bhagwanpore, the 28th November 1883.

From—J. F. K. HEWITT, Esq., Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the folllowing report regarding the prospect of the crops in this division, called for in your No. 9T—R, dated 23rd October 1883.

2. The Deputy Commissioner of Hazaribagh reports that there has been a partial failure of the bhadoi crops along the northern portion of his district, from thanna Huntergunge on the north-west to Gawan on the north-east. He states that the dhan on the low lands has not been injured and is estimated to yield a 12-anna crop, but that the upland dhan has partially failed, and is estimated to yield not more than 8 annas. The effect the late rainfall has had on the prospects of the rubbee crops is not yet reported to him. He also states that the cultivators will suffer some scarcity, but there can be no apprehension of its approaching to anything like famine. The price of common rice at Hazaribagh is from 13 to 14 seers per rupee, and a few miles out of the station it is 15 to 16 seers.

3. The Sub-Divisional Officer of Giridih states that the early cessation of autumnal rain has affected the dhan crop on the high lands more or less all over his sub-division, and will also affect the rubbee crop to a certain extent. The bhadoi crop this year was a full one. A good deal of dhan on the deep low lands will be saved, and at least a 4-anna crop will be realized in the worst parts. The worst reports are from thannas Khurruckdiha and Gawan. Baboo Satya Tarun Mookerjee, Sub-Deputy Collector, was deputed to make special enquiries in these thannas, and also in Kodurma; and he reports that the rice crop in Gadi Domchanchi in Kodurma, in the Kodurma Government villages, in Satgawan, and in the west part of Gawan is a total failure, but the east part is not so bad. He also reports that in Gadi Satgawan the last year's rice crop was a total failure, and that this year only an 8-anna bhadoi crop has been reaped.

4. The distress in the sub-division is apparently limited to Kodurma, Gadis Domchanchi and Satgawan and part of Gawan. The Deputy Commissioner says that road works are necessary in the affected parts, and that the roads most required are from Domchanchi to Gawan vid Dhorinji, Khurjori, and Khurruckdiha, and from Gawan vid Dorunda to Dhunwar.

5. Rain fell all over Dumri, Giridih and Kodurma thannas on the 31st October and 1st, 2nd, and 3rd November last, and is considered sufficient for sowing rubbee crops. Considering the excellent outturn of all harvests last year, and the full bhadoi crops this year, the sub-divisional officer is of opinion that the partial failure of the rain and rubbee crops will nowhere amount to famine, so as to necessitate relief works, and that it will not affect the cultivating population, but only the labouring classes who, however, have the option of working in the coal mines where there is room for great increase of work. The partial scarcity will probably affect payment of rents and prices of food. The local grain stock is considered sufficient to meet local requirements in the coming year.

6. The Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga reports that very little rubbee is grown in the Sudder sub-division. The bhadoi crop was under an average, having suffered from too much rain in July and too little in August. The winter rice has partially failed, the loss being most severe in the tracts about Lohardugga, Chundwa and Kuree. Within a radius of six or seven miles of the town of Lohardugga, the destruction of the crops has been widespread, but Mr. Officiating Deputy Commissioner Mackie, who has visited these parts, reports that no anxiety need be felt, as the comparatively high prices now ruling have already stimulated emigration.

7. In pergunnah Tori the manager of the Chota Nagpore estate estimates that an 8-anna crop will be reaped. Mr. Power has just visited parts of Ranchi, Tamer, and Khuti police jurisdiction, and he says the inhabitants there expect a 10-anna crop.

8. The prices of rice range from 16 seers at Ranchi to 30 seers at Beeru. They are lower than in November 1873. The failure of the rice crop in the tracts about Lohardugga will affect payment of rents by the ryots. He cannot give any information about food stocks in the district.

9. In the Palamow sub-division the prospects of crops were gloomy until 31st October, but the heavy rainfall of the 1st and 2nd November completely altered matters. It saved the winter rice which was beginning to wither in parts and enabled the rubbee to be sown. Mr. Kenny estimates about a 10-anna rice crop will be reaped all round. In the driest parts of Palamow (Gurwa and Majheawan thannas) at least an 8-anna rice crop will be reaped. The rubbee is the most important crop in Palamow, and considering the good seasons of the past few years, and the prospect of a good rubbee crop this year, there is no cause for anxiety, and the prices which had greatly risen are expected to be steadier before long.

10. The Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom reports that the bhadoi crop was an average one. The khureef (winter) crops have suffered from want of rain late in the season, but some good was done by the rain which fell in the beginning of November. Taking upland and low land rice together, not more than 4 to 6 annas loss is anticipated. The rubbee crop is a very unimportant one in his district. No information of grain stocks has been given. The prices range from 18 to 20 seers A good deal of export to the eastward has forced up prices, but it is expected the market will soon become steadier and the prospects more defined.

11. The Deputy Commissioner of Singbhoom reports that regular rains ceased practically by the middle of September. The rice crops have suffered from want of rain more or less all over the district. The estimated loss, taking one part of the district with another, is from 4 to 6 annas; allowing for exportations to other districts, the outturn of rice and other food-grains will more than suffice for local requirements. Heavy exportation of rice is expected during the next several months, and prices have commenced to rise. The present price of common rice is 24 seers the rupee. The Deputy Commissioner thinks that before the next year's crops are ready rice will probably be selling from 15 to 16 seers per rupee. He has no reason to think that the prices will be higher.

12. I myself have gone through many of the villages of Tori in the Lohardugga district, and through a considerable part of Palamow. In many of the villages of Tori I doubt whether there will be 8-anna rice crop, but in Palamow the crops are generally quite as good as they are about Ranchi, where there is quite a 12-anna crop. I have written to the Deputy Commissioner about the villages in Tori, where I have found the crop to be a failure, and they will be carefully watched; but the population there is everywhere scanty, and the people did not seem to apprehend any great distress. In Serguja, where I am now, the crops in the north are generally good, but they are reported to be worse in the south, which I shall visit in a few days.

13. With regard to the remarks of the Deputy Commissioner of Hazaribagh about Gawan and Kodurma, I would say that the Gawan zemindar wrote to me at the end of October, saying that the rice crop in his estate was a total failure, and that unless there was rain there was no hope of a rubbee crop. He has, however, since written to me to say that sufficient rain for sowing rubbee has fallen, that rice is being freely imported into Gawan, and that he has now no apprehensions of any distress. I will myself visit this part of the country in the beginning of February next, when it will be possible to judge better of the prospects of the people than one can do at present.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation of Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical averages or means of the readings during the same. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as a percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The rainfall, or the normal means are the numerical means or averages of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisions from that district, (i.e.) the total rainfall at the sub-divisional stations in the district sending in returns, divided by the number of stations. A rainy

MEMORANDA.

THE mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal, for the month of October 1883, disclose the following results :—

(1). That 108,138 deaths were recorded among a population of 66,162,926 representing a death-rate of 19·56 per 1,000 of population per annum, against 18·36 per 1,000 during the preceding month, and 20·52 per 1,000 during the corresponding month of 1882.

(2). That the highest death-rates were returned from the following districts. For comparison the mortality in them during the corresponding month of the preceding year is also exhibited.

	Ratio per mille during—
	October 1883.	October 1882.
Nuddea	37·44	43·08
Rajshahye	34·44	30·60
Birbhum	31·20	36·96
Murshidabad	29·64	35·16
Patna	26·28	33·72
Pubna	25·92	35·52
Howrah	25·80	16·84
Jessore	25·80	34·68
Burdwan	25·44	38·16
Hazaribagh	24·96	14·88
Gya	24·12	24·36

showing that the mortality was lower in all the abovenamed districts from which greatest proportions of deaths were reported, except in Rajshahye, Howrah and Hazaribagh.

(3). That the principal death-causes presented the mortality exhibited below, in comparison with the returns of the preceding month and of the corresponding month of 1882 :—

	Ratio per mille during—
	October 1883.	September 1883.	October 1882.
Cholera	·36	·36	1·20
Small-pox	·02	·03	·02
Fever	15·48	13·92	15·72
Bowel-complaints	·72	·84	·84
Injury	·36	·48	·36
Other causes	2·40	2·40	2·16

The noticeable features disclosed by the above figures are that cholera was considerably less fatal during the month under review as compared with the corresponding month of the preceding year; that there was a rise in the death-rate from fever as compared with the preceding month; and that the mortality from the other death-causes presents no marked variation as contrasted with both the periods with which comparison is instituted.

(4). That, referring to the local distribution of the diseases, it is observed that, while small-pox and injury proved nowhere markedly fatal, cholera, fever and other causes displayed their severest activity in the following districts :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.

* The ratios for Darjiling are calculated upon the census of 1881, which gives 180 as the number of the Christian population. That population, however, is a very fluctuating one, reaching sometimes an average of 1,000, but as the census was taken in the month of February, when that section of the community is at a minimum, the calculations based thereon must of necessity exhibit fallacious results. Since then an attempt has been made to obtain a special and more consistent census for Darjiling during a more favourable season of the year, but as its results are not recorded in the authorized form of age classification, it cannot be employed as a basis or calculation in these tables.
